FIND JOBS FOR MEN, IS DEMAND OF PRESIDENT

Tells Staf to Seek End of Dole.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today told his 48 state relief directors that they must "make every effort to get the unemployed into private industry even if it means slowing down or stopping" the 4 billion dollar work relief program.

In an informal talk to the 48 men charged with administering the New Deal's giant easy money plan, the President laid stress on ending the dole with work relief and, in turn, ending work relief with private employment.

The relief directors are here for a two days conference.

Predicts District Pickup.

Mr. Roosevelt also predicted a "very definit and distinct pickup in all of the United States" this year, stressed the necessity of not spending more than $1,200 per man on work relief, and claimed that "politics, so far as we are concerned, is out."

Repeating much that he has said before about his huge spending scheme, the President, however, struck a new note in charging his relief administrators with finding jobs in private industry for the unemployed.

"We want to get rid of the dole," he said. "We believe that the dole is destructive of all that is best in our citizenship, and we want to make people feel that they are no longer in the bread line—no longer getting things for nothing. We want them to feel that they are getting work, even though the amount they get in pay for their work is somewhat below, in most cases, what they would be able to earn in private jobs.

"That brings up the second point. We should not hesitate for one single moment to stop a certain number of projects if people are taken back into private industry. There will be a certain number of our works that can be closed down temporarily or stopped just where they are without very much loss.

Calls Politics "Out."

"We are working slowly, but very surely toward the elimination of the major unemployment problem we have had during these last few years. Of course, we always will have a certain number of unemployed with us, but nothing like the present scale, we hope. And, this year, I believe, is going to be the beginning of the picking up of the greater part of this unemployment slack from which we have been suffering."

Turning to politics in relief, the President claimed, although he himself has made large relief allotments which were attacked as political gifts, that there is to be no politics in the system.

"We cannot discriminate," Mr. Roosevelt said, "in any of the work we are conducting either because of race or religion or politics. Politics, so far as we are concerned, is out. If anybody asks you to discriminate because of politics, you can tell them that the President of the United States gave direct orders that there is not to be any such discrimination."

Must Reject Some Projects.

The President laid great stress on the fact that many expensive work relief projects will have to be rejected because the New Deal has only 4 billion dollars to spend on 3½ million unemployed.

"We have to divide 3½ million men into 4 billion dollars," he told his state directors. "Almost anybody can understand that. Congress has given us 4 billion dollars. The objective is to put three and a half million men to work during the coming fiscal year.

"In other words, outside a handful of what might be called strictly federal projects such as the Donneville and the Fort Peck dams, the deepening of the Mississippi, and the channel in the upper Missouri, and a few others of that kind which total only a very small portion of the 4 billion dollars, practically all the rest of the money must be spent, on the average, at the rate of somewhere between eleven hundred and twelve hundred dollars per man, which must of necessity include everything—not only the amount we pay the men themselves but also the materials and overhead."

W. C. Fields' Illness Takes Turn to the Worse

Hollywood, Cal., June 17.—[Special.]—W. C. Fields, comedian, tonight was reported in a condition worrying his friends. Fields sprained his back playing tennis three weeks ago. He has been suffering from insomnia and the latest turn in his condition resulted in complications, according to announcement. Two nurses are attending him. He may be unable to return to movies for six months.

MONEY RISKED BY MORGENTHAU AND ROOSEVELT

Act on Promise by Telephone.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—An amazing story of how President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau risked American money to help France stay on the gold standard during its recent monetary crisis was revealed today.

At the same time it was learned authoritatively that the New Deal is ready to stabilize the dollar at its present international value, but has been told that England will not join in stabilization now.

Secretary Morgenthau, although he declined to discuss the New Deal's venture into international finance in detail, did confirm the fact that he and President Roosevelt used American money to answer an appeal from France and to keep that country on the gold standard.

Admits Millions Were Used.

How much of the United States treasury cash was risked in the deal Secretary Morgenthau would not reveal, but he used the phrase "millions of dollars" in connection with the transaction. In other quarters it was said that he had advanced the money to France merely on the verbal pledge of the president of the Bank of France, given over the trans-Atlantic telephone, that it would be repaid in gold. The deal, however, turned out so that Morgenthau netted a profit.

"It was only common decency between nations," Mr. Morgenthau insisted in commenting today on America's rescue of the European gold bloc led by France, one of the chief war debt defaulters.

Elsewhere it was learned that the New Dealers believe that they are to be congratulated, because in saving France they blocked what they think would have been a debacle in world currencies.

Roosevelt Took Part.

That President Roosevelt himself played an important part in rescuing France was revealed, voluntarily by Secretary Morgenthau, although he would not discuss most phases of the operation in detail.

"The offer we made them was made in the name of the President of the United States and the secretary of the treasury," Morgenthau announced. "Immediately after what took place we called on Senator Pittman, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Senator McNary, the ranking minority member, and they gave us their hearty approval on what we had done."

Secretary Morgenthau said he supposed many persons would interpret America's rescue of France as a prelude to early currency stabilization on a new gold standard, but that as far as he was concerned the New Deal monetary policy was still on a day-to-day basis.

Anxious to Stabilize.

Other authoritative sources revealed, however, that the New Deal is anxious to stabilize the dollar at its present international value but that Great Britain has refused to join in a world stabilization move until after its coming general election.

"There are no votes in stabilization," a representative of the English conservative party, which seeks reelection soon, is reported to have said in this country.

This feeling that the present international currency situation is advantageous to America and a good one to perpetuate by stabilization played a large part in the New Deal's decision to rescue France, inquiry disclosed. New Dealers believe that if France had been forced off the gold standard the world might have plunged into a currency depreciation war, stripping the United States of any advantage she may have because of the devalued Roosevelt dollar.

Train of Events Revealed.

The events which led up to Morgenthau's risking of American funds for the sake of France was also related for the first time today by persons close to the administration.

On Decoration day, May 30, Secretary Morgenthau was week-ending on his New York farm near President Roosevelt's estate at Hyde Park. Suddenly he was called over the trans-Atlantic telephone by Jean Tannery, head of the Bank of France.

M. Tannery explained that the gold exports which had been threatening to drive his country off the gold standard had reached an alarming size. On top of this, M. Tannery informed Morgenthau, a new crisis had arisen.

France had been selling gold in exchange for foreign currencies and using these foreign currencies to support the sagging franc. France was still willing to pursue this operation.

Relief Strike Urged to Get Union Wages

Madison, Wis., June 17.—[Special.]—A suggestion that a state-wide relief strike be called was cheered loudly today by more than 200 delegates to a congress for unemployment and social insurance who besieged the executive offices of Gov. Philip F. La Follette for several hours in an effort to air their grievances.

The call to prepare for a strike to enforce payment of union wages on relief projects was issued by the chairman of the delegation, Harold Hartley of Milwaukee, secretary of the Wisconsin unemployment councils.

He made the suggestion in reporting for a committee of the delegation which finally had been admitted to the governor's presence. Hartley said the governor had pleaded inability to accede to their demand.

Oppose Work Relief Program.

The crowd which marched on the capitol was here for a two day meeting. The group had gone on record against the governor's $209,000,000 work relief program on the ground it is inadequate and places the cost upon workers, farmers, and small property owners.

The delegates had demanded a works program financed by taxes on large incomes and had submitted a list of proposals for social legislation which they plan to present to the legislature.

The crowd assembled this forenoon and marched into the reception room off the executive office of the governor and demanded an audience. Members of the governor's secretarial staf informed the delegation Mr. La Follette was too busy to appear.

Yell for Governor.

The group remained, however, and yelled repeatedly for the governor to appear long enough to hear their views. Victor Peckham, representing striking relief workers at Stoughton, demanded to know "if the governor is afraid to face the working men."

Throughout the noon hour the crowd held forth in the reception room and showed no signs of dispersing. Shouts of "Yellow!" and "Is he afraid to come out?" greeted successive announcements that the governor still was unavailable.

At 1 p. m. the governor finally sent word that he would see a committee of the group. The committee, headed by Hartley, were closeted with the executive for a time and then reappeared to offer the suggestion of a strike.

MAY YOHE, ONCE OWNER OF HOPE DIAMOND, IS ILL

Boston, Mass., June 17.—(AP)—May Yohe Smuts, stage favorite of the "gay nineties" and once the possessor of the famous Hope diamond, a gem with a sinister reputation, was sent to the state hospital today for observation.

Mrs. Smuts, 66, wife of Capt. John Smuts, relative of the noted Boer war general, was admitted to the city hospital several days ago for treatment of a broken arm and a brain injury suffered in a fall at her home.

May Yohe began her stage career in Chicago. When she was 17 she had a place in the David Henderson extravaganzas at the old Chicago Opera house, and, before long, with her rich contralto voice, she was featured in "The Crystal Slipper" and other shows.

In 1894, having been starred in New York and London, she became the bride of Lord Francis Hope, heir to the dukedom of Newcastle and possessor of the famous Hope diamond. She became prominent in London society, but in 1901 she deserted her noble husband, eloping with Capt. Putnam Bradlee Strong, son of a former New York mayor. They were divorced later and she married Capt. John Smuts of the British army, who later became a naturalized United States citizen. Her older years have been spent in New England.

Peasants Warn King Carol to Exile Mistress

BRASOV, Rumania, June 17.—(AP)—Political leaders of the National Peasant party voiced bitter criticism of King Carol, his intimate friend Mme. Magda Lupescu, and the present liberal government at a nation-wide rally today.

King Carol was warned by Dr. Juliu Maniu, party leader, to banish Mme. Lupescu before the peasants, who form 85 per cent of the population, rise in revolt against the throne.

Prominent figures in the Peasant party, which is expected by observers to form the next government, demanded the termination of the existing censorship, end of martial law, and the abolition of the so-called "Palace Clique" of advisers.

Claim Nation Is in Disgrace.

Orators declared Rumania was being brought to disgrace "at home and abroad" because of these conditions.

"Because Rumania is a Christian nation," shouted Dr. Maniu, "we demand that only Christians rule us. We demand that sinister Jewish influences at the palace, which are ruining the country's dignity and reputation at home and abroad, shall be exterminated once for all."

Among other speakers were John Mihalache, president of the Peasants' political organization, Dr. Nicholas Lupu and Virgil Madgearu, formerly minister of finance.

Lupu denounced the Talarescu government for plunging the country into what he termed a "dangerous political and commercial adventure with Germany" by recently signing a commercial agreement with Germany.

Says France Was Betrayed.

He described the treaty as "a betrayal of France and other allied powers who helped Rumania become what she is today."

Rumania's financial and economic situation has never been more precarious than at the present time, he asserted.

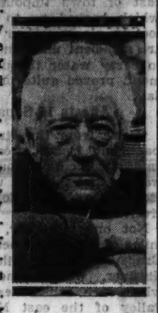
Nicholas Titulescu, foreign minister, was praised as the only man of "character and ability" in the Talarescu cabinet. Lupu said Titulescu was "of course the choice of the National Peasants party for foreign minister if it should come into power."

Skunk Masks Alky Odor, but the Jinx Gets 'Em

New Orleans, June 17.—(AP)—A skunk kept in an automobile by two Negroes to hide the odor of untaxed alcohol failed to save them from arrest by federal agents. The men were sentenced in federal court today to four months in jail. The agents stopped to help when a wheel came off the rum running car and discovered forty-seven gallons of liquor and the skunk inside.

Landis Admits Alabama Pitts Into Baseball

Edwin C. [Alabama] Pitts, until a few weeks ago Sing Sing prison's star athlete, will be allowed to play baseball with the Albany team of the International league.



K. M. LANDIS.

This decision, awaited by baseball fans throughout the country for several days, was rendered by Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of organized baseball, in his offices late yesterday. Landis' ruling was made on Pitts' own plea from the ruling against him by the executive committee of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

In his statement, Landis stressed the fact that he was in perfect agreement with the decision of W. G. Bramham, president of the organization, and his colleagues in barring Pitts, who had served a five year term at Sing Sing for robbery, but that "a new situation" had arisen which, if Pitts were not allowed to play baseball, would be detrimental to his efforts at a comeback.

Exhibition Games Barred.

Because of this, Landis ruled that Pitts will be allowed to play with Albany on the condition that a new contract between the former convict and the club be executed containing a clause that will not allow him to take part in any exhibition games, confining his activities to regular league contests only.

The new situation referred to in the official statement by Landis was not contemplated by, nor is a result of, the ruling of Bramham and his minor league associates, he said. Landis added that a number of reputable persons had expressed to him their belief that there has been a complete reformation in Pitts' character, and, to their belief, added their confidence in the young southerner's intention of gaining an honorable foothold in society.

Reviews Whole Case.

Prior to the actual ruling, which appears in the final paragraphs of the statement, Landis reviewed the entire case, including the robbery which sent Pitts to Sing Sing, where he achieved national prominence as the star of the prison's baseball and football teams. With the decision of the court which sentenced Pitts to a minimum of eight years in prison [because of good behavior, he was released at the five year parole limit] the commissioner was also in agreement.

He learned through the court record of the case that Pitts had not, as has been pointed out, been led into the robbery by a considerably older accomplice, and while both were allegedly drunk and hungry. The court record proved that his accomplice, only a year older, had served as a lookout while Pitts himself went into the New York store which was the scene of the crime and committed the actual robbery with a gun.

Turns Down Former Plea.

Landis also pointed out that in the only other similar case presented to him, that of a major league club which attempted to sign a man finishing a sentence for forgery, he ruled against the petition.

He then went on to say that the character qualifications for a baseball

HOUSE RETAINS NUISANCE TAXES 2 YEARS LONGER

502 Millions Yearly Cost to Public.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—Confronted with the obnoxious but vital task of providing revenue for the New Deal program, the house today in forty fleeting minutes considered and passed a bill extending for a period of two years the so called nuisance taxes which cost the American taxpayers $502,000,000 annually.

These federal taxes upon gasoline, theater admissions, furs, jewelry, automobiles, and a dozen other items would have ceased to be in effect July 1. The three cent rate on first class, nonlocal mail matter, which would have reverted to two cents on that date, also was extended for another two years. The bill now goes to the senate.

Opposition is Gagged.

To suppress, so far as possible, any oratory from the Republican side of the chamber to the effect that this was the beginning of the ordeal known as paying the piper, the bill was brought out under a gag rule limiting debate to twenty minutes a side and barring the submission of amendments.

This procedure required a two-thirds majority vote of approval and the majority machine functioned smoothly in pushing over the measure, 247 to 117, with five votes to spare.

Much pleased with the docility of his followers, Speaker Joseph W. Byrns descended from his chair to pay tribute to their loyalty. The usually easy-going speaker had listened to a table-pounding dictum from President Roosevelt last week and has been cracking the whip ever since.

Outlines Speedy Program.

After figuratively patting the heads of the majority members, he outlined a program of speedy legislation which he said he hoped would bring about an adjournment of congress by the middle of July.

"We ought to adjourn within a reasonable period," the speaker told the house. "We've just passed the tax bill. Next, we have the essential and important AAA amendments. After that, the Wagner labor disputes bill which they tell us must be considered."

And then come the utilities holding bill, the deficiency appropriation bill [providing more taxes so that necessary additional revenue may be found], the bus and truck bill, TVA amendments, Guffey coal bill, federal alcohol control bill. Some insist also that the ship subsidy bill must be passed.

May Be Other Bills.

"There may be other bills which must be passed," the speaker warned, referring apparently to the reports that additional NRA strengthening legislation will be insisted upon by President Roosevelt.

Byrns predicted that if the house worked hard, holding perhaps some night sessions, all these bills could be passed in the next two weeks.

Debate on the nuisance tax measure opened with Robert L. Doughton [Dem., N. C.], chairman of the ways and means committee, asserting the taxes must be extended because of "the hole that the Hoover administration left us in."

Assessed First in 1932.

This was denied by Representative Allen T. Treadway [Rep., Mass.], who said the taxes first were assessed in 1932 in an attempt to balance the budget. Their extension now, he pointed out, only met 10 per cent of the estimated deficit in the budget of four and one-half billion dollars.

The committee report on the bill stated that the revenue provided by the temporary taxes could "not be spared at this time." It stressed the fact that President Roosevelt in his 1936 budget message had recommended the extension of the taxes "as necessary to the financing of the budget."

With what the Republican minority termed unjustifiable optimism, the committee report stated that although the taxes were extended for two years, the congress could, of course, remove the taxes before the expiration of the two year period. The President, also, if he so decides, may reduce the 3 cent postage rate at any time.

Many Items Are Taxed.

The taxes, which would have died July 1, are on lubricating oil, brewers' wort, grape concentrate, imported petroleum, coal, lumber, copper, tires and tubes, toilet preparations, furs, jewelry, automobiles, auto accessories, radios, phonographs, mechanical refrigerators, sporting goods, firearms, cameras, matches, chewing gum, electrical energy, gasoline, telephone and telegraph messages, transfer of bonds, conveyances, and pipe line oil. The taxes on issues of bonds, issues of stock, stock transfers, and produce futures would have been subject to reduction on that date.

The 10 per cent tax on theater admissions over 40 cents also would have died July 1. The minimum charge upon which the tax was assessed was to have been raised to $3 on that date. Under the new measure, the minimum will not be raised until July 1, 1937.

SCALE OF TAXES

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—There follow the specific tax rates, most of which expire June 30 and which would be extended two years under the administration's schedule passed today by the house and sent to the senate:

First class postage—3 instead of 2 cents, estimated to yield $75,000,000 annually.

Admissions—41 cents or more, 1 cent for each 10 cents; $14,000,000.

Issuance of bonds and capital stock—10 cents per $100 of par value, $1,600,000.

Stock transfers—4 cents on each $100 of par or face value, $8,000,000.

RICHETTI GUILTY IN KANSAS CITY GANG MASSACRE

Kansas City, Mo., June 17.—(AP)—Adam Richetti, former associate of the late "Pretty Boy" Floyd, was convicted tonight of the murder of City Detective Hermanson, one of the five men killed in Union Station plaza two years ago today as gunmen sought to release Frank Nash, recaptured federal convict. The jury recommended that he be hanged.

Government witnesses testified that Richetti was present at the slaying scene with Floyd and Verne C. Miller, a former South Dakota sherif who turned gangster.

The trio was branded as the machine gun slayers soon after the mass murder. Before the law could catch up with Miller, gangster enemies killed him near Detroit.

Then officers concentrated on Floyd, the bank robbing denizen of Oklahoma's Cookson hills. They finally found him near East Liverpool, O., but he fled and was shot to death.

A PEEPING TOM CAUSES UPROAR IN Y. W. C. A. HOTEL

A patrol wagon and two police squads were summoned last night to the Y. W. C. A. hotel at 830 South Michigan avenue, on the complaint of Miss Cecilia Jeffrey, resident director, that a peeping tom had been seen on the fire escape. The peeper was observed by Miss Mae Caldwell through the windows of her third floor room, she told Miss Jeffrey. A search of the premises and alley outside, however, failed to disclose the miscreant, although the young women in the hotel were in a state of excitement for some time.

GRUNDY COUNTY TOWN AND MANY FARMS FLOODED

Heavy Rains Drench State and Damage Crops.

Hundreds of villagers and farmers in and near Gardner, in Grundy county, 30 miles southwest of Joliet, who were routed by a freak flood, returned to their homes late yesterday and began to reckon the damage caused by the waters.

The flood followed the extraordinarily heavy rains of Sunday and yesterday. Of such volume was the deluge that ordinary drainage courses failed. As the waters began inundating Gardner early yesterday, whistles and church bells roused the 800 residents of the sleeping village.

Gardner residents suffered particularly because a railroad embankment east of town impounded the water, which backed up to a depth of six feet in places. Four culverts, which are sufficient under normal conditions to carry water through the embankment, proved quite inadequate yesterday.

Affects 15 Square Miles.

Crews from the state highway department began promptly to make emergency cuts through the earthen wall so that the pent up waters might escape into the east fork of the Mazon river.

Not only Gardner, but 15 square miles of farm land between there and Braceville, three miles this side of Gardner, were inundated. In this whole area, which lies in the shallow valley of the east Mazon fork, the crops, chiefly corn, were damaged or destroyed.

While U. S. route 66 was under water in several spots between Brace and Gardner, it was not impassable. By early afternoon the waters began to recede.

The two day rainfall was the heaviest in the memory of old residents of the flood area, who declared that this was the first flood of its kind they could recall.

Heavy Rains Elsewhere.

Although the Gardner cloudburst was local, other sections of the state reported heavy rainfalls. From Springfield and other cities in the central and southern part of the state it was reported that the rains would delay plowing and corn planting. In many areas the downpour damaged crops. At New Burnside 2.1 inches of rain was reported.

Streets were flooded in Bloomington, with the sewers unable to carry off the surplus water until late afternoon. Five inches of rain in three days was the unofficial record in Bloomington. Saturday brought 1.83 inches. Sunday added 1.03 inches and yesterday more than 2 inches.

Precipitation in Chicago for the 24 hours ending at 7 a. m. yesterday totaled 1.49 inches, according to Forecaster J. R. Lloyd of the government weather bureau. This brought the total rainfall for the month up to 8 o'clock last night, when rainfall diminished to mere drizzle, to 2.04 inches, which, Mr. Lloyd said, is a fraction of an inch above normal.

Another June Fog.

More showers are not unlikely today, according to Mr. Lloyd, and the cool weather will continue.

As the warm air that has hovered over the city for the last few days was swept out over the lake yesterday, the atmospheric moisture was condensed into a light fog that at times obscured the tops of the taller buildings. June fogs are unusual here, according to the weather bureau, but yesterday's was the second this month.

At the Chicago airport last evening heavy fog prevented inbound airplanes from landing. Eastern Airlines and Transcontinental Western Air ordered planes headed here to land at Indianapolis, where the airport was clear. American Airlines ordered a Chicago bound plane to land at South Bend, and another to land at Joliet. A United Airlines ship flew over the field and then turned back to Indianapolis.

The airport weather bureau reported the ceiling at less than 100 feet and visibility approximately one-eighth of a mile. All scheduled outbound planes were grounded at about 8 o'clock and no ships were expected to depart before 8 a. m., when the fog was expected to have lifted.

Coast guards men dragged the lake off Addison street yesterday for the body of Theodore Karke, 10 years old, 4039 Lincoln avenue, who vanished during a squall Sunday while fishing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Karke. They discovered his disappearance after they ran to their automobile when the rain started.

Three fishermen were taken from the Oak street breakwater by coast guards under Capt. John O. Anderson yesterday, after a sudden squall whipped up waves that prevented other boats from reaching them. The men are A. Kellman, 1502 North Ridgeway avenue, E. Linke, 2618 Homer street, and Otto Marsek, 3228 Thomas street.

FLOODS AGAIN MENACE

Trenton, Neb., June 17.—[Special.]—Thousands of acres of land in south central Nebraska were inundated today by the overflowing Republican river, which two weeks ago caused scores of deaths and property damage estimated at 13 million dollars in the same area.

A farmer's wife, Mrs. Harold Mosier, was drowned in Kansas near Benkelman. Her 5 year old daughter, Betty Jane, is missing. Mosier and three other children escaped to high ground when flood waters roared down upon their home.

Flee to Higher Ground.

Week-end storms caused the Republican and other streams in surrounding territory in Kansas, Arkansas, and Missouri to sweep out of their banks and menace lives and property. Lowland residents fled from their homes and moved cattle to higher ground.

Swollen by cloudbursts, the Republican river was a mile wide at McCook, Neb., and was still rising here, where it was three-fourths of a mile wide. However, no loss of life had been reported and property damage was not great since the rehabilitation program following Nebraska's worst flood two weeks ago had barely got under way.

Many families had not yet returned to their homes after evacuating for the other flood, but those who had fled to the hills again. Reconstructed railroads were washed out at a number of places and several bridges were swept away by the flood waters.

Death Toll Reaches 13.

Austin, Tex., June 17.—[Special.]—The known death list from flood waters stood at 13 in Texas today as the Colorado river went on a new rampage and surged into La Grange, 50 miles downstream from here.

The crop loss from the swirling overflow was estimated at half a million dollars in addition to the damage of more than $2,500,000 the river is estimated to have done in Austin alone.

TEXAS TORNADO DEMOLISHES 20 HOUSES; 4 HURT

Stephenville, Tex., June 17.—(AP)—A tornado struck the eastern edge of Stephenville tonight, injuring four persons and demolishing more than twenty houses.

J. R. Ellis, 75, suffered a crushed head and was not expected to live. His three daughters, Lucy, Anne, and Grace Ellis, were injured seriously.

Physicians were dispatched to Smith Springs, a small community four miles east of here, after a messenger brought word the storm had struck there.

Arkansas Town Is Hit.

COUNTY TO BAN HIGHWAY SALES OF FIREWORKS

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, announced yesterday that he would instruct Sherif Toman to arrest all persons who attempt to sell fireworks for July 4 celebrations from stands on the county highways. The sherif's jurisdiction extends to all roads beyond the city limits and outside of incorporated villages. In past years fireworks have been sold at many places along the highways. The sale is prohibited within the city.

DUNHAM SEEKS SETTLEMENT OF U. S. TAX CLAIM

Status of Case Explained in Washington.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—Negotiations are under way with the bureau of internal revenue looking toward a settlement of the income tax controversy between the government and Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district and federal works progress administrator for Illinois, it was learned today. The government claims that Mr. Dunham owes $888,827 for the years 1930 and 1931. His contention is that the obligation is not more than $400,000.

Mr. Dunham, who was in Washington today to attend a conference with Harry L. Hopkins, national works progress director, explained the nature of the government's claim and his appeal, which was filed with the federal board of tax appeals on May 4, 1934.

Verifies $888,827 Figure.

At the same time Attorney Paul Shorb, who is representing Dunham in Washington for the Chicago law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, took the opportunity of denying statements published in Chicago that the government's claim totals $1,278,292. The actual amount of the claim, as verified through records of the bureau of internal revenue, is $888,827, Mr. Shorb said. He remarked that the matter was given publicity when the appeal was filed more than a year ago.

As explained by Dunham and Shorb, the tax assessment arose as a result of unexpected profits on stock of the Universal Oil Products corporation, which was organized in 1914 by J. Ogden Armour, Chicago packer, and Dunham, who at that time was vice president of Armour & Co. In 1930 patents on the Dubbs oil cracking process, held by the corporation, became valuable and Dunham realized a large profit when he sold his stock that year.

Figures of the Government.

It is the government's claim, according to the bureau of internal revenue, that two corporations which figured in the sale of the stock were dummies employed by Dunham and that the profit from the sale is taxable. Dunham, in his appeal, denied this.

Dunham's declared income tax in 1930 was $3,820. The government says that in his return for that year he omitted a profit of $3,588,898 made on the sale of the oil corporation stock, and makes a deficiency claim of $449,717. The tax paid by Dunham in 1931 was $14,231, and the government's deficiency claim for that year is $439,110.

Although the total of the two deficiencies amounts to $888,827, it was pointed out by officials here that in the final accounting the government might settle for either one of the claims, since both are based on the same chain of transactions.

Statement by Dunham.

Mr. Dunham's statement explaining his position said:

"In 1914 I organized and created with Mr. Armour the Universal Oil Products company. The business was sold out in 1930 at a large profit and I had a considerable interest in the business.

"I have been having an argument with the internal revenue bureau for some time over the extent to which the profit is taxable. The largest amount that can properly be due the government is not more than $400,000.

"No matter what the amount of the tax the bureau or the court may decide, in any event no matter what the final figure is determined at, I will gladly pay it.

"During the war every one was offering their services voluntarily to the government. I was told I could render no greater service to my country than to stay on with Armour & Co. and be instrumental in feeding and clothing our armed forces.

"If it were not for my good fortune in 1930 I would not be able to devote all my time to public affairs without compensation as I have been doing for the last two years. I have always had a feeling that every one owes a public service to his country."

EXPERTS TESTIFY WILL SIGNATURE IS NOT DOCTOR'S

Hold Script Is 'American' Unlike Dr. Lipinska's.

Two handwriting experts testified yesterday before Probate Judge John F. O'Connell that the signature on the purported will of Dr. Sophie Lipinska, well known Polish Physician, was not written by her. The experts were called by the state in a hearing in the case of three men who are charged with having witnessed a forged will of Dr. Lipinska, disposing of her estate valued at $250,000. Dr. Lipinska died on Feb. 16, 1934, at Orlando, Fla.

The three men named in a criminal information filed by Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the public administrator, are Attorney Max A. Drezmal, vice president of the Milwaukee Avenue National bank and a member of the state parole board; Dr. Harry C. Rome, 1424 Elmdale avenue, a dentist, and D. L. Olcese, real estate broker at 10 South La Salle street.

Bulk of $250,000 to Hospital.

The probate judge is sitting as an examining magistrate in the case to determine whether there is sufficient evidence to hold the three to the grand jury.

The will has been admitted to probate with Olcese as executor. It would apportion $14,000 among seven friends of Dr. Lipinska and place the rest in trust for ten years, then give it to a hospital in Warsaw, Poland. Mrs. Sofjka Miller of Warsaw is suing to break the will, alleging she is the illegitimate daughter of Dr. Lipinska.

The handwriting experts who testified yesterday are Herbert J. Walter, 100 North La Salle street, who was a state witness at the Bruno Richard Hauptmann trial, and Rudolph Salmon, 7037 Clyde avenue.

Both said a study of other documents signed by Dr. Lipinska convinced them that the signature on the will could not have been hers. Dr. Lipinska signed her bank records in a "foreign script," Walter asserted, while the signature on the will was in the "American, or native" hand.

Nurse's Story of Signature.

Dr. Rome and Drezmal had testified previously that they guided Dr. Lipinska's hand because of her infirmity when she was signing the will. Salmon said the writing appeared not to be that of a guided hand.

At the hearing last Saturday, Miss Marion Kuckta, 23 years old, 3035 Houston avenue, a registered nurse, who attended Dr. Lipinska in her last illness, said that she wrote the woman physician's signature on the will five hours after her death. Miss Kuckta testified that she did this at Olcese's request.

Dr. Haldane Clemenson, 3201 West 63d street, testified that he believed Dr. Lipinska was not of sound mind and memory at the time the defendants said she signed the will.

Briton Flies to Africa and Back in 14½ Hours

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 17.—Capt. E. W. Percival, British aircraft designer, made aviation history today flying 2,300 miles to Africa and back in 14½ hours. He took off from Gravesend, Kent, at 1:30 a. m., and landed at 8:40 at Oran, Algeria, where he breakfasted with friends. He left Oran at 11 a. m. and reached Croydon airdrome on the outskirts of London at 6:20 o'clock tonight.

WAUKEGAN GIVES UP IN CITY HALL FIGHT; TO MOVE IN

Waukegan's city council, after some seven years of litigation, has given up the idea of trying to get rid of a city hall purchased in 1928. Last night the council voted to return to that building, which stands at Utica and Madison streets.

In 1928, when the city was operating under the commission form of government, it purchased the building for $100,000 from the William P. Higley estate. A down payment of $20,800 was made, and notes were given for the rest.

Immediately an injunction suit was brought by a tax payer to prevent further payments, and another suit was started to have the contract of purchase declared invalid. In 1931, with the return of the aldermanic form of government, the city government moved to quarters at 20 South Utica street.

In April of this year the Illinois Supreme court ruled that Waukegan had to buy the Higley building whether it wished to or not. With that, and the prospect of having rent on the present quarters raised from $100 to $250 a month, the council decided it might as well move to the orphaned city hall.

REJECTS OMAHA RAILWAY PLANS TO ARBITRATE

Governor Lists His Terms to End Strike.

Omaha, Neb., June 17.—(AP)—Gov. R. L. Cochran late tonight bluntly refused to accept the proposal of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company that the riot-studded street car strike be arbitrated with reservations.

The company, in a counter action to the governor's demand for immediate arbitration, offered to arbitrate higher wages and shorter hours, but not the question of a closed shop, seniority rights for the striking men, or the question of taking back 68 of the 268 strikers.

Cochran, military dictator of Omaha during the occupation of the city by the National Guard, crisply informed the company that his demand had been for arbitration of all issues. A prolonged period of discussion followed in which neither the governor nor the company would give way.

Closed Shop Stumbling Block.

Cochran, in rejecting the company proposal, termed it "unreasonable" and said the street cars would remain in the barns for the present.

The governor, grim faced, told newspaper men after the conference that "it is hoped the representatives of the company will see fit to modify their proposals to such an extent as to make the matter in my judgment subject to reasonable arbitration."

In holding its position the company maintained the lines it had established when the strike began on April 20. Wages and hours were two of the principal points of the strikers, but so was the closed shop question. A stumbling block in all previous attempts at arbitration, the question remained the biggest bone of contention tonight.

Clash with Governor.

The conference tonight came after a day of conflict between the company and the chief executive of the state. Cochran, in his arbitration ultimatum, had demanded that both the strikers and the company name their arbitrators by 10 a. m. The strikers did, but the company did not.

Cochran brought into play his power then and stopped operation of the street cars. The company countered by setting its directors' meeting back two hours and then asked for a conference tonight.

Meanwhile the strikers, who had appeared before Cochran in the morning with Ernest Bowerman, secretary of the Central Labor union, waited without comment for the company's action. Strike leaders could not be located tonight for comment on the stand of the company.

Company Names Arbitrator.

The company told Cochran that Sam W. Reynolds, American Legion leader here and coal and lumber dealer, was the selection of the officials as the company arbitrator. This left it up to Cochran to select the third man in the event arbitration is started.

Representing the company at the conference were George Brandeis, Omaha's leading merchant; O. H. Barmettler, P. F. Peterson, Leo Bozell, J. A. C. Kennedy, and W. H. Schelberg, all directors of the company.

Toledo Strike Ended.

Toledo, O., June 17.—[Special.]—The four day Toledo Edison company power strike that threatened all industrial activities in northwestern Ohio ended today when the electrical workers' union voted 311 to 48 to accept arbitration of the issues. The men also voted to return to work Tuesday at 7 a. m. Pickets were withdrawn shortly after 2 p. m.

The remaining 15 per cent wage increase sought will be arbitrated before a board, one member of which is to be appointed by the union, one by the company, and the third by Miss Francis Perkins, secretary of labor.

Office workers tonight voted to accept a similar arbitration proposal. The vote was 92 to 9 to return to work tomorrow morning.

Workers Back at Jobs.

Freeport, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—With acceptance of a 5 per cent wage increase, nearly all of the 600 employés of the Stover Manufacturing and Engine company were back at their jobs this morning. They had been striking for six weeks.

Sixty employés of the Woodmansee company who struck soon after the Stovers workers walked out remained on strike today.

Colleen Moore Seeks Divorce

COLLEEN MOORE AND ALFRED P. SCOTT.
[Acme Photo.]

Broker 'Too Harsh'

Los Angeles, Cal., June 17.—(AP)—Colleen Moore, film actress, filed suit late today for divorce against Alfred P. Scott, charging that he had shown a harsh attitude towards her and had avoided her systematically.

Scott, a New York broker, married the actress in 1932 in Florida. It was her second marriage.

Miss Moore filed the divorce action under her legal name of Mrs. Kathleen Morrison Scott.

Miss Moore charged that Scott twice left New York and went to Bermuda to avoid her, and that when they were together he was offensive to her friends.

HOPEFUL BOOKIES EMERGE, BUT RAID SHOWS LID IS ON Expect Legalization and Open Up.

With the passage in the legislature of the bill legalizing handbooks in Chicago seemingly certain, "bookies" in the city, who have been kept under cover by an almost unprecedented police drive the last two months, were beginning to come out into the open yesterday.

Despite the word passed around that leniency is the order of the day, police captains were emphatic in declaring that "the lid is still on," and at least one raid in the loop tended to prove it.

Arrest Made in Raid.

That raid was at 210 West Lake street, where Sergts. John Lannon and Peter Bernacchi found a score of men betting on the horse races. All were ordered out but Michael Weiner, 36 years old, 3600 Roosevelt road, who was booked as keeper.

However, several other small places in the loop were reported doing business, and scattered establishments in the outlying parts of the city also were ready to accommodate any one who wanted to risk $2 or more on the chances of some particular animal.

Most of the larger establishments were suspicious of any promised leniency and were content to remain closed pending some official word.

Police captains did admit that the usual amount of "cheating" and sidewalk betting still was going on, but denied that the town again was "wide open" for the gamblers.

Mayor Going to Springfield.

Mayor Kelly in the meantime prepared to leave for Springfield today to keep an eye on the progress of the handbook bill which passed the house and is now before the senate.

"I am anxious to see the bill approved," he said, "The city needs the revenue to insure sufficient funds to pay the school teachers on schedule and to add new men to the police force. The handbook bill would provide money and divert the policemen now used to keep the books closed to the more important work of protecting lives and property."

The mayor also is interested in other legislative measures, including one to give Chicago home rule over utilities, the one for a permanent lake front fair, and the lake front airport project.

CITY WORKER DIES AT DESK.

Charles Eddy, 60 years old, 4251 North Paulina street, a timekeeper in the department of streets office on Navy pier, died at his desk there yesterday of heart disease.

QUIZ TWO FILM OPERATORS ON DYNAMITE CACHE

Rudolph Fleisher and Eugene Atkinson, motion picture operators, were questioned last night at the state's attorney's office in connection with the case of Thomas Kohler, 38 years old, 7951 Langley avenue, who was arrested Thursday when he called at a south side garage for a package of dynamite he had left there.

Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police, also questioned Kohler concerning the murders of Thomas Maloy and Clyde Osterberg, heads of rival motion picture operator unions.

Three others taken for questioning after Kohler's arrest are reported to have given information which caused Fleisher and Atkinson to be called in. These three were Peter Cunniff, former business agent of Osterberg's union; his nephew, Francis Cunniff, and Matson Potts.

Soap in His Coffee, Needles in Bed; He Wants Divorce

PIQUETT IS BORED AS 2D HARBORING TRIAL IS STARTED

Claims Case Is Repetitive, but Is Overruled.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Louis Piquett, former city prosecutor and attorney for the late John Dillinger and other less noted gangsters and their molls, came up against the federal government yesterday for the second time. He had hired two lawyers for the occasion and lolled back in his seat in Judge Philip L. Sullivan's courtroom in easy unconcern while one of his attorneys, John Elliott Byrne, former assistant United States district attorney, argued learnedly why it was unfair to bring Piquett to trial the second time on the same set of charges, that he "harbored" Dillinger and his ald, Homer Van Meter. This move was lost and the case will go on this morning.

The Proceedings Bore Him.

Mr. Piquett wears clothes of dash and color and has a variety of friends who follow him to the courtroom to lend support to his mixture of devil-may-care manner and injured innocence. The show yesterday was too dull and complicated for them and even the defendant was bored. It had something to do with double jeopardy, and was called "res adjudicata," which means in English that it is concerned with things already decided.

This was the attitude that Mr. Piquett and his friends took, but nevertheless they cast mean looks in the direction of Arthur O'Leary, Mr. Piquett's former secretary and investigator.

"That's the bird," said Piquett, "that got me into all this trouble."

Mr. Byrne read from law decisions to support the plea that the alleged Dillinger concealment and the putative Van Meter concealment were all part of the same conspiracy, if there was one, and that, since the government failed to get a conviction on one phase of this case—the Dillinger hiding and face lifting operations—it had no right to vex the defendant by bringing him to trial on another phase of the case, in which the same set of facts will be related.

The Government Replies.

Austin Hall, assistant to the United States attorney, replied briefly and pointedly to the effect that there were two indictments, one naming Dillinger and the other Van Meter, and that the Van Meter case had never been tried. The dates of the alleged concealment, it was pointed out, differ.

Mr. Piquett's defense this time is to be one of complete innocence, in so far as one can be completely innocent after having been in a house where Dillinger and Van Meter were in hiding during the month of June, 1934, when two Chicago doctors of shady reputation were altering their features and finger prints.

There will be no plea of attorney and client in sacred confidence. Mr. Piquett merely saw Van Meter there. He is not the president of a law and order society and so he did not turn him in. He may talk to the jurors in this case, as he did in the other, and ask them to be good fellows and let him go.

The second Dillinger attorney is Edwin T. Peifer. The case will be prosecuted by Brian McMahon, Harry N. Connaughton, and Mr. Hall. Mr. McMahon presented the recent case against John Paul Chase.

FIND 160 SHIPS ARE LACKING IN SAFETY DEVICES

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—Startling figures as to the number of American ships that are lacking in safety requirements were presented today at a meeting of the technical committee on safety at sea, which has been named by the senate commerce committee in the investigation of the Morro Castle and Mohawk disasters.

One witness informed the committee that 160 vessels under the American flag were as unsafe as the General Slocum, which burned in the East river with a loss of 1,021 lives in 1904. The committee also was told that 1,500 American ships had no wireless facilities.

Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York, chairman of the commerce committee, declared that the figures demonstrated the need for comprehensive legislation.

TWO-THIRDS' RULE FOR HIGH COURT ASKED BY NORRIS

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—Striking at 5 to 4 decisions by the Supreme court, Senator Norris today introduced a proposal for a constitutional amendment to prevent that court from ruling congressional acts unconstitutional except by more than a two-thirds' vote and only when actions have been brought within six months after an act takes effect.

He denied the proposed amendment was aimed at the recent decision holding NRA unconstitutional. "The Schechter Brothers never would have been indicted under this amendment," he said, "as the recovery act would have been tested within ten days after it took effect."

Waukegan Boy Dies After He Falls and Breaks Neck

Robert Carter, 11 years old, 33 Jefferson avenue, Waukegan, died last night in the Dowst Emergency hospital in Waukegan as a result of injuries incurred when his neck was broken in a fall down a stairway in the home of a friend yesterday afternoon. He had been scuffling with several playmates in the home of Robert Jacobs Jr., 14 years old, 26 Jefferson avenue, when the accident occurred.

ANDREA RUSSO, IMPORTER, DIES AS AUTOS CRASH

Car Collides with Taxi in Wilmette.

Andrea Russo, 76 years old, founder of A. Russo & Co., importers, wholesale grocers, and macaroni manufacturers, who was knighted by the crown of Italy, was killed last night in an automobile collision at 4th street and Maple avenue, Wilmette.

Mr. Russo was riding with his two sons, Charles of 526 6th street, Wilmette, and Nunzio, 149 Glenwood avenue, Glencoe. At the intersection the Russo car struck a taxicab driven by Lavier Wingfield, 716 Ridge road, Wilmette.

At first it was believed the elder Russo suffered only minor cuts. He was driven home by his sons and was able to walk into the house. He went to bed and a doctor was called, but he died within two hours. Internal hemorrhages were believed to be the cause.

Business Founded in 1883.

Mr. Russo came to the United States in 1882 and founded his business the following year. He was one of the first importers of Italian products in Chicago, and it was for this work that he was knighted by King Victor Immanuel in 1920. He retired in 1924, and his sons still carry on the business at 466-68 West Chicago avenue.

Since 1924 the elder Russo has divided his time between Chicago and his villa at Lucca, Italy, near Florence. He arrived in Chicago to visit Charles Russo on May 17. In addition to the two sons Mr. Russo is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Michael Indovina, 2358 Wentworth avenue. His wife died in 1920.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning in St. Francis Xavier church, Wilmette. Burial will be in the family lot at Calvary cemetery.

Truck Kills Pedestrian.

George Krammer, 60 years old, 1928 Turner avenue, was killed yesterday when he stepped off a safety island at Ogden and Homan avenues and into the path of a truck driven by Fred Hespen, 5929 South Paulina street.

These deaths and one other increased the 1935 trafic toll for Cook county to 412. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 331 had been killed in automobile accidents within the city limits and 7,073 had been injured. The other victim:

Louis Sokol, 48 years old, address unknown. Killed when struck by the automobile of Samuel Gribow, 34 years old, 954 North Campbell avenue, as he was crossing West Division street at North Rockwell street. Gribow was held for questioning by the West North avenue police.

Louis Magnuson, 60 years old, 126 West Hickory street, Chicago Heights, and his son, Kenneth, 27, escaped serious injury yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Grand Trunk Western passenger train at the 155th and Halsted street crossing in Harvey. The elder Magnuson was treated for minor scalp injuries at the Ingalls Memorial hospital.

Fines assessed yesterday against speeders in the Trafic court of Judge John Gutknecht were turned over to victims of automobile accidents now recovering in the county hospital.

"Mr. PIXLEY is awful Particular" Aunt Clara

Well Sir, the other day we were frying doughnuts—had a batch about ready to serve—

WHEN MR. PIXLEY COMES ALONG!

"Wait a minute, Aunt Clara," says he, "some of these doughnuts have broken crusts and I'm afraid we can't serve them."

Land sakes, they were good enough for anybody, but out they went.

I got to thinking that Mr. Pixley is awful particular about what he serves—but maybe that's why so many people keep coming here.

MORE SWEITZER EVIDENCE GIVEN TO GRAND JURORS

4 County Board Members Appear as Witnesses.

State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday that grand jury action may be expected in the Sweitzer case by the end of the week. During the day the jury heard four county commissioners in its investigation of charges of withholding public funds and embezzlement against Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted county treasurer.

The commissioners, George A. Miller, Peter M. Kelly, Maurice F. Kavanagh, and William Busse, appeared before the jury to establish the fact that a formal demand was made on Sweitzer for payment of $414,129, the amount of the shortage which developed in the accounts of the county clerk during Sweitzer's 24 year tenure of that office.

Jury Gets Record of Hearing.

A stenographic report of the hearing at which the demand was made and at which Sweitzer also admitted a shortage to the extent of $335,000 was given the jury.

The investigation has been slowed up by missing bank records of Sweitzer's public and personal accounts. While bank officials are cooperating with the state's attorney's staf in the search for these records, some of them, a decade or more old and in many cases belonging to closed or merged banks, are stored in warehouses, where it has been difficult to find them.

During the day two employés of Lybrand, Ross Brothers & Montgomery, accountants, started the audit of the county treasurer's office authorized by the county board as one outcome of the Sweitzer affair.

Kerner Explains His Action.

Otto Kerner, attorney general of Illinois, issued a statement yesterday asserting that he had no alternative but to sign the petition for leave to file quo warranto proceedings which Sweitzer instituted last Friday. The proceedings, to be heard next Monday, seek to oust Joseph L. Gill, whom the county board chose as Sweitzer's successor as county treasurer.

"The attorney general, when a petition in due form is presented to him, has not the right to deny the relator the opportunity to have his case heard by the court," said Mr. Kerner.

"When a petition in due form is presented to me as attorney general, setting forth the usurpation of the office [in this case that of county treasurer], as provided by statute, it becomes my duty to indorse my consent to the filing of the petition, and should I refuse to perform that duty I may be compelled by mandamus."

State's Attorney Courtney had criticized the attorney general's action. If Kerner had refused to sign, the mandamus proceedings would have put the burden of proof on Sweitzer, whereas in the quo warranto proceedings it is on Treasurer Gill, Courtney asserted.

Reserve Officer Cashiered for $600 CCC Fraud

First Lieut. John C. Cooley, engineer reserve officer, has been dismissed from the army service on charges of having presented $615.66 in fraudulent claims while on active duty with the Civilian Conservation corps, according to an announcement yesterday. Lieut. Cooley was convicted by a general court martial at Fort Sheridan last November, but the sentence was not confirmed by the President until May 22.

Girl Struck by Golf Ball Sues for $15,000 Damages

Miss Ella Warskow, 25 years old, 717 Randolph street, Oak Park, a musician, filed suit for $15,000 damages in the Circuit court yesterday against Miss Henrietta Runyon, 40 years old, 135 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park. Miss Warskow alleges she was injured by a golf ball driven by Miss Runyon while the two were playing on a public course in Madison, Wis., on July 17, 1933.

IERC APPROVES LITTLE CALUMET STRIPPING JOB

Shore to Be Raised in Canal Project.

Stripping of 194,000 cubic yards of top soil from 120 acres of farm land along the Little Calumet river, near Halsted and 129th streets, was approved by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission yesterday as a work relief project. The project, which is expected to give employment to 2,500 workers, is part of the federal program for the development of the Calumet harbor.

After the top soil is removed spoilage from the widening and deepening of the Little Calumet river, which will be started late this summer, will be spread on the tract to a depth of from 8 to 10 feet. The top soil, which is to be stored during this process, will then be spread over the spoilage and the entire tract will be landscaped.

Part of Major Undertaking.

The 120 acres involved adjoin the Whistler tract in the forest preserve. The tract was turned over to the IERC by the county board.

The war department is to dredge the Little Calumet as part of the general program for the harbor development, including the improvement of the Calumet and Little Calumet rivers and the Calumet Sag canal to permit the direct movement of barge trafic from the South Chicago industries to the Illinois waterway and the Mississippi river.

By Aug. 1, the relief commission announced, the entire project will be turned over to the federal Public Works administration with an increase in hours and wages of the men given employment.

Arrangement for Enrollment.

The primary procedure in the enrollment of men to be given work under the $4,880,000,000 federal works program also was determined yesterday. Clients of the IERC were ordered to register with the Illinois State Employment Service, 116 North Dearborn street, or the National Reemployment Service, 20 North Wacker drive, before July 1.

The state employment service, headed by Dr. A. H. R. Atwood, is to open offices throughout the city within a few days, while the national organization, directed by J. W. Bergthold, will operate in 101 downstate counties. Relief administrative officers were ordered to submit lists of eligible men to the two employment services.

TOM SAWYER'S FENCE TO BE WHITEWASHED IN MARK TWAIN FETE

Hannibal, Mo., June 17.—(AP)—Tom Sawyer's fence will be whitewashed again tomorrow in memory of Mark Twain. Fence painting boys will be in the cast of 1,000 presenting a pageant depicting episodes from the life of Samuel Langhorne Clemens [Mark Twain].

The pageant is part of the centennial celebration of Clemens' birth. There will be a Halley's comet ballet by 65 girls. Clemens was born in the year that famous comet streaked across the sky, 1835, in Florida, Mo.

Seventy-five colored singers will appear in a Mississippi river levee scene memorializing the author's career as a boat pilot. His marriage, his civil war days as a soldier, his rôles as a miner and westerner will be fitted into the seven episodes. The carriage in which Clemens rode when he paid his last visit to Hannibal in 1902 will be used in the pageant.

MRS. BRUNDAGE'S PROPERTY SOLD UNDER JUDGMENT

Household furnishings of Mrs. Germaine V. Brundage, widow of the late Edward J. Brundage of Lake Forest, former attorney general of Illinois, were sold yesterday at a sheriff's auction in the Lake Forest Fireproof Storage company warehouse, where they had been stored for six years. Valued originally at $25,000 by Mrs. Brundage, they brought only $2,326.56, the amount of a judgment obtained against Mrs. Brundage by Miss Therese Charlton, 664 North Michigan avenue, an interior decorator. The winning bid was made by Miss Charlton. Mrs. Brundage was the only other active bidder, with a lump offer of $1,500. Mrs. Brundage and her four children are making their home in Washington, Conn.

Mrs. Dorothy Frank Earl to Seek Divorce Today

Los Angeles, Cal., June 17.—[Special.]—Attorneys for Mrs. Dorothy Frank Earl, daughter of Bertram W. Frank, retired member of the Chicago Board of Trade, will file suit for divorce today against Edwin T. Earl, Pasadena sportsman, rancher, and son of E. T. Earl, former newspaper publisher. The divorce bill will charge mental cruelty, the attorneys announced. Mrs. Earl formerly was the wife of Joseph Hixon Jr. of Pasadena. She divorced him in the summer of 1932 and married Earl the next October.

SCHOOLS TO SEEK MORE FEDERAL BUILDING FUNDS

Propose Program Costing $18,000,000.

James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, left for Springfield last night to urge passage by the general assembly of a bill designed to assist the board in obtaining funds for construction projects costing $18,000,000.

The proposed bill would authorize the board to sell tax warants totaling 90 per cent of the 1933-'34-'35 tax levies or 15 per cent more than the present legal limit of 75 per cent already sold. The added 15 per cent would be sold to the government to be used in Public Works administration projects.

Mr. McCahey said the sale of the warants would net the board approximately $5,000,000, which would entitle it to an additional PWA grant of 45 per cent of that amount, bringing the total federal loans and grants to almost half of the cost of the proposed $18,000,000 construction program.

Earlier Program Expanded.

The $18,000,000 project represents an increase of $8,000,000 over the original PWA request made by the board, through Mayor Kelly, earlier in the school year.

"We have added the construction of several schools and recreation fields and have requested the painting of 220 schools," said McCahey.

The program provides for the completion of four high schools, construction on which was stopped because of lack of funds; additions to three high schools and eighteen elementary schools, construction of thirteen elementary schools, one auditorium and gymnasium, three recreation fields and the modernizing of toilets in thirty schools.

Schools to Be Completed.

The high schols to be completed are the Rembrandt, 76th street and Bennett avenue, estimated at $1,135,000; the New Verdi, 56th and Rockwell streets, $1,110,000, and the Galileo, Northcott avenue and Hurlbut street, $1,145,000.

President McCahey said he would also urge the passage by the legislature of a bill to reimburse the board for $2,384,000, spent since 1929 in the maintenance of the parental school and schools for deaf and crippled children. "Under the law the state owes the board for funds used in excess of the normal educational costs and this money is due the Chicago schools. We intend to use it in meeting the December pay roll," he said.

Knocks Out Father-in-Law Then Hangs Self in Home

John Kowalski, 45 years old, knocked his father-in-law down a flight of steps then ended his life by hanging yesterday in the basement of his grocery and home at 1916 Fullerton avenue. Paul Kuca, 60 years old, the father-in-law, was unconscious from the fall and the police believe Kowalski thought he had killed him and ended his life in fear or remorse. Kuca was not seriously hurt.

Pledge Quiz on Graft Charge by Ousted Assistant to Roper

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—A thorough senate investigation of charges of "favoritism and graft" in the department of commerce, made by Assistant Secretary Ewing Y. Mitchell, whom President Roosevelt ousted Saturday, was promised by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] on the senate floor today. Senator Vandenberg is a member of the commerce committee, to which was referred the nomination of John Monroe Johnson as Mitchell's successor.

Meanwhile reports of a political deal in which Mitchell was said to have been "sacrificed" by the administration as the price for the support of Thomas J. Pendergast, Kansas City Democratic boss, in 1936, were current in senatorial quarters.

Mitchell Only Opponent.

Mitchell, whose home is in Springfield, Mo., is virtually the sole opposition to Pendergast's domination of the Missouri Democratic machine. Pendergast was disgruntled and threatening to bolt the Roosevelt administration because he believed Postmaster General James A. Farley failed to go to bat for him in the income tax prosecution of his chief lieutenant, John Lazia, Kansas City gangster, who was later machine gunned to death.

The differences, however, were composed at a conference in New York about two weeks ago, according to reliable reports around the senate. At this conference, attended by Pendergast, Farley, Senator Bennett C. Clark, and Senator Harry S. Truman, both of Missouri, it was agreed, first, that Mitchell would go, and, second, that Pendergast would go down the line for Roosevelt in 1936. The Kansas City machine came to Chicago in 1932 pledged for the Missouri favorite son, Jim Reed, with many members of the delegation favoring Al Smith as second choice. However, they yielded to the inevitable when the Roosevelt bandwagon got under way, and voted for him on the second ballot.

The Lazia scandal was aired on the senate floor by Huey P. Long, the Louisiana "kingfish," in his recent unsuccessful campaign to have Farley investigated on charges of interfering with government contracts, interfering with criminal prosecutions, and printing several hundred thousand dollars' worth of imperforated stamps for his friends. Long read a letter from Pendergast to Farley calling Lazia "one of my chief lieutenants" and requesting the postmaster general to do his "utmost to bring about a settlement of this matter."

The letter also stated that Jerome Walsh and Lazia himself would be in Washington to see Farley about the income tax prosecution and added: "I think Frank Walsh spoke to the proper authorities about this." Frank Walsh is a former Kansas City lawyer who later practiced in New York and was appointed by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as chairman of the New York power authority in 1931.

Charges Favoritism.

Mitchell said today that "it is unfortunate but none the less true that the department of commerce is not the only department in Washington where the ideals of the New Deal have been strangled, improper favoritism and graft abound, where there is apparent evidence of corruption, and the progress of the 'old steal' proceeds unabated."

"The bureau of air commerce and the steamboat inspection service," he added, "have been partially reorganized, but much remains to be done, particularly in the latter service, where inefficient inspection probably contributed to the Morro Castle disaster."

Mitchell disclosed a letter he wrote to President Roosevelt on May 30, in which he said an investigation of the department of commerce would "amaze the country and disclose that the loss sustained by the government would far exceed in value the amount involved in the Teapot Dome scandal."

BEER INDUSTRY CHIEFS MEET TO PROLONG CODES

Representatives of the brewing industry from all parts of the country will meet at the Congress hotel this morning to consider a program for the conduct of the industry under voluntary codes continuing the policies established under the National Recovery act.

Directors of the United States Brewers' association, headed by Col. Jacob Ruppert of New York, met at the Stevens hotel yesterday and officials of the American Brewers' association and other organizations of the industry convened at the Congress hotel to consider the problems growing out of the expiration of the NRA codes.

It was indicated in the preliminary meetings yesterday that the larger brewers will favor the establishment of voluntary codes embodying virtually all the provisions of the NRA regulations. It was generally maintained that the NRA codes successfully policed the industry during its rebirth after prohibition and that the regulations governing prices, wages, and hours, advertising and financing of taverns saved the industry from a resumption of abuses which were largely responsible for prohibition.

Loses $15,000 Damage Suit Against Mrs. Butman

A jury in the Superior court of Judge Joseph David yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty in the $15,000 false arrest suit brought by Peter Zebrauskas, 1860 South Halsted street, a musician, against Mrs. Bella Butman, 6743 Irving Park boulevard. Zebrauska charged that Mrs. Butman had cause his arrest in November of 1933 after she had been robbed of $2,400 while visiting a tavern in which he was employed as a violinist. Mrs. Butman, with five other persons, is under indictment on a charge of conspiracy and forgery in connection with the alleged fraudulent will of James Thomas Kelly, West Madison street miser, who died leaving an estate estimated at $140,000.

$1,085,366 Judgment Is Won by Francis A. Cody

New York, June 17.—(AP)—Francis A. Cody, 89 year old nephew of the late William F. [Buffalo Bill] Cody, today was awarded a $1,085,366 Supreme court verdict in his suit to recover collateral and interest which he alleged was converted unlawfully. Defendants in the action were Herman W. Booth, former member of the New York Stock exchange, and George I. Hovey, Deansboro, N. Y., banker.

Two photographs were being used yesterday in a search for two possible heirs to the $140,000 estate of James Thomas Kelly, the West Madison street miser, who died March 2. The photographs are supposed to be those of the son and daughter of Kelly by a marriage to Mrs. Hazel Reise.

Mrs. Reise, found two months ago by Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the public administrator, gave some proof that she married Kelly in 1912 and divorced him in 1918 in St. Louis. Until a few days ago, however, she maintained that she would rather forfeit the children's claims to the fortune than have them discover that Kelly, an ex-convict, was their father. She said that the son, now 23, is known as James Thomas Reise, and the daughter, now 20, is Mrs. Elizabeth Hazel Bolton, but officials believed she is still withholding their real names.

Mrs. Reise turned the photographs of her two children over to Attorney Samuel Hoffman, to whose custody Rubens released her when she refused to straighten out the conflicting stories she had told. Mrs. Bella Butman, in whose home at 6743 Irving Park boulevard the miser died, and six others are to go on trial tomorrow for attempting to foist on the Probate court a spurious will which would have given them the Kelly estate.

Dies in Court as He Seeks to Retain Two Children

Frederick C. Frank, 38 years old, 3307 North Seeley avenue, an optical worker, died of heart disease yesterday in the court of Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti. Frank was in court to oppose the petition of his brother, Charles, for sole custody of Charles' two children, Ethel, 13 years old, and Roger, 5. When Charles obtained a divorce a year ago he and Frederick were awarded joint custody of the children, who were sent to live with Frederick.

SENATE DEFEATS ALL CHANGES IN OLD AGE PENSION

Expect Security Bill's Passage Today.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—All efforts to amend the New Deal's so-called social security measure, including Huey Long's share the wealth scheme, were overridden by the senate today, with indications that the bill will be passed tomorrow substantially as it came from the house.

Late in the day Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] sought without success to effect an agreement with administration leaders whereby the federal government would guarantee a minimum of $30 a month to persons coming under the old age assistance provisions. Senator Borah indicated that he would offer such an amendment tomorrow.

Under the bill as it stands the federal government will make contributions to the states on a matching basis for old age assistance, but the government's share may not exceed $15 a month.

"Many Can't Contribute."

"Many states are not in a position to contribute anything and hundreds of thousands of these old people will be thrown back into the wretched poorhouses and county farms," Senator Borah said. "There are other states which will not be able to contribute more than $6 or $8 a month, and if we merely match that amount these old people will be left with $12 or $16."

Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], chairman of the finance committee, contended that Senator Borah's proposal would defeat the whole purpose of the bill to offer an inducement for the states to carry their full share of the responsibility.

"The federal government heretofore has contributed nothing and we are going a long way when we undertake to put up 50 per cent," he said.

Long Would Spend 3 Billion.

Senator Long, after delivering a tirade on sharing the wealth, offered an amendment which would appropriate 3 billion dollars out of the federal treasury for old age pension, 1 billion for unemployment relief, and 1 billion for the care of dependent children. All of this would be met by a graduated tax of from 1 to 100 per cent on "fortunes in excess of 5 or 6 million dollars."

It was Long's first attempt to get legislative action on his share the wealth scheme and it was voted down with a swelling roar of "Noes."

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] submitted an amendment authorizing the President to make upward tariff revisions to cover increased production costs due to the taxes manufacturers will have to pay for unemployment insurance and old age annuities. The taxes in each case reach a maximum of 3 per cent. This amendment also was rejected.

G. O. P. Offers No Opposition.

Republican senators, while disposed to question the practicability as well as the constitutionality of the social security measure, offered no concerted opposition to it, whether because of its supposed popularity or a realization that opposition, in the face of the huge Democratic majority, would be futile. The most outspoken Republican was Senator Daniel O. Hastings [Rep., Delaware], a member of the finance committee, which considered the measure, and he offered no substitute and no amendment.

Senator Hastings' speech was concerned chiefly with the tremendous reserves that are supposed to be created in the federal treasury under the old age annuity plan. Pointing out that these reserves will reach 10 billion dollars in 10 years and 47 billion dollars in 43 years, Senator Hastings asked:

"Does anybody have any doubt that this fund will be used for current expenses? With more than 25 million people interested in it, how can congress resist their demands for loans or advance payments?"

Questions Insurance Legality.

Senator Hastings also questioned the constitutionality of the unemployment insurance provisions of the bill, which provide for a federal pay roll tax of 3 per cent on employers, 90 per cent of which is to be refunded to the states which adopt approved unemployment insurance laws.

"It's so different from what we have a right to do under the constitution when we say we are going to tax employers in the states 3 per cent and then say to the states that we will give back 90 per cent of the taxes if they will adopt suitable laws," he said.

New NRA Head Tells Plans

VOLUNTARY CODE SCHEME PUZZLES NEW NRA CHIEF

Fear Collapse Would Reflect Badly.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—A Republican banker took over President Roosevelt's skeletonized NRA today and began to explore the possibilities of reviving codes on a voluntary basis.

James L. O'Neill, vice president of the Guaranty Trust company, who announced at his first press conference as NRA administrator that he is a Republican "but not active in politics," spent his initial day in charge of the recovery administration trying to get its few remaining parts together.

Calls Advisory Council.

One of O'Neill's first actions was to summon the advisory council of the new NRA and ask them to decide how much of the old NRA code structure can be revived on a voluntary basis under the revised law. He predicted that the making of this crucial decision may require two weeks.

Two minor industries, the asbestos products and asphalt shingle roofing industries, already have filed voluntary codes with NRA headquarters, O'Neill said. Fourteen other voluntary codes have been presented at the New York regional office, he added.

"We will look over these agreements to see what business is asking for," O'Neill explained. "I don't know whether business will start off asking for things that are impossible under the new law. I suppose they will ask for a good many things as trial balloons to see what they can get. The first task assigned to the advisory council is to see whether there are enough possibilities in the law to encourage industry to send in agreements."

Fear Reflection on NRA.

This vital question of whether the NRA is to embark upon a system of voluntary codes has the administration in a dilemma. Considerable opposition to the scheme is developing in the NRA on the ground that a collapse, considered inevitable by some, of the agreements would reflect badly on NRA. Others insist that NRA must do everything possible for industry, including the voluntary codes, or be accused of sulking and slacking.

The question of new and more permanent legislation for NRA at this session "is still an open question," O'Neill told reporters.

The new NRA chief, who is serving without pay, temporarily continued in office all of NRA's 5,400 bureaucrats, explaining that he did not know how many aids he would need.

Prices Stay Up Despite End of NRA, Bids to City Show

Bids for fuel oil and various road construction materials submitted to the city department of public works showed yesterday that the termination of the NRA has had no appreciable effect upon prices. Evidence was shown in the bids that price levels are being maintained despite the fears of a disastrous competitive price war that were voiced when the Supreme court on May 27 declared the NRA invalid.

A study of offers received by Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, and prices paid for similar commodities during the era of the Blue Eagle revealed that in several instances prices have risen. Identical bids were received from several contractors in several instances, indicating that the price fixing policies of the NRA are being maintained through trade associations.

Comparison of Prices.

The following list shows prices paid by the city for various commodities under the NRA and the current prices:

LIMESTONE DUST: March 19, $3.20 per ton by rail or truck; current bids, $3.75 by rail and $4 by truck.

PORTLAND CEMENT: March 1, $2.40 and $2.35; current bids, $2.85.

FLUX OIL: March 16, 4.45 cents per gallon; no change.

REFINED TAR: March 20, 10.97 cents per gallon; no change.

REFINED ASPHALT: March 15, by rail, $12.43 per ton, in drums, $16.93; current bids, $13.62 and $17.02.

REFINED NATIVE ASPHALT: March 15, $28.90 and $29.65; current bids, $29.10 and $29.85.

MOTOR OIL: March 20, 27 cents per gallon; now 28½ cents.

CRUSHED LIMESTONE: March 13, $1.32 and $1.88; no change.

Bids for limestone screening, torpedo sand, gravel, paving brick, fuel oil, and asphalt sand were received from a number of concerns and were identical, unchanged from those of last March.

The transition from code authorities enforcing the illegal provisions of the NRA to trade associations dedicated to the maintenance of the same general policies was marked in the activities of four organizations yesterday.

Meeting at the Palmer house, the National Saddlery Manufacturers association and the Engraved Stationery Manufacturers association devoted business sessions yesterday to the consideration of problems arising from the Supreme court decision. Both organizations pledged themselves to the maintenance of NRA wage and hour scales and fair practice codes.

"Mark of Merit" Stickers.

The Chicago Cigar Manufacturers association, meeting at the Great Northern hotel, announced a similar program. Members subscribing to a voluntary agreement embracing the general policies of the NRA will be permitted to stamp their products with "Chicago, I Will" and "Mark of Merit" stickers supplanting the Blue Eagle mark.

S. Frank Beatty, secretary of the Chicago Graphic Arts Federation, Inc., 20 North Wacker drive, explained yesterday that "notices of assessments" sent to industries subject to the Graphic Arts Code authority for June represented only "voluntary contributions." The mailing of these bills two weeks after the Supreme court decision, with a threat of legal action unless they are paid, has aroused members of the federation.

Beatty said the assessments, although prorated on the same basis as under NRA, are purely optional with members and the funds collected will be used only for winding up the affairs of the code authority and for the organization of a voluntary trade association. Organized as the Master Printers' federation with a membership of 150 firms and a pay roll of seven, the Graphic Arts federation blossomed under the Blue Eagle into a powerful code authority with 1,500 members and employed twenty-one persons.

John Perotti, 29 years old, 1240 South 51st avenue, Cicero, was sentenced to thirty days in the Bridewell and fined $200 by Judge Frank M. Padden yesterday in the Safety court for driving while intoxicated. Perotti was placed on probation for the same offense a week before upon the plea of his mother that "he is a good boy."

Mayor Myron M. Lehman led the parade on horseback, dressed as Chief Waubonsie of the Pottawattomie tribe, who was a friend of the white men when the community was settled in 1835. Following were many covered wagons driven by Elgin residents dressed in the garb of three generations ago. One of the covered wagons was drawn by a team of oxen. Old surreys and buggies, a stage coach and ancient automobiles with the chauffeurs wearing the old dusters and veils, were part of the procession.

The drum and bugle corps of the Elgin post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which won the state contest last week, and the women's auxiliary drill team of the same organization, also state champions; the American Legion post, Spanish war veterans, and Boy Scouts were in the parade.

SENATOR GLASS ASSAILS POLICY OF THE NEW DEAL

Medford, Mass., June 17.—(AP)—United States Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], former secretary of the treasury, today assailed the New Deal, saying: "A government out of its constitutional order is certain to bring disaster."

Senator Glass launched his attack against the administration's policies after being awarded the degree of doctor of laws at the seventy-ninth Tufts college commencement exercises.

"Whether there be an 'old' or 'new' deal, there should always be a square deal," he declared. "And when a deal is made too many cards should not be distributed to one and too few to the others.

"A government out of its constitutional order is certain to bring disaster just as a world out of its orbit."

NEW DEAL PLAN DISSAPPOINTING, ASSERTS WELLS

New York, June 17.—(AP)—After a year's interval, H. G. Wells, author and social theorist, reports in a book published tomorrow called "The New America the New World," that he is disappointed in the New Deal.

Revisiting America after his investigation here in April, 1934, he declares that "that axis of strong, clear thought which I had hoped to find, that lucid, guiding outline of the relations of America to its future and the world, I found hadn't appeared—not even in the White House."

Wells does not, however, express an equal disappointment in President Roosevelt, with whom he spent some time on both trips to the United States. He believes the President is now waiting "for something definite and constructive" to be offered.

"Dodge Is the 4-Star Economy Hit," say BLOCK and SULLY

"We'll say Dodge gets our applause for giving 20 miles or more per gallon of gas," assert Eve Sully and Jesse Block, famous radio comedy team, pictured above. And owners everywhere are reporting remarkable economy from the new Dodge.

Thomas S. Baldassare, Yonkers, N.Y., says: "I heard about the remarkable economy of the new Dodge before I put in my order. But the actual performance of the Dodge is more convincing than any report. I'm getting more than 19 miles per gallon in regular driving."

And Mrs. R. G. Eyerly, Chappaqua, N. Y., says: "I can't understand how I get so much mileage per gallon in a car as big as a Dodge, I'm getting 4 more miles per gallon and saving 20¢ on every dollar I spend on oil."

Don't deny yourself the satisfaction you can have with a big, New-Value Dodge, now that it's priced just a few dollars above the lowest-priced cars.

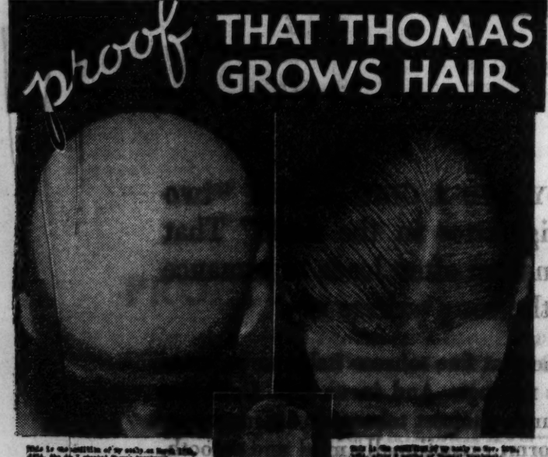
proof THAT THOMAS GROWS HAIR



Wm. Beckmann (As he is today)

THE above photographs show how Thomas treatment re-grows hair even in extremely serious* cases of complete baldness. Within five weeks after Mr. Beckmann was accepted for treatment in a Thomas office, new hair was visible on his scalp.

Perhaps the condition which is causing your loss of hair may not be as serious as was Mr. Beckmann's. Regardless as to what the cause may be, it will surely lead you to baldness unless you promptly take proper steps to overcome it. Dandruff, for example, is the most common and most deadly enemy of hair health. Thomas treatment effectively overcomes dandruff, stops falling hair, itching scalp and promotes hair growth on thin and bald spots. In fact, The Thomas' successfully treat all of the 14 local scalp disorders which are responsible for 90% of all baldness.

Come in today and have a talk with a Thomas expert. No charge is made for a complete scalp examination nor for consultation. (Scalp examination, consultation, and treatment are always in private.)

The above photographs have been authenticated as genuine, untouched, and the notary seal and signature of Jerome H. Pinus appears on original copies.

JAP ARMY SEES PEACE SETTLING ON NORTH CHINA

Report Agreement on Chahar Province Incident.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 18 [Tuesday].—Chinese authorities in Chahar province are moving toward a settlement of their difficulties with the Japanese Kwantung army, it was reported from Peiping this morning.

The army's complaints were against the governor, Gen. Sung Cheh-yuan, whose troops allegedly crossed the Jehol border and fired on several Manchukuoans and over an incident last week at Changpei, near Kalgan, when four Japanese officers traveling without passports were detained and questioned by a Chinese magistrate.

The Peiping report stated Chin Teh-chuan, civil commissioner for Chahar province, had met with Col. Gennosuke Matsui, Japanese resident officer at Kalgan, and agreed upon conditions of settlement of the Changpei incident.

Promise Apology.

These are said to include an apology for the incident, dismissal of the chief of staf of the 132d division stationed at Changpei, punishment of the director of the military law department of the division, and Chinese permission for every facility to Japanese traveling to inner Mongolia.

Lieut. Col. Y. Ishii, chief of staf of the Japanese garrison in Tientsin, declared reports of planned "drastic steps" in Chahar were false.

Col. Ishii added that tension has lessened in Hopei province, saying that large numbers of relieved troops from the Peiping and Tientsin garrisons will start home to Japan in the next few days.

Reveals Japan's Course.

In several other respects Col. Ishii's statement was revealing. "We have decided that China probably has not appealed and will not appeal to the signatories of the nine-power pact," he said. "Japanese troops are still kept at Shanhaikwan [at the junction of the great wall with the sea], but if all goes well they will sooner or later withdraw into Manchukuo. The demands pertaining to north China apparently are being met with reasonable speed and sincerity."

He asserted foreign powers are "needlessly alarmed" that Japan's demands are designed to give Japanese preferential political or trade status. He declared the text of the demands have not been made known because if they were, "China would lose face," but that Japan might issue a summary of them soon.

Col. Ishii declared Japan's demands would improve trade and prosperity in north China. He cited that the ousted governor Gen. Yu Hsueh-chung exacted 100,000,000 Chinese dollars [$41,000,000] in taxes, remitting one-third to the former Manchurian war lord Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang for his armies in the west, and using 80 per cent of the remainder for upkeep of useless military forces in Hopei province.

Sees Beneficial Results.

"When all our demands are met fully," Col. Ishii continued. "There will be only five divisions of Chinese troops remaining in Hopei, which are able to enforce law and order and suppress banditry, and these five divisions collectively will cost only 25,000,000 Chinese dollars [$10,250,000] annually for maintenance, leaving three times that much for construction of new highways and schools, land reclamation, flood control and kindred beneficial projects.

"Nanking and Gen. Chiang Kai-shek have always regarded Hopei, with its two immense cities, as a province to be drained and mulcted, but in the future the wealth of north China will stay in the north."

Col. Ishii declared good government would increase the buying power of Hopei's 35,000,000 people and said Japan naturally expected an immense increase in her north China trade in cotton goods, fancy articles and cheap novelty wares, but pointed out that the United States would have a share in Japan's increased trade because fully one-third of Japan's imported raw materials from the United States were manufactured in Japanese cities and then exported to China.

British trade, he conceded, might suffer, but smiled when he added that after all, Britain always has her colonies.

Two Cruisers Desert.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, China, June 18.—[Tuesday.]—Two Chinese cruisers which deserted the Canton navy rode at anchor in the Hongkong harbor this morning. The Haichi and Haisen made their escape under a bombardment from land batteries and from planes.

The cruisers steamed away from Whampoa Sunday, grazed a sandbar going out of the mouth of the Canton river, then dashed for Hongkong, which they reached yesterday.

Four seamen were taken from the ships to a Hongkong hospital, but said their injuries were from an explosion aboard ship. They declared no men were wounded in the attack and that the ships were not damaged.

It appeared that the ships were deserting Canton to join the Nanking government side. In 1933 the Haichi and Haisen had deserted Nanking to join Canton. Both are 37 years old, the Haichi displacing 4,300 ton and Haisen, 3,000.

Britain Sends Adviser.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 17.—Sir Samuel Hoare made his first appearance before the house of commons today as the new foreign secretary to answer questions about the present situation in China. He carefully sidestepped any reference to the military situation, saying the economic situation, while difficult, has been improving for some months past, although it is complicated by the rising price of silver.

Hoare declared his majesty's government is sympathetically following developments, and sent Sir Frederick W. Leith Ross, chief ecenomic adviser to the British government, to China to advise on the situation. The political situation, he said, is not unfavorable, and there are signs of progress toward order and stability.

In regard to the situation in north China his majesty's government is communicating with the Chinese and Japanese governments and these communications are continuing, the foreign secretary asserted.

HINTS MacDONALD WILL VISIT U. S. TO STRENGTHEN TIES

LONDON, June 17.—(AP)—The Herald's diplomatic correspondent said today that Ramsay MacDonald, former prime minister, may go to the United States as a special representative to discuss the possibility of Anglo-American coöperation in world affairs.

The Herald said that the idea was being "seriously considered" because Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, and Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for league of nations affairs, feel that closer relations between Great Britain and the United States are necessary. The Herald said that MacDonald might be "sort of an ambassador at large."

The correspondent said that MacDonald now has no such departmental ties which bind Baldwin, Hoare and Eden at the present critical time. When the former prime minister arrived at Lossiemouth the day after he resigned he said he was there to regain his strength "for further activities as great as ever."

CLARA PHILLIPS, "TIGER WOMAN," OUT OF PRISON

Hammer Murderess Free After Twelve Years.

Tehachapi, Cal., June 17.—[Special.]—Clara Phillips, 36, the "tiger woman" who killed her husband's alleged paramour with a hammer 15 years ago, was released from California's prison for women today. She had served a little more than 12 years.

"I can hardly believe it's true," she said as she stepped outside the prison gates. Her voice quivered and her hand shook, but her eyes were shining brightly.

Her husband, Armour Phillips, who said at the time of her conviction that he would be waiting for her when she was released, was not at the prison gates to meet her. He was last reported in the east.

Husband "Standing By."

Mrs. Phillips declined to talk about her husband except to say that he was "standing by." However, she said she was particularly grateful to Phillips' family at Galveston, Tex., for their attitude toward her since she has been in prison.

Tears glistened in the freed woman's eyes as she entered the automobile of her sister, Mrs. Etta Mae Jackson. They planned to drive to Los Angeles, but Mrs. Phillips said she planned to go east soon. A woman in a second car would not disclose her identity.

Three of the five pieces of baggage stowed away in the car were musical instruments—a banjo, saxophone, and violin. Mrs. Phillips had organized an orchestra in the woman's prison.

She said she had no plans for the present, but later may follow up the dentistry she studied in addition to her orchestra work while a prisoner.

"Not Bitter," She Says.

"I am not bitter," she said shortly before she was released. "All I want is that people will leave me alone and give me a break. There's more kindness in the world behind the bars than in the world outside."

The "hammer slayer" was released on parole from a sentence of ten years to life imposed on a conviction of second degree murder. Before commitment to the state prison she escaped from the Los Angeles county jail and was arrested months later in Honduras.

She was convicted of slaying Mrs. Alberta Meadows, a divorcée whom she suspected of intimacy with her husband. She lured the victim to a secluded road on July 12, 1922, and beat her to death with a hammer she had brought along.

TWO DIE AS TRAIN HITS CAR.

PEORIA GIRL SLAIN; BODY IN CEMETERY; RAPIST IS HUNTED

Peoria, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—City, county, and state authorities are scouring the Peoria area in search of a youth suspected of the slaying of pretty 19 year old Mildred Hallmark, whose ravaged body was found in a small creek in Springfield cemetery early today.

The victim was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McGarvey, long residents of Peoria. She recently was graduated from the Academy of Our Lady and had been employed at a restaurant.

After attending a downtown theater last night, in company with a boy friend, Miss Hallmark boarded a Heights car and alighted at Maywood avenue where she resided with her parents.

It is believed that she was seized as she walked from the street car and thrown into an automobile. Her body was found within four blocks of her home.

Death was due to a broken neck, Dr. E. C. Burnhans, the coroner's physician, decided.

John McGinnis, bus boy in the restaurant where Miss Hallmack worked and who said he accompanied her to a movie last night, was held for questioning. The police have asked Vincent Pilgrim to appear for questioning. A letter from him warning the girl of another boy whose name was withheld was found in the girl's clothing.

At Paxton, Ill., Pilgrim, who is on his way here to submit to questioning, said he would reveal the youth's name.

TWO ARE HELD FOR DEATH OF IMPORTER'S WIFE

Mrs. Lucille Fleigelman, 27 years old, and Lissell Leix, 31 years old, a shoe salesman, were held in bonds of $10,000 each in the Felony court yesterday on charges of manslaughter as a result of the death of Mrs. Margarette Ford McGivney, 28 years old, wife of Walter McGivney, 25 East Delaware place, a millinery importer. Mrs. McGivney, who died Friday morning after a drinking party, is believed to have been a victim of narcotic poisoning.

Judge Matthew D. Hartigan, after fixing the bonds, continued the hearing until June 25 at the request of the police who said they wished first to hear the result of the chemical analysis now being made of the dead woman's body. Mrs. Fleigelman, who admitted that she uses heroin, told the police that she believed Mrs. McGivney had taken some of the drug.

Leix said he had been Mrs. McGivney's companion on the drinking party but was unaware that she had taken any heroin. He and Mrs. Fleigelman were locked up in the county jail when they were unable to give bond.

CALIFORNIA HIGH COURT TO REVIEW MOONEY'S TRIAL

Hearing Date to Be Set at June 27 Session.

San Francisco, Cal., June 17.—[Special.]—A writ of habeas corpus was issued today for Thomas J. Mooney by the California Supreme court. It calls for the production of the convicted preparedness day bomber on June 27.

The action of the state's highest court finally brings the question of the legality of Mooney's eighteen year imprisonment before that body for review.

Refused Review in 1918.

Although the court in 1918 refused a plea for a writ of corsm nobis [a request for a review of a court's own decision], it was pointed out today by Chief Justice William H. Waste that this is the first time the court has had an opportunity to pass upon a habeas corpus action. The earlier refusal had been taken to mean that Mooney had no grounds for action in the state's courts to remedy his conviction on what has been repeatedly asserted to have been perjured testimony.

On the date set for the return of the writ, Attorney General U. S. Webb will file his answer and the court then will set a date for a hearing. Mooney's attorneys waived his appearance in court at the time of the return and the hearing.

Date Still Indefinite.

The date of the hearing, Justice Waste said, would depend upon the convenience of the attorneys and the justices. Mooney's eastern attorneys, Frank P. Walsh of New York and John F. Finerty of Washington, D. C., and his western counsel, George T. Davis of San Francisco, all have requested that they be informed of dates of important hearings so that they may be present. It is expected all will attend the session set at the June 27 return date.

GENEVA, June 17.—(AP)—The international labor conference today unanimously adopted an agreement prohibiting women from working underground in mines.

JANET GAYNOR HURT; BUMPS HEADS WITH FONDA, LEADING MAN

Hollywood, Cal., June 17.—[Special.]—A bump on the head, which was severe enough to give Janet Gaynor, movie star, a "slight concussion of the brain," laid her up under doctor's care today.

The accident, at first thought insignificant, occured while the actress and Henry Fonda, her leading man, were chasing a colt through an oat field near Santa Cruz, Cal., last Wednesday while on "location." She and Fonda collided head on.

After returning to Hollywood Friday she collapsed. X-rays today revealed she was suffering from a concussion, according to Dr. S. A. Alter.

Light an Old Gold .... for young ideas!
STIMULATING ... BUT NEVER IRRITATING

A BOY AND A GIRL ... and "two cigarettes in the dark." That combination often leads to romance ... so the song writers say.

It IS true that fine tobacco helps to promote amiable feelings. And in an Old Gold you get Nature's choicest tobacco in its most congenial form; exceptionally mild and smooth.

Such prime leaf is always a kindly influence. To the spirits, it may well act as a gentle "pick-me-up." And to the nerves and throat it is never a source of irritation.

SMOKERS! GET THIS!
We GUARANTEE that Old Golds contain the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos grown; the finest obtainable at any price. Only such fine old tobaccos can give that natural aroma and fragrance of Old Gold cigarettes.

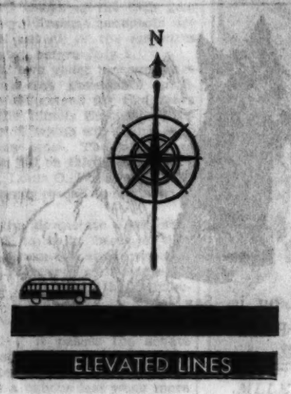
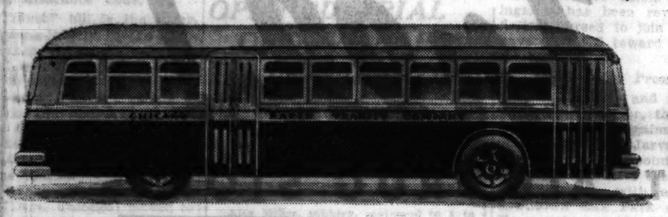
DO YOU WANT "L" SERVICE EXTENDED TO YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD

by means of "L" motor buses connecting with "L" trains—both operated by the Elevated Railroad and BOTH for your present "L" FARE?





The streamlined motor buses we propose to operate in order to extend "L" Service will be of the very latest safety type—quiet, roomy and comfortable, the finest all-new equipment that can be bought

DO YOU WANT Chicago's one and only Rapid Transit Service extended to your neighborhood by means of new, modern "L"-operated motor bus lines — and with both "L" train and "L" bus services for your present "L" fare?

DO YOU WANT a modern system of connecting "L" motor bus routes designed scientifically to EXTEND FAST ELEVATED LINES SERVICE?—a UNIFIED SYSTEM planned and routed with the one idea of supplying a combined "L" train and "L" bus service of the greatest convenience and time-saving to the rider? — a system that provides CO-ORDINATED SCHEDULES as well as CO-ORDINATED ROUTES under a single management?

DO YOU WANT a single-fare "L" train and bus system that will supply quiet, smooth-riding, modern motor bus extensions to Elevated Service, operating ALL NEW STREAMLINED BUSES of the very latest type?

DO YOU WANT fast, convenient, 24-hour-a-day, dependable Rapid Transit Service at a single fare for the thousands who now pay additional fares or walk great distances to use the "L"?

DO YOU WANT a system of motor bus extensions to "L" Service that not only will serve many more communities but will also supply an "OUTER BELT TRANSFER SYSTEM" connecting practically all Elevated branches with each other, affording SHORT CUTS across the city without necessity of traveling through the Loop?

DO YOU WANT Rapid Transit Service (for your present "L" fare) extended to more parks and beaches and many other sections of the city not now reached by the Elevated?

If your answer to these questions is "yes", sign the blank at the bottom of this page and MAIL IT AT ONCE, or leave it with the agent at any "L" station. This will not obligate you in any way but merely indicates that you want this new Elevated Service which we have volunteered to establish.

We Are Ready to Give This Service NOW!

The Chicago Rapid Transit Company has volunteered to extend its service immediately upon securing authority from the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The plan we propose does not in any way conflict with transfers between street cars and the Elevated Lines, or with any other traction plan now under consideration or in prospect. In fact it will be helpful to other traction plans if and when they are adopted.

The cost of providing buses for these extensions of "L" Service will be considerable and we want to know how much the public values their importance. FILL IN AND SEND US THE BLANK APPEARING BELOW. It will show that you want these new "L" extensions which are designed to make Elevated transportation of far greater value to every rider and to all Chicago.

Our proposal does not preclude improvement of any other existing transportation system . . . It does not depend upon what some other company may or may not do . . . On the contrary, it is a definite, clean-cut plan from which the city will benefit at once and which may readily be co-ordinated into any present or future plan for transportation betterment.

For this extension of Rapid Transit Service it is proposed to purchase the very latest type of motor buses similar to the bus illustrated on this page — new, comfortable, easy-running, quiet — the finest that can be bought. Service will be operated 24 hours a day over routes shown on the map. Schedules will be co-ordinated with those of Elevated trains.

Every transportation expert who has studied Chicago's problem has agreed that the Elevated Railroads are and always will be the "backbone" of the city's transportation service.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly has sponsored the slogan "KEEP CHICAGO AHEAD". If Chicago is to be kept ahead, adequate rapid transportation is absolutely imperative. The Chicago Rapid Transit Company is ready to do its part. Do you want us to extend Rapid Transit Service? If you do, fill in the blank and mail it today or leave it with any "L" agent.

CHICAGO RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY
(The Elevated Lines)

PROPOSED MOTOR BUS ROUTES

for extending Elevated Lines Service for which we have asked approval from the Illinois Commerce Commission and on which we are ready to start operation now . . .

Foster Ave.—Kimball Ave.—Homan Ave.—Wilson Beaches "L" Motor Bus

Would connect the North Side Division at both Wilson Ave. and Edgewater Beach (Berwyn Ave.) Stations with the Ravenswood Branch (Kimball and Lawrence Terminal), the Logan Square Branch (Logan Square Terminal), the Humboldt Park Branch (Ballou St. Station), the Lake Street Division (Garfield Park Station), the Garfield Park Branch (St. Louis Ave. Station) and the Douglas Park Branch (Homan Ave. Station), thence operating south to 31st St.

In addition there would be a connecting "L" motor bus line from Kimball and Foster Aves. west to Milwaukee Ave., and another between Wilson Ave. "L" Station and Wilson Beaches in Lincoln Park.

Palmer St.—Laramie Ave. "L" Motor Bus

Would connect the Logan Square Branch (California Ave. Station) with the Lake Street Division (Laramie Ave. Station), the Garfield Park Branch (both Laramie Ave. and Cicero Ave. Stations) and the Douglas Park Branch (48th Ave. Station in Cicero), thence operating south to 24th St.

Ashland Ave.—Loomis Blvd.—87th St. "L" Motor Bus

Would connect Douglas Park Branch (Wood St. Station) with Stock Yards Branch and Englewood Branch (Loomis St. Terminal), thence operating south to the intersection of Loomis Blvd. and 87th St.

Jackson Park—Beaches

Chicago Ave.—Michigan Ave.—Loop "L" Motor Bus

Would connect all "L" Lines with the Near North Side, operating between the Chicago Ave. "L" Station and the Randolph-Wabash "L" Station in the Loop. Route: Chicago Ave. "L" Station east to Michigan Ave., south on Michigan to Randolph St., west on Randolph to Wabash, north on Wabash to Wacker Drive, east on Wacker Drive to Michigan Ave., north on Michigan, and west on Chicago Ave.

Cermak Rd. (22nd St.) "L" Motor Bus

Would connect South Side Division (Cermak Road Station) with Douglas Park Branch (Wood St. Station).

Did you know that the Chicago Elevated Lines operate express trains that are even faster than the fastest runs in the New York subway? Did you know that "L" trains travel as much as eight miles without a single stop? There is only one form of rapid transportation in Chicago, and that is the "L". By means of the plan we propose, Rapid Transit Service will be immediately extended and made vastly more beneficial to the people of Chicago and suburbs.

If You Want This Improved Transportation Service

If you wish to do so, place check mark before the advantages to you of this service:

- Make my daily rides easier and faster.
- Eliminate paying two fares to use the "L".
- Assure my "getting there" on time.
- Allow me broader use of my weekly "L" pass.
- Give me more places to go for my "L" fare.
- Permit me to live where I wish and still have RAPID TRANSIT service.
- Reduce the distance I must walk to the "L".
- Furnish me through routes to the west and north suburbs.
- Improve my business by bringing new customers into my district.
- Provide "L" service, at no extra cost, to parks and beaches.
- Offer additional riding convenience and safety to members of my family.
- Supply "outer belt" service from one "L" branch to another.
- Provide Rapid Transit short-cuts across the city.

Cardenas Opens Rotary International Convention

MEXICO CITY, June 17.—(AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas opened the 26th convention of Rotary International today with a brief speech in which he asked the delegates to understand Mexico. Three thousand delegates from 27 nations heard the president discuss the economic and political conditions of the country.

Flanked by generals and prominent political figures, Cardenas entered the Palace of Fine Arts through lines of soldiers in dress uniform and with bayonets fixed. Ambassador Josephus Daniels occupied a box at the president's side.

Fresh from Political Victory.

Cardenas delivered his address only a few hours after he had scored a political triumph which left him in complete domination of Mexico.

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, "iron man" and political dictator, had bowed out of the government picture, leaving the president to continue his leftist program unhindered. Calles will depart tomorrow for the north, he said, leaving "all responsibility for public affairs to those who have it in their hands." He and Cardenas has conflicted over the latter's extremist economic program.

Several hours after his address the president formed a new cabinet to take the place of that he forced to resign last Friday after his political dispute with Calles reached its peak.

Cabinet Proves a Mystery.

The cabinet was a surprise group, containing only one appointee who ever before held a ministerial post. Political commentators said that the cabinet might be described as "decidedly rightist" in tendency, which added to the mystery of the situation. The only holdover was Gen. Francisco Mujica, who was shifted from the post of national economy to that of communications.

Fernando Gonzalez Roa, the new foreign minister, is a former ambassador to Washington and at present ambassador to Guatemala. The new agriculture secretary, Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, is an Agrarian leader of San Luis Potosi and is known for his moderation in anti-religious matters. He takes the place of Tomas Garrido A. Canabal, leader of the anti-Catholic campaign which kept the nation in turmoil recently for a period of three months.

President Cardenas, in his speech to the Rotarians, said he was "glad you are here" because Mexico has nothing to hide or "to make her ashamed in the face of other nations of the world."

Proud of Mexico's Laws.

Taking cognizance of criticism abroad of Mexico's social and economic program, the president said the country was proud of its laws, "which are looking for the salvation of the oppressed and the exploited," and is "proud of the educational system, which is designed for the benefits of most."

The new laws, he said, are designed to "impede conflicts between capital and labor."

Cardenas said that the principal aim of his government is to eliminate social inequality and especially to aid the Indian classes.

Mussolini Reduces Adults in Italy to Status of Children

Mr. Darrah, Rome correspondent of The Tribune for seven years, was expelled from Italy on June 13 because some of his dispatches were objectionable to the Fascist government.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 17.—Visitors to Italy are struck by the number of men and women in increasing numbers—they see in uniform. Those not mobilized for service in the army wear one or another of the various uniforms of the militia, syndicates, athletic associations, police or Black Shirt societies.

For years Premier Mussolini has proclaimed the individual is nothing, only a cog in the governmental machine. With his identity thus submerged in the state, like that of an ant in an insect community, the Italian adult has been reduced to the status of children. All personal responsibility has been removed. Restrictions, of which it is difficult to see the need, are applied to everyday life with apparently the sole reason of exercising parental discipline and authority.

Told Where to Walk.

On blazing summer days Italians must walk on one side of the street only. Police officers are stationed in every block to turn those who seek the shady side back to the properly ordained side of the street.

The result of this is the creation of a condition where the average man does not shift or think for himself, but relies on the state or on Fascism to do everything for him.

It is difficult to realize without visiting Italy how completely the Italians have been subjugated and how Mussolini and his organization dominate everyday life, work, recreation, opinion, amusement, and sport. From the time he is 6 years old until he is 60 and from the time he gets up in the morning until he goes to bed, in one form or another, an Italian has his life laid out for him by Fascist domination. For the moment this dictatorship is docilely accepted inside Italy.

Recently a decree was issued deciding how Italians must spend their week-ends. They may not work on Saturday afternoon or Sunday, but they are not free to spend their Saturdays as they please. They must report to their respective bodies to undergo "political, cultural, sporting, and especially military training."

Boys Don Black Shirts.

At the age of 6 years a black shirt is put on every boy in Italy. All must belong to the Balilla organization, in which they play at being soldiers and learn to use rifles and machine guns. Until he is 18 years old an Italian boy is subject to this kind of training, which is carried out in successive ranks of the "Fascist Advance guards," and the "Young Fascists."

After this Italian youths do their eighteen months of military service. Men from 21 years to 32 must regularly perform what is called their post-military service and from the age of 32 to 55 a man is still a soldier and subject to mobilization.

All sports in Italy are organized by the Fascist party and is considered one of the strongest grips which the party has on national life. Amateur athletes are completely at the beck and call of Achille Starace, the Fascist party secretary. They can do nothing without seeking party permission.

All school books in Italy have been redited and rewritten to make them instill the idea into young heads that the greatest event in the history of modern Italy, if not in the modern world, was the Black Shirt march on Rome. Every school teacher and university professor must possess Fascist views, and in the lower grades teachers must wear the Fascist militia uniform.

College Students Regimented.

All university students are herded and regimented and are not permitted to form any associations except those subscribed to by the Fascist party. Young men have no interest in politics. They accept their place in the machinery, content that some one else should bear the responsibilities.

No person could get a job or get on in life without being a member of the Fascist party. All social and civic activities are so manipulated as to make it easier to get by if a person possesses one of the various cards or tickets giving special privileges and reduced prices to those who adhere to Fascism.

Consequently there are thousands of members of the Fascist party who wear Mussolini's livery and badge but who have done so only for the advantages they can get or the evils they can avoid. Thus there is a great difference between the outward conformance of many Fascists and their actual views. Once in Milan a member of the Fascist party told me picturesquely: "My shirt is black, but my heart is still red."

Feuds Among Party Leaders.

Fierce feuds also are waged among party leaders who vie with each other in adulating Mussolini for the privileges and position it brings them. The dictator always surrounds himself with "yes men" who carry out his purposes blindly.

These men, out of self-interest, generally become so supine and flattering that they end up by distorting his sense of reality and put the dictator's view in the wrong perspective. That is what has happened in Italy to Mussolini, according to talk among Italians. Italians say that Il Duce, because of his entourage, now has come to believe in his own bluff.

Italians say that Mussolini has especially been making errors in judging situations, since the death in 1931 of his brother, Arnaldo, who would give him an accurate and disinterested view of things which had been misrepresented to the dictator by others through fear. Now he relies on no one.

Ambassador Is in Bad.

The most recent disaffection from Mussolini's policies concerns Dina Grandi, his ambassador to London and former foreign minister. Grandi recently went back to Italy ostensibly suffering from throat trouble. He has not yet been called to Rome to see Mussolini, and is living in his home town of Bologna. It is an open secret that Grandi disagrees with Mussolini's policy in Ethiopia and does not want to go back to London if Italian and British interests clash.

That is the real explanation of why Mussolini is now considering sending his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano di Cortellazzo, undersecretary of press and propaganda, to London.

WAR SCARE STIRS AFRICA; ACT TO GUARD NEUTRALS

U. S. Legation May Leave Ethiopian Capital.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 17.—Preparatory steps already are being taken to safeguard the lives of neutral noncombatants in the event of war between Italy and Ethiopia. According to the diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph the American legation at Addis Ababa is likely to be withdrawn in the near future as a precautionary measure for the safety of its personnel. The legation, it was pointed out, has little important work to perform in the Ethiopian capital at the present time.

There also are scattered about the country large numbers of missionaries and their families. Probably these will be advised to make their way back to the capital, where it is believed foreigners will enjoy the fullest protection that Emperor Haile Selassie is able to extend them.

Evacuation Presents Difficulties.

The emergency evacuation of foreigners presents a difficult problem. Lines of communication as understood in America and Europe are nonexistent in Ethiopia, with the single exception of the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway. Should this be interrupted the difficulty of evacuating foreigners from the Ethiopian capital would be very great.

The high altitudes to be traversed and the poor landing grounds make it difficult to carry out such an operation hurriedly with airplanes. Various foreign authorities in the Ethiopian capital are expected to give the subject the most careful consideration in the immediate future.

Hope War May Be Averted.

In the meanwhile hope is entertained that hostilities will be averted by a full diplomatic settlement. So far, however, London has not been informed of the nature of the conversations believed to be going on between the French and Italian governments concerning the dispute.

City Clerk Brady Saves Fowl, but Is Hurt in Crash

Peter J. Brady, city clerk of Chicago, was slightly injured last night in an automobile accident on the Northwest highway, three miles southeast of Crystal Lake. Mr. Brady, his wife, and two sons were on their way to Chicago when Mr. Brady, who was driving, slowed down his car to allow a flock of guinea fowl to cross the road. As he brought the car to a stop another machine crashed into the rear of the Brady car.

Iraq Decrees Compulsory Military Service at Once

BAGDAD, Iraq, June 17.—(AP)—Compulsory military service was ordered immediately today by a royal decree. The measure puts into operation provisions of a national defense law passed by parliament last year. Enforcement of the act is considered opportune in view of government victory of rebellious southern tribes.

FIRST OF GERMAN CONSCRIPTS TAKE MEDICAL TESTS

Classes of 1914-'15 Show Eagerness.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 17.—For the first time since the days when Kaiser Wilhelm II. directed the recruiting of German soldiers, two annual classes of young men today started reporting for medical examinations to prepare for conscription in the national labor service and the military service.

Their eyes glowing with pride, young men born in the world war years, 1914 and 1915, presented themselves at army medical offices throughout Germany. Most boys carried a flock of documents, "racial certificates" and others, to try to speed up their call to the colors and show they are as eager soldiers as were their fathers.

Starved by War.

The 1914 and 1915 classes belong to the generation which suffered most from the lack of food in the blockade days. They lived through two post-war revolutions. They were sickly children, but the systematic training and care given them by the government after the war helped many to eliminate the traces of weakness they showed in childhood.

In the Berlin medical and recruiting offices the youths were in high spirits and other cities reported the same eagerness. The elderly, chubby policemen who controled the papers of the future soldiers in one of the "medical centers" visited tried hard to keep decorum without dampening the men's enthusiasm. This particular center was in a remodeled saloon with an adjoining tawdry ballroom. Beer barrels served as tables and the traditional Berlin saloon's zinc bar served as a laboratory.

The boys stood around in shorts with numbers suspended from strings around their necks. They seemed to relish the idea of having doctors and officers take their fate in hand for at least the next two years—one year of labor service and another of real military service—provided they are found fit.

Save Racial Data.

How seriously the army takes the Nazi racial theories was evident in the fact that all conscripts had to prove they have had no Jewish grandparents and no dangerous illnesses in the family. This data will be retained to simplify future biological family surveys. In addition the men presented birth, school, and professional training certificates and membership cards in the Nazi party or its affiliates.

The examination concluded, each conscript was given one more document bearing his photograph, the "certificate of military examination." His physical rating was inscribed on it and the branch of the service for which he is fitted. Before picking the branch of the service, officers inquired about the conscripts' personal wishes. The German army holds that personal interests are of vital importance in training modern soldiers.

NAZIS WIN 100-35 NAVY RATIO WITH GREAT BRITAIN

See Move to Make British Fleet World's Gauge.

LONDON, June 17.—(AP)—A move to make the British navy the permanent "measuring rod" for all the principal navies of the world was seen in diplomatic quarters today as a result of the disclosure Germany has agreed to permit the regulation of the size of her navy by Great Britain.

From reliable sources it was learned that Britain alone will set the pace for Anglo-German naval construction on a 100-35 ratio agreement.

Details of the agreement were not divulged by the Anglo-German naval delegates who met at the admiralty during the forenoon to continue drafting a pact but members of the delegations confirmed reports of a prearranged agreement under which the German navy will be maintained at a ratio of 35 per cent of the British tonnage.

Germany to Hurry Building.

BERLIN, June 17.—(AP)—Germany, officials said tonight, will proceed as fast as possible to build up a navy 35 per cent as large as Great Britain's.

General jubilation was felt in official circles over the London understanding, which was regarded as a clever piece of diplomacy, capable of pulling Germany from the isolation into which the Russo-French mutual assistance pact drove her.

The understanding, inasmuch as it is not a regular treaty but a pledge given by Germany to Great Britain, will not be submitted to other powers for approval.

The keenest pleasure was expressed over England's attitude at the foreign office. It had been feared the British would try to tie up land disarmament and Germany's return to the League of Nations.

French Refuse Agreement.

PARIS, June 17.—(AP)—France has informed Great Britain she cannot agree to the proposed German naval rearmament program, it was learned from an authoritative source here.

The French attitude was conveyed in a note handed to R. R. Campbell, British charge d'affaires, by Premier Pierre Laval.

By refusing to agree to the German naval plan, officials pointed out, France keeps herself free to consider it as a part of the entire German rearmament problem.

It was understood that the note mentioned France's intention to shake off the naval limitations of the Washington treaty and to build ships as she sees fit.

Up to Conference.

ROME, June 17.—(AP)—Italy regards Germany's naval rearmament as a subject to be discussed at a conference of signatories of the Washington naval treaty, she informed England today.

EDUCATOR FIRED BY HITLER WINS APPEAL IN COURT

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, June 17.—Minister of Education Bernhard Rust today faced the problem of whether or not to reinstate Karl Barth, noted Swiss theologian and a leader of the Protestant church opposition against Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller. Barth was ousted from Bonn university last December by a verdict of the Cologne disciplinary court, but whose appeal has just been sustained by the Prussian administrative Court of Appeals.

The higher court held that the charges against the professor did not warant his dismissal and merely decided on a small fine on a minor point.

The proceedings against Barth had been started by Rust himself. The lower court imposed the highest penalty within its jurisdiction. The defendant originally was accused of refusing to take an unconditional oath of fealty to Adolf Hitler irrespective of his duty of obedience to God. The lower court's verdict was based also on two other charges—that Barth had been lukewarm in giving the Hitler salute in his class room and that in conversation he had admitted the possibility of differences of opinion among Christians on such matters as the concentration camps and the causes of the Reichstag fire.

BRITISH TROOPS REPEL WARSHIPS IN SHAM BATTLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 17.—Warships, airplanes, and more than 500 territorials—the British equivalent of the American national guard—participated in a sham battle off the mouth of the river Tyne today to test the defenses of Great Britain's most important northern waterway.

The submarines and destroyers attacked the river during the daylight and attempted a mimic bombardment of the dockyards and factories. They were beaten off by the defending forces. Later the destroyers under the cover of a heavy smoke screen attempted to reach the river's mouth, but again were unsuccessful.

2 RELIEF BILLS ON GOVERNOR'S 'MUST' PROGRAM

Stiff Battle Expected on Measures.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—Emulating the national congress, the dying Illinois legislature also appears to have a "must" program before it which the Horner administration wishes to see enacted during the final two weeks of the 59th general assembly. Present prospects are that most if not all of the measures will be adopted before July 1.

Passage of two relief measures are uppermost in the governor's mind. The first would extend for two years the life of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which will expire Aug. 1 by statutory lapse. The senate has the extension bill on third reading and the sponsor, Louis O. Williams [Dem., Clinton], intends to call it for passage tomorrow.

Some of the downstate Democrats are expected to balk, because they favor the Hickman bill, already passed, which would return a measure of home rule to counties in the distribution of relief funds.

Faces New Fight in House.

When and if it passes the senate the bill will still face the house, where numerous Republicans are "laying" for it, but at a caucus last week more than 70 Democrats agreed that extension in its present form would be a proper answer to the relief question so, having made it a party issue, most of the Democrats are expected to stand as a unit.

The second relief measure is a companion to the Hopkins 3 per cent sales tax bill, which occupied almost the entire time of the legislature for more than a month before it was passed. Bill No. 2 would place public utility services under the increased tax but sales of industrial gas and electricity have been exempted, against Gov. Horner's wishes.

Press Insurance Code.

Another "must" bill is the insurance code, drawn, largely, by the director of insurance, Ernest Palmer, and which would revise the entire insurance law of the state.

Another code making extensive changes in the criminal laws of Illinois is on second reading in the house. Backed by the Illinois State Bar association, this big measure stayed in the judiciary committee so long that finally Majority Leader Adamowski [Dem., Chicago] moved to take it from committee and place it on the house calendar. This was done last week after a brisk fight.

Mayor Kelly's bill to legalize licensing of handbooks in Chicago will be a major matter in the senate. It created quite a stir in the house but passed last Thursday with a comfortable majority. Eventual victory is being predicted for it in the senate.

Home Rule on Gas Tax.

The house met tonight and passed several bills, including one backed by the Illinois Municipal league, which would permit cities to exercise complete home rule in deciding how their 1 cent share of the 3 cent gasoline tax should be spent in highway construction.

By its provisions, the state highway department would have no power to approve or veto expenditures of the cities' shares.

A bill continuing the NRA divisions of the coal fields of the state into four districts was blocked when called for passage. Paul Powell [Dem., Vienna], introduced the measure but when he asked approval for it tonight, he failed to receive a constitutional majority and consideration was postponed.

Arriving home from Freeport, where he settled the Stover Manufacturing company strike yesterday, Gov. Horner entertained African Explorer Martin Johnson and his wife, Osa, today at the executive mansion. The Johnsons were flying from St. Louis to Chicago in one of the amphibian planes they use in their motion picture adventures and were forced down by a blinding rain at Springfield airport this morning. The governor heard of their delay and invited them for luncheon.

VILLACOUBLAY, France, June 17.—(AP)—Mlle. Maryse Hilsz, champion French woman flyer, claimed a new woman's altitude record today after piloting her plane to an altitude of 11,800 meters [38,714 feet]. She was equipped with a device permitting her to breathe warm oxygen through a mask. The reported altitude betters the previous women's record set by Mlle. Hilsz Aug. 19, 1932, when she took her plane up to 32,122.6 feet.

STATE TO PRESS CHARGE AGAINST UNION SLUGGERS

Case Will Be Heard Today in Oak Park Court.

The state is preparing to press criminal charges against six union officials charged with the slugging of two Oak Park florists last Wednesday if evidence at their hearing today warants such action, according to reports yesterday.

State's Attorney Courtney will be represented by one of his ablest prosecutors, Charles Dougherty, when the union officials are arraigned before Justice of the Peace Michael Carmody in Oak Park.

Dougherty declared that grand jury action against the defendants will be sought if a strong enough case is presented at today's hearings. The reason, it was indicated, is that if the case remains in the Oak Park court the maximum penalty for the defendants would be fines or jail sentences, whereas if they are indicted and convicted on a felony charge they could be punished with prison terms.

Business to Be Represented.

Thomas Hungerford, president of the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce, announced that his organization "will be well represented at the hearing." It was at Hungerford's request that James A. Howe, village president of Oak Park, demanded that Attorney General Otto Kerner make an investigation of "police protection of union violence." It was not learned whether Mr. Kerner would be represented at today's hearing.

In view of the attitude of the state's attorney's office toward the hearing, much importance is attached to the question of whether the slugging victims will identify their assailants in court.

The victims are Peter Jarvaras and Gus Poulos, who conduct a small cash and carry floral business in Jarvaras' front yard at 1145 North Harlem avenue, Oak Park. They allege they were beaten for their refusal to join the Florist Drivers' union. Since the beatings, it has been revealed, the two florists agreed to join the union and have paid $25 toward the $100 membership fee.

Promise to Press Charge.

Both Jarvaras and Poulos insisted yesterday, however, that they intend to press charges against the six union officials arrested. Jarvaras soon after he was beaten, pointed out Larry Monahan as one of the four men who attacked him with a blackjack in downtown Oak Park on Wednesday. He says he can identify a second man who kicked him.

"We decided to join the union," Jarvaras said, "merely in order that we might be able to purchase flowers from unionized wholesalers. Our joining will make no difference in the prosecution of the case."

Monahan is a business agent of the Excavating, Grading, and Asphalt Teamsters' union. The other defendants are: Edward J. Rogers, secretary, and Fred Bohlman, business agent of the same union; E. J. Price, secretary of the Florist Drivers' union; E. H. Gale, business agent of the Liveried Chauffeurs' union, and William Libby, business agent of the Garage Helpers' union. Price is charged with disorderly conduct and the others with assault.

Chicago Police Deny Interfering.

Sergt. Andrew Carroll of the Chicago police and members of his squad from the labor detail which operates under orders of Capt. Daniel Gilbert, head of the uniformed division of the Chicago department, persisted yesterday in denying that they interceded with the Oak Park police in behalf of the union officials at the time of the arrests.

A spokesman for the Chicago policemen said Carroll and his squad had been detailed to guard Bohlman and Monahan after rumors were circulated that the two were to be kidnaped and held for $30,000 ransom. The policemen had previously said that they left their own jurisdiction and went to Oak Park on a report that "Bohlman and Monahan are in trouble."

OPEN 2D TRIAL OF DAVE BARRY IN BANK PLOT

CRIMINAL COURT.

George Le Febre, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Lorenzo Hayes, William Richardson, and Luther Lewis, larceny, sentenced 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary, by Judge Denis E. Sullivan.

Alex Miller, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Robert McCarthy, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary, by Judge William V. Brothers.

The second trial of Dave [Long Count] Barry, fight referee, and Abraham Karatz, former St. Paul attorney, for an alleged plot to embezzle $55,000 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, 111 West Jackson boulevard, opened yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Michael Feinberg. The first trial was halted last February when Barry's attorney, W. W. Smith, became ill.

Assistant State's Attorneys Thomas Dodd Healy and Vernon Thompson and the new defense lawyer, Roland Libonati, selected a jury in a short time and after opening statements Otto Van Derck, 23 years old, former teller in the bank, was called as the first witness. The alleged plot was uncovered when Van Derck confessed his part in it. He declared, however, that he never received any of the money and was a dupe of the others. He has been granted a separate trial.

Joseph Balata, ex-convict said to have been the leader of the plot, pleaded guilty to the charge on the eve of the first trial and was sent to Joliet prison for one to ten years. He has been returned from the penitentiary to be a state's witness in the present trial.

SHERIF'S PICNIC PLANS FAIL TO THRILL HIS AIDS

It Seems They Must Sell the Tickets.

Many county employes considered themselves in a difficult position yesterday after their receipt of wholesale lots of tickets which they have been ordered to sell for the annual picnic outing of the sheriff's office on July 20. The tickets are priced at 40 cents each.

Although it was officially stated that all those unsold may be returned, the employes believed it would be politically wise for them to turn in the full amount of money called for by their allotments even if they are unable to sell all the tickets.

Blocks of tickets were sent from the sheriff's office to the county highway police stations. Scrubwomen, elevator operators and similar employes in county buildings, who are under the sheriff's jurisdiction, each received $10 worth of tickets.

Some Complaints Develop.

Several persons complained during the day that county elevator operators had "suggested" to them that they ought to purchase a "ticket or two." Scrubwomen shrugged their shoulders sadly and said they guessed "they'd have to pay the $10 themselves" for the 25 tickets they received.

Sheriff Toman, who has been ill for the last week at St. Anthony's hospital, expressed surprise when he was informed the tickets bore his name. From his hospital room he said that the proceeds of the picnic are for the benefit of his employes' welfare fund and that he had not authorized the use of his name.

On each ticket is printed the information that the picnic is the "John Toman annual outing, under the auspices of the Toman Booster club of Cook county" at Kolze's Electric park, 6353 Irving Park boulevard.

Sheriff Is Again Surprised.

Sheriff Toman was surprised again when he was told that nowhere on the tickets does it say that the employes' welfare fund will benefit from the proceeds.

"I had nothing to do with the tickets," Toman declared. "I am going to look into this as soon as I get out of the hospital." He expects to be back at his office within a few days.

The highway police stations at Homewood and Willow Springs each received $3,000 worth of tickets and the Morton Grove station received $2,500 worth. It was rumored that the "lid" might be taken off gambling in the county towns to enable the police to sell the tickets at roadhouses, but this was denied by the sheriff's office.

Lieut. Fred Mulhausen of the Willow Springs station said that he would not allow any of his men to use materials to purchase tickets as a compromise for traffic violation fines.

No Chance for Temptation.

"I'm not giving the tickets to my men," Mulhausen declared, "although I'm not afraid they would be subject to temptation with motorists. I'm going to try to distribute all the tickets myself in taverns and drug stores."

Who sent out the tickets from the sheriff's office and to whom the money will be turned in could not be learned. William Milota, assistant sheriff in charge of the office in Toman's absence, said the picnic was "just the usual annual affair and there will be no compulsion to buy tickets."

But employes who received allotments were not so casual. It seemed to be understood among them that the money must be turned in.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

MR. GREEN'S AMENDMENT.

The president of the American Federation of Labor following the Supreme court's decision on NRA announced the determination of "organized labor" to fight for an amendment of the constitution prohibiting the Supreme court from holding any act of congress invalid as contrary to the constitution. Mr. Green's disappointment at the failure of his organization to achieve under the New Deal a dictatorship over the industrial life of the nation has carried him rather farther than a little sane reflection, if he is willing to indulge in it, will justify. Nor will a large number, we are confident, even of organized wage earners approve it when they have considered the consequences of his proposal.

Mr. Green's proposal is for the destruction of the American form of government. It would place at the mercy of any temporary majority in congress, or of a two-thirds vote if the President used his veto, every civil guaranty in the bill of rights. Mr. Green assumes to speak for organized labor, if not for labor in general. We doubt that any wage earner who looks beyond the moment would care for that.

Mr. Green officially represents an organization of about two and a half millions. There are over fifty million American citizens gainfully employed. Mr. Green, even if he has a shortsighted and mistaken approval of the whole membership of the A. F. of L., which we doubt, officially represents only five per cent of these fifty million workers. But every worker and every man, woman and child of the 130 million people of the United States would have, under Mr. Green's scheme, his liberties put at the hazard of any passing passion or impulse which might dominate congress for the moment. The American constitution was framed to protect democracy from this, its most fatal foe. It was framed to provide time for sober second thought upon the enduring principles which support the rights of the individual in a free country. No man or woman of the nation is more concerned to defend this system than the wage earner.

The Supreme court is made up of human beings who are fallible and sometimes have rendered decisions which time has shown to be erroneous. All human beings are fallible, including Mr. Green, and all institutions which fallible mankind administers are fallible. The question that sensible and honest men will consider is whether the institution itself is useful to them, and every American who understands and values his heritage of freedom, when he consults, not an impatient advocacy of some scheme for reform, but the service of the supreme court to justice, to liberty and to the order without which liberty dies, will repudiate and help to defeat the foolish demand for its destruction.

The authority of the court to hold invalid laws contrary to the constitution is inherent in the court, as Chief Justice Marshall declared with a logic which cannot be avoided and which has been indorsed by the American people for a century and a half. To withdraw it is to destroy the foundation of our liberties and bring down the whole fabric of our American government. In that ruin the wage workers of the nation would suffer with all their fellow citizens. Mr. Green and his federation fought the prohibition tyranny demanding the repeal of the 18th amendment. He now proposes another amendment which would destroy the chief constitutional barrier against tyranny.

THE PAROLE SYSTEM IN ACTION.

It will astonish nobody who follows the reports of crime in the daily press to find that the kidnaping of the Weyerhaeuser child was planned and carried out by criminals who have been beneficiaries of our parole administration. Most of the serious crime in this country is committed by men and women or boys and girls who are either parolees or have had penalties for previous crime reduced by parole. The situation has roused a just and growing indignation, though not yet as much as it deserves. Defenders of the parole system do not satisfy it. They do not face the facts which create it. They point to the benefits produced by parole and shirk the evils. No one wants to give up the benefits, but, unless the evils are corrected, benefits will be sacrificed to the major interest of the public in protection from serious crime which the abuses of parole are breaking through.

THE TRIBUNE'S platform for Illinois contains the plank: End the Parole Business. It expresses our recognition that the parole system is exploited as a business, by professional reformers, by politicians, and by lawyers who are paid for getting criminals out of jail. This business must be ended. If it cannot be ended the parole system will be ended and other and better means will be found for accomplishing the ends which the parole system was established to serve.

The maladministration of the system through the influence of misguided humanitarianism, unscrupulous lawyers and racketeers, and corrupt politicians is a scandal and a menace. It is a prized instrument of the alliance of crime and corrupt politics, covered by false sentiment and reckless scientific experimentation at the expense of public safety. Its conceptions or theories of criminal responsibility, its coddling of incorrigible and dangerous youth, its abuse by corrupt politicians and their clients and allies and by the shyster and racketeer are one of the flagrant factors of the problem of crime in America. It must have comprehensive reconsideration and drastic correction if the parole system is to be retained at all.

A NEW MEANING IN THE PACIFIC ISLANDS.

A military man once advised his country never to ignore an island if one were loose to be picked up. Wherever it was, if no one else had it, it should be gathered in, even if it did not seem to be worth taking. No one could tell what its value subsequently would prove to be because no one could anticipate what the future needs would be. Communications have their own ways of altering or discovering uses and values. What is negligible at one time may be invaluable at another.

Events have often proved the wisdom of this suggestion and now it is America's turn to appreciate it. American air lines intrepidly are undertaking conquest of the Pacific. Although New England merchant vessels by the end of colonial days were exploring and soon enjoying the far eastern trade, the United States has picked up only a few crums in the Pacific aside from Hawaii and the Philippines. The great majority of the island possessions fell into other hands—British, French, Dutch, German, and Japanese. When Spain lost her islands the United States did not inherit, except in a few cases outside the Philippines. Germany got them. When Germany lost them the United States was not in the redistribution. Australia, New Zealand, and Japan divided the spoil. The United States made its most heroic effort to obtain a communications base on the island of Yap. That was Woodrow Wilson's great conference struggle for something for the United States.

The crums which fell off the table at various times at America's feet are now possessions which make possible the attempt to bridge the Pacific with flying ships. These little negligible islands are suddenly coming to life. Midway Islands, 4,000 miles out in the ocean; Wake Island, and Guam have been bustling with activities preparing them to receive and repair the great planes which American companies can successfully fly from American shores into the far east.

If these insular crums, only a few from the lavish board, had not somehow fallen at the feet of careless Uncle Sam the air routes across the Pacific might not be open to the United States. Other nations, possessing all the stepping stones, could control them and the adventure might be a closed one for Americans. Now the most impressive sight in the Pacific is that of the air clippers alighting on American waters at small far-away islands, happily in the control of the United States. It is an adventure of great importance and unseen consequences. But judgment upholds it in spite of the flurry it is bound to cause where American enterprise is distrusted.

AGE OF COMBAT OFFICERS.

The average age of captains in the regular army is 43 years 1 month. The average age of majors is 46 years 4 months.

Captains and majors are combat officers. Their duty is with the marching and fighting troops. They are exposed to all the physical conditions which the private must meet, with the added responsibilities of command. It is a young man's job requiring great physical resistance and strong nerves.

This suggests that minimum and maximum ages of entrance to the military academy might well be lowered. They are now 17 and 22, respectively, except that the minimum for entrants from the regular army or guard is 19. It is true that any profitable lowering, say to 16 or even 15, would not take up the slack. Other conditions retard promotion. The average age of combat officers will still remain too high, but everything practicable should be done to bring it down. The education given at West Point is basic and rudimentary. It is not beyond the mental or physical capacity of well selected youth.

A reduction in both minimum and maximum entrance ages, we think, is worthy of consideration.

Editorial of the Day

HINTS TO ROOSEVELT.

[Grand Rapids Press.]

Adoption of eighteen indictments against the Roosevelt administration by the conference of middle western Republicans may possibly furnish a "tipoff" to the President. In our political history the opposition occasionally has overthrown the party in power by merely capitalizing on its mistakes. Undoubtedly such strategy will figure prominently in the Republican campaign of 1936, yet President Roosevelt can steal a considerable part of this thunder before it roars next summer.

About half of the indictments he can deny or show ample reason for the course he has pursued, but several of them seem destined to cost him votes unless he recognizes and acts upon them. There is, for instance, the Democratic party's pledge to cut government expenses 25 per cent, despite which Mr. Roosevelt has increased enormously the number of civil employes. The Republicans also took him to task for piling up a treasury deficit, for putting the government into competition with private business, for the crop reduction program that has raised food prices and encouraged agricultural imports, for spending millions at the same time to bring new areas into cultivation, and for wanting to make over the federal reserve system into a politically controled central banking setup.

These are policies on which the Republicans will capitalize in 1936, and they will have a ready popular appeal. Therefore they deserve the careful consideration of the Democrats and especially of President Roosevelt. There is still time for him to blunt the sharpness of these accusations by doing what they imply should be done. By such moves not only would he force the Republicans to formulate an entire alternative to his administration's program but also he would strengthen himself with the large conservative element in his own party. And he would vastly speed recovery of the nation—best vote argument of all.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THERE IT STOOD unblushing! There were dozens and dozens of cars standing in rows across the parking field, and every one bearing an Illinois license tag. Yet pushed right in among them was a shameless, brazen automobile carrying an Indiana license plate. I went right in to complain to the management.

"How come," I said, and I was quite angry, "how come you let that lowdown Indiana car horn in here at Turkey Run?" "Well," said Mr. Guthrie meekly, "Turkey Run, you know, is an Indiana state park." It was quite a blow. Yes, it was true; I had to admit it. "But," I insisted, "we have no such lovely parks over in Illinois and we of that great and noble commonwealth have adopted the state parks of Indiana, and especially Turkey Run. We have three or four state parks, to be sure—Starved Rock, White Pine Forest, and Apple River Canyon—but they haven't been developed as the Indiana parks have, and they have no state owned hotels, cottages, and commissary stores such as the parks down here in Hoosierdom have. Hotels and cottages are a great help to park visitors, for people do hate to climb up the trees and sleep. It's all very well for squirrels and birds and things like that, but with people it is different. Your own figures show that over seventy-five per cent of the visitors to Turkey Run are from Illinois, and you can see for yourself that that gives Illinois the control over this park, and I insist on that Indiana car being fired out bodily." I didn't get any satisfaction on the subject, but I still insist it was an outrage. I kept on objecting until a man who I keenly suspect was from Indiana suggested that perhaps it might be well for the proud old state of Illinois to develop her own parks and then it would be more convenient for Illinois folks to visit them instead of cadging off the state of Indiana. It might be a good idea at that. But Illinois will never do it. What, build state parks with state owned hotels and cottages when Indiana has a dozen beautiful parks all ready to give any visitor, no matter what state he comes from, the cheeriest kind of welcome! We may be called "suckers," we who are citizens of the great state of Illinois, but we are not such suckers as that. Anyhow, if I catch any more Indiana cars sneaking around Turkey Run or any other of the state parks of Indiana I am going to report the matter to Governor Horner and ask him to send in the Illinois National Guard. By ginger! We've got to stand up for our rights!

SHE USED TO WEEP.

She used to weep to think she had no honored spot
To hold the flowers she grew in thought of him;
She longed for some secluded grass grown plot
That she could weed and cut and keep in trim.

Where crosses grew like pale unearthly flowers,

That he had lived and laughed and dreamed and died.
She wept—and then, remembering his pity for the old, the sick, the poor,
She gave his flowers and knew him by her side,
More surely hers than he had been before.

"KING GEORGE Attended Trooping of the Colors on His Birthday."—News Story. I'm glad I'm a patient soul, for year after year I have to stand up and protest hysterically against the American newspapers making the king attend "the trooping of the colors." He doesn't do anything of the kind. What he attends is "the trooping of the colour," as the British quaintly spell it. Harken to a quotation from a handbook on London: "The gravelled space between the park (St. James's Park) and the Horse Guards is the Horse Guards Parade, where the pretty military ceremony of 'Trooping the Colour' is performed on the King's birthday." (Note to composing room. Keep this paragraph on the standing galley so that I can use it again next year.)

THE PRESIDENT'S favorite sandwich, according to Mrs. Roosevelt, is hot dogs and toasted cheese. You can tell the election campaign is pretty close. Franklin Delano is going to get right down close to the heart of the great common pee-pul when it is known that he is fond of hot dogs. And if everybody that eats hot dogs votes for him his election is going to be practically unanimous.

"CHEMIST SAYS WOMEN Denser in Head Than Men."—Headline. I've often wondered about that. When a lady in her auto passes my car at seventy or eighty miles an hour and just misses denting my fenders I think women are much denser in the head than men. But when a man driver swoops alongside in a mad effort to pass me and gives my fenders some brutal bumps, then I decide that men are denser in the head than women. But some folks might insist that women are the densest in the head because they powder their noses and look up in the mirror over the windshield while they're doing it. Certainly a sign of thickness in the cranium. However, a man will drive merrily along in traffic giving loud cheers as he listens to his auto radio broadcasting a ball game, indicating a hardness of the medulla oblongata almost equal to that of ivory. Chemist or no chemist, the thing seems to be about 50-50.

WHO WOULD!

I cannot sing the new songs
Of cryptic form and phrase;
For current verses are not like
The songs of gentler days—
Their meaning oft is doubtful,
Their rhythm none too good.
I WOULDN'T IF I COULD!

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

SYPHILIS—ITS NATURE AND TREATMENT.

SOME day the public will become conscious of the "menace of syphilis"—the disease viper that mankind has held in its bosom since Columbus' sailors returned from the shores of America.

The disease is caused by a microscopic spiral-like worm (Treponema pallidum) and is contagious. If untreated, or poorly treated, the infection becomes chronic, sapping health and destroying life. It is more contagious in the early periods and discharges from the initial sore contain the organisms in great numbers.

In order that we may understand the progress of the disease the symptoms have been divided into three periods or stages, called first, second, and third. The primary sore of syphilis arises from the deposit of infected material on some portion of the body where the organisms can gain entrance through a tiny break in the skin or mucous membrane. Following the infection, a few days to a few months may elapse before the first sore appears. The average period of development is 26 days. At first the sore may be but pin point in size; later it enlarges and is noticeably slow in healing.

Approximately six weeks later the majority of patients will suffer the secondary manifestations, consisting of eruptions on the skin and mucous membranes. The lymph glands often swell and there may be involvement of the principal organs such as the heart, the lungs, the spleen, and the liver. During this period many patients are really not sick and those who are symptom free are inclined to make light of the condition. Certain individuals will present signs such as fever, headache that is severe at night, neuralgia-like pains, and some loss of weight. It is after the second stage has subsided that the patient all too often forgets the infection and considers himself well.

Recent data compiled by L. J. Usilton, associate statistician of the United States Public Health service, indicates that 71 per cent of a large group of patients sought treatment after the disease had progressed to the late stage.

The third stage develops slowly and insidiously and may not appear for two years, sometimes not for more than twenty years. These third stage manifestations may involve the skin, the bones, the large blood vessels, the nervous system, and, in fact, all parts of the body.

The infected person with a diagnosis of syphilis naturally asks, "What must I do and what are my chances?" Fortunately, during the last twenty years new and powerful remedies (arsphenamine, neosalvarsan, etc.) have been found that spell death for the organism causing this disease. The individual may be told that if vigorous, active, and regular treatment is undertaken, 80 per cent of the acute cases will be discharged as cured within two years; the majority of the remainder will conquer the infection—again, with persistent treatment—within the next few years; while a few (less than 4 per cent) will require treatment for from ten to fifteen years.

Relapses can and do occur in many diseases, and syphilis is no exception. Immediate and continued treatment of the early infection is imperative. If the case has been neglected until the secondary symptoms have appeared the body has accustomed itself to the presence of the parasite, but at a frightful cost. If we would avoid blood vessel and nervous system damage, greater vigilance is necessary to detect and treat the early case.

With modern methods the progress of the disease is so modified that the patient is lured into a sense of false security. Symptoms disappear, the individual feels fine, and unless he is fully aware of the character and course of the disease he may stop treatment even while he is a menace to others. Before he is noninfectious forty to fifty weeks must elapse, during which time he should have received twenty doses of arsphenamine and twenty doses of bismuth or mercury.

We must not develop a syphilis phobia [fear], for the disease is curable except in its very late manifestations.

BULLET IN LEG.

W. W. writes: I have had a lead bullet in my left leg for four years. It does not trouble me unless the weather is damp, or if I am on my feet for a long time. Under such circumstances the part where the bullet is swells. Will this cause poisoning later? Do you think it should be removed?

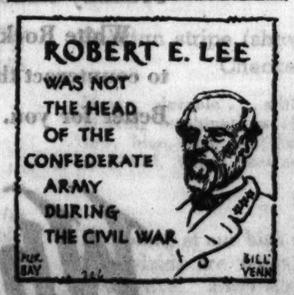
REPLY.

Nature has a way of protecting the body against foreign substances such as lead bullets. As a rule they become surrounded by a capsule of scar tissues. There is little or no danger of lead poisoning from this source. If the bullet can be easily reached it should be removed merely as a protection against mechanical interference with muscles, tendons, or joints.

Years ago I had several patients who were veterans of the civil war. Many carried bullets in their bodies. There were no symptoms other than those which you describe. Once in a while a bullet area may become the seat of infection, possibly via the blood.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.



Robert E. Lee was one of the generals of the confederacy, but two other generals outranked him in command. First in rank was Samuel Cooper, a general who resigned from the army of the United States and joined the confederate army, in which he was given the highest army rank. The other general above Lee in rank was Albert Sydney Johnston.

THE THIRD HELPING

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 13.—I notice that President Roosevelt's son, James, employed with other members of the family in campaigning for the New Deal, is reported as making this statement the other day at Excelsior Springs, Mo.: "I need only point out that when the present administration wanted a secretary of agriculture it selected a man who had lived his lifetime among the farmers of the west and not a man whose recommendation was the number of automobiles he could sell."

In reply to that statement I would like to quote this item from Indianapolis in the news of May 25, 1935: "Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace's farm journal in Iowa and four other farm papers have been ordered to pay judgment of $10,000 for violating the Sherman anti-trust law in an allegedly unlawful conspiracy in constraint of trade. . . . The verdict automatically provides that the associated papers must pay the Indiana publications $30,000, because under the anti-trust law damage awards by a jury are tripled as an additional penalty of the act."

Mr. Wallace, you know, was "selected" by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as his secretary of agriculture. Take your choice of the two! G. D. C.

PUBLIC MONEY.

Chicago, June 12.—In the Voice of the People today M. C. thinks it positively outrageous that a public official should be required to have immediately available the moneys intrusted to him in his official capacity.

All public funds [regardless by whom collected] should be regarded strictly as trust moneys and handled accordingly, not loosely in personal adventures. That Mr. Sweitzer was seemingly unmindful of his public duty to the people of Cook county is now unfortunate for all concerned. The sooner the care and disposition of all public moneys are placed beyond political control the better off will be the taxpayer. The looseness already evidenced in these matters is quite sufficient warant to take those steps necessary to keep the politician [Republican and Democrat alike] out of the public cash box. H. VICTOR KRANS.

A PROPHET WITHOUT HONOR.

Chicago, June 12.—This morning I was rushing to catch the L, 6 o'clock Abe Lincoln time. Only the end of my nose was powdered, my hat was askew, and, not knowing weather conditions, I had umbrella and raincoat.

Outside I noticed a TRIBUNE wagon.

Being thrilled with the speeches I had heard over the radio regarding the grass roots convention, I waved my umbrella and yelled to the driver: "Rah for THE TRIBUNE! Save the constitution!"

"Aw," said the driver, "don't believe all them stories you read; the papers are liable to print anything."

Now, hasn't THE TRIBUNE lots to do and the G. O. P. a long way to go before 1936?

Nevertheless, I want to repeat I was thrilled by the wonderful speeches I heard over the radio. I did not think there was such latent talent, and I'll say again:

IMPEACHMENT DEMANDED.

Evanston, Ill., June 11.—Who is this tyrant who, with his "must" program, can wipe out the entire life savings of thousands like myself—a man who has broken all his promises and repudiated the constitution which he swore on the Bible to uphold? He should be impeached for malfeasance in office, and the sooner the better. Tyrants have no place in these United States.

GOOD AMERICAN.

SOMETHING IS BEING DONE.

Chicago, June 13.—It looks as though the grass in Lincoln park will never be cut. It has been touched here and there with some sort of a power machine that cannot go near the trees or paths, and it looks like a careless patchwork quilt with a raggy edge here and an uneven patch there. With all the unemployment there is it should be an easy matter to get a hundred men for grass cutting. Think of all the fresh air and exercise they would get. That is, if their salaries are not already being pocketed by the politicians. A. W.

POLITICAL REFLECTION.

Chicago, June 11.—Up to the time I read of Bob Sweitzer's dealings with the taxpayers' funds it was always a mystery to me how the politicians got their pot-bellies, double chins, and all those good cigars, when I cannot even afford a good cigaret. Well, the bubble has burst and my eyes are open. Thanks to THE TRIBUNE. Now if we can get rid of a few more perhaps we can pay our police and firemen regularly. J. W.

UNPAID RENT.

Chicago, June 13.—In your newspaper you print that the IERC was allotted money to pay rents, electric and gas bills, and for clothing and household goods. Then why don't they pay rents to the landlords who kept the tenants in their flats when the relief stations were closed during the crisis? I have asked for rents for my tenants and have been refused, as they say they are not paying rents during this time. B. WATERSTROUT.

HOW TO CLEAN SIDEWALKS.

Chicago, June 13.—Let's have more property owners and storekeepers in the loop flush their sidewalks instead of just stirring up the dust with a sweeper.

T. G. OLSON.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

MERCHANTABLE TITLE.

Chicago, June 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a quit claim deed to a house and lot. 1. Is this a good merchantable title? 2. If not, what procedure must I follow to clear the title?

J. F. M.

1. The quit claim deed means that you have merely acquired the title which formerly belonged to the grantor in the deed.

2. In order to ascertain whether the title which you acquired was good, you should have an abstract brought down and examined by an attorney. It is nearly always advisable for a purchaser of real estate to employ an attorney throughout and we advise you to employ one now.

King George Rides Horse First Time Since Illness

SANDRINGHAM, England, June 17, —(AP)—King George went for a horseback ride today for the first time since he arrived here ten days ago. His catarrh, which caused physicians to order him to rest, was reported to be disappearing.

CLIPPER BACK IN HONOLULU ON AIR TOUR OF PACIFIC

Alameda, Cal., June 17.—(AP)—The Pan-American Clipper plane landed at Honolulu at 6:58 p. m. Pacific standard time [9:58 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time] today to complete its return flight from Midway Islands, the airway's base was informed by radio.

The 1,323 mile trip from Midway required ten hours and four minutes, as against the time of nine hours and thirteen minutes made by the seaplane in its pioneer dash to the mid-Pacific base on Saturday. The craft took off from the little atoll at 4:54 a. m. Midway time [11:54 a. m. Chicago time].

For a portion of today's cruise Capt. Edwin Musick and his crew flew "blind," relying entirely upon instruments to set their course. Instrument flying was ordered to gather additional data for establishing a commercial airline to the orient.

The flying boat had its first "stowaways" as the crew, shortly after the takeoff, discovered two big gooney birds, which inhabit the Midway Islands, had clambered aboard. The birds were tossed into the air.

In addition to the regular crew of six men, the plane carried the two passengers who flew to Midway Saturday—C. W. Winter and Philip Berst, maintenance engineers.

Midway Islands' "entire population" of 59 persons witnessed the plane's takeoff for its return journey. There was an almost flat calm, but despite the poor conditions the flying boat got into the air in 20 seconds.

The Clipper will fly from Hawaii to California soon to prepare for further test flights, which are expected to take them still farther west, to Wake Island, by way of Hawaii and the Midway Islands.

Dirksen of Illinois Back at Capital After Illness

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—Representative Dirksen [Rep., Ill.] returned to his office today after almost a month's absence because of illness with influenza.

HAIR THAT MAKES YOU LOOK 10 Years Younger

Perfection of Gro-Flex's method of scientific circulatory massage makes possible for first time a thorough way to treat within the scalp, causes of baldness, unnaturally dry or oily hair and scalp disorders that mar appearance. Hundreds of gentle mechanical fingers stimulate hair roots and glands.

". . . then brush your hair vigorously." That's the advice usually given to anyone who is taking hair treatments. And few will question the effectiveness of scalp exercise in correcting dandruff conditions and bringing new vitality and vigor to failing hair.

But no longer need you depend upon haphazard methods of massaging with a brush or the inefficiency of human hands . . . thanks to the perfection of Gro-Flex.

Gro-Flex is the first scientific treatment that works into the scalp, thoroughly, safely, to bring a new youthfulness and new vigor to your hair.

No heat, oils or tonics are used. Hundreds of gentle Gro-Flex "fingers" stimulate a cleansing flow of blood within the scalp. Dried up, choked and starved hair roots and glands function normally again. You look better . . . feel better . . . because heavy, healthy hair improves your whole appearance.

Gro-Flex Treatments are given by trained attendants in complete privacy. Little time is required. Drop in today for a demonstration. Let Gro-Flex start to make you look 10 years younger.

2 BOYS KIDNAP INDIANA SHERIF; HANDCUFF HIM

Pair Captured by Posses in a Field.

Jasper, Ind., June 17.—[Special.]—A boy of 14 and a companion of 17 kidnaped Sheriff Edward Luegers of Dubois county today and made a spectacular escape from in front of the county jail where they had been brought for questioning. The pair disarmed the officer and drove away with him in their car, reported as stolen. Luegers was found later, fettered with his own handcuffs, in the machine.

Posses from Boonville, Jasper, and Evansville formed of policemen and state police armed with machine guns, shotguns, and revolvers, took the trail of the boys and finally captured them in a field where they were found hiding in tall grass, south of Dickneyville, Warrick county.

Each Has Two Revolvers.

Each was armed with two revolvers.

The younger boy, who gave his name as Ray Bascum Jr., received a slight bullet wound in the right shoulder, fired from the gun of an officer when the pair failed to heed a command to halt. The other boy said his name was Maurice Sheridan.

The boys said they lived in Huntington, W. Va., and that they left there June 9 in a stolen car. The only reason they would give for kidnaping the officer was that they wanted him for "protection." They are held in jail here.

Taken on Wild Ride.

Sheriff Luegers said the boys had forced him into the car at the point of a revolver and then while one of them kept the weapon pointed at him the other drove rapidly away. Twice the car ran into the ditch, he said, and the second time, the boys manacled him with his own handcuffs and then ran away.

"I got tired of looking down the barrel of that big revolver and was glad when they ran into the ditch and left me," the sheriff said.

GAAR WILLIAMS' ASHES TAKEN TO HIS HOME TOWN

Service Is Held Here for Cartoonist.

The ashes of Gaar Williams, TRIBUNE cartoonist, were taken back to his home town, Richmond, Ind., for burial yesterday following religious services and cremation in Graceland cemetery.

Mr. Williams, who was 54 years old, died suddenly Saturday morning after being stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage as he sat in his automobile at Michigan avenue and Randolph street.

Friends Crowd Chapel.

The chapel in Graceland cemetery was filled with personal friends of Mr. Williams, and the Rev. Douglas H. Cornell, pastor of the Glencoe Community church, who conducted the services, talked of the thousands of other friends who knew him only through his cartoons. He was the creator of everyday folks who appeared in "A Strain on the Family Tie," "Among the Folks in History," "Our Secret Ambition," and "Zipper," the little dog.

The gathering at the chapel consisted of newspaper men who were bidding farewell to one of their own who was at the top of his profession when death called him, friends and neighbors from Glencoe, where he made his home, friends of his boyhood from Indiana, his widow, his mother, and other relatives.

Good Man "in Every Sense."

The good he had done will live after him, the Rev. Mr. Cornell said, and in life he was a good man in every sense the word good implies. "He made people happy, he made them laugh at his drawings and at themselves," the clergyman continued. "He made people think. He entertained and amused them and in a sense educated them. His life was a full one."

FIRSTCONTINGENT TO GO TODAY TO CAMP ALGONQUIN

Camp Algonquin, THE TRIBUNE'S summer camp for city mothers and children near Cary, will receive today the first trainload of vacationers of the season. One hundred and forty children and mothers will set out on a two weeks' summer outing there after being taken from the city by the North Western railway. Each year the railway gives this service free of charge.

Another group of 140 children, many of whom are undernourished, and their mothers who otherwise would have no vacation, will arrive at the camp Thursday. They are selected as vacation-worthy by the United Charities.

Each year Camp Algonquin is largely supported by readers of THE TRIBUNE. Those who wish to contribute toward a health building summer vacation of two weeks for some child or mother of a crowded, underprivileged neighborhood may send a gift to the Camp Algonquin fund, in care of the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, at the Tribune Tower. Last year 2,000 mothers and children were given free vacations at Algonquin at a cost of approximately $9.10 each.

MRS. HAZLEWOOD, WIFE OF BANKER, IS DEAD IN HOME

Mrs. Stelle Neighbors Hazlewood, 52 years old, wife of Craig B. Hazlewood, first vice president of the First National bank and former president of the American Bankers' association, died at her home at 16 Canterbury court, Wilmette, late Sunday night. Her death followed an illness of several months.

Mrs. Hazlewood, who was active in north shore social circles, was a member of the Friends of the Drama society. Her home was formerly in St. Louis, Mo. Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, Craig B. Jr., 16 years old, and her daughters, Ora, Jean, and Dorothy.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the First Methodist church at Hinman avenue and Church street, Evanston.

Homing Pigeon, Worn Out in Race, Aided by Police

Woodlawn police last night succored a tired homing pigeon, which took shelter on the porch of a house at 6209 Vernon avenue, apparently worn out in the rain squalls during a race. The bird was given food and water and will be released this morning. It bore an aluminum band on one leg with the insignia "A.U.-B.E.V. 32-8438," and another tape with "U-195," apparently the entry number in the race.

PETERMAN'S ANT FOOD

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

One pleasant bit of news on returning from a vacation is the announcement that James Braddock, the new heavyweight champion, is not going into radio just yet. Braddock and Max Baer, curiously enough, both have the same radio manager, Jean Grombach. Grombach has made a fair actor out of Maxie. But Braddock's histrionic talent seems to be limited to a modest pronouncement that he feels great.

"We are not making any radio plans for Braddock until the next fight," Grombach announced. "We do hope to have a Braddock comedy sketch ready to go on the air before the fight next year, though."

The sketch would cast Braddock as a fighter with just the sort of personality he possesses. Surrounding him would be a cast of stooges interrupting and prompting him just as you heard the night of the recent fight when Braddock was bearded and brought before the microphone in his dressing room.

Meanwhile Max Baer's "Luck Smith" series is to continue even though he lost the title. When Baer grabbed the crown a year ago his sponsor decided to drop him, anyhow. This year he loses it and they keep him on. Radio is a curious business.

Except for the Baer-Braddock broadcast not much listening has been done by this observer during the last fortnight. The radio personality most often mentioned and asked about during a sojourn in several Iowa communities was Maj. Bowes of amateur hour fame. And even in June they listen there to Jack Benny and Fred Allen. There were inquiries about Lum and Abner, Amos 'n' Andy, Ray Noble and Wayne King.

Kay Kyser's orchestra happened to be slated for a one night appearance at Oelwein, Ia., Walter P. Chrysler's home town. The engagement of the former W-G-N maestro prompted a display of fancy handbills over a territory more than 125 miles wide and advertisements in newspapers published at points seventy-five miles away. Another item: Emil Flindt, with whom Wayne King was once associated, is still playing for the Hawkeye state dancers. There were bills heralding his coming to some town along the Lincoln highway.

Roger W. Robinson, baritone soloist of the Lawson Y. M. C. A. Glee club, heard regularly over W-G-N, received the degree of doctor of medicine on Saturday at Northwestern university commencement exercises. For five years Robinson has been making his way through medical school as a singer. He also is heard on the NBC Silken Strings program and with the Ravenswood Presbyterian choir.

The Rev. W. W. Robinson, his father, pastor of the First Methodist church of New Castle, Ind., writes that Roger has often sung for weddings at which he has officiated, through the medium of W-G-N and the ministerial receiving set.

The all-star baseball game will be broadcast on July 8 from Cleveland over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system, with Bob Elson at the mike. NBC and CBS will also carry the game. . . . The American Derby at Washington Park will be broadcast next Saturday over WENR-NBC. Clem McCarthy will describe the race.

Hotels Start National Wire Hookup to Fight Criminals

Hotels throughout the country, including six in Chicago, inaugurated yesterday a teletypewriter system to flash to each other instant alarms and warnings of fraud, theft, and crime. The system is expected to be most effective against passers of bad checks and bill skippers who annually cost hotels in this country $11,000,000. The plan was worked out by W. J. Gielen, credit manager of the Palmer house, in cooperation with the American Telephone and Telegraph company. Other hotels here that have the system are the Blackstone, Drake, Stevens, Edgewater Beach, and Morrison.

My Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Whatever you may think of the story of "The Girl from Tenth Avenue," you're bound to admit it scores as a big personal success for Miss Bette Davis.

Miss Davis, you know, is the blonde who has recently acquired fame as the Lady Who Didn't win the Academy award! So many people thought she SHOULD have done so for her work in "Human Bondage" that she has had quite as much publicity for being left out in the cold as has Claudette Colbert for being warmed at the Academy harth fire. Well—if Miss Davis keeps on as she's doing next year the medal WILL go to her.

In "The Girl from Tenth Avenue" which sports the old, old plot of the wealthy ne'er-do-well who's reformed by the Cinderella from the other side of the tracks—the lady gives a warmly human—and an intensely shrewd performance.

There are moments when the story's absurdities—such as the luncheon scene at the Waldorf where the girl who ISN'T a lady inveigles one who supposedly IS into throwing a grapefruit at her—threatens Bette's intelligent interpretation. But she inevitably rises above her scenario. More power to her!

Too—she has achieved a triumphant change in personality. A sweetness replaces the sullenness that once was—to me at least—her greatest drawback. As Miriam she's ALL THERE—take her any way you want to.

You'll like Ian Hunter as Geoffrey Sherwood, the handsome savee who, guttered by his one time fiancée, becomes a worthy citizen under the ministrations of Miss Brady. He gives a quietly persuasive performance in a rôle which he, too, has to rise above. Alison Skipworth, as a onetime Florador girl, also makes hay where there wasn't much to make it of. Katherine Alexander is a false note in the cast. Direction—spotty. BUT—

You'll like "The Girl from Tenth Avenue" because—Bette Davis sees to it that you have to!

See you tomorrow!

Two Sons, Daughter of Stage Families Have Parts in Plays

Skowhegan, Me., June 17.—(AP)—Two sons and a daughter of famous theatrical families—Mary Rogers, Keenan Wynn, and Owen Davis Jr.—were in the cast of "Accent on Youth," which opened tonight at the Lakewood theater.

Keenan Wynn is the son of Ed Wynn, comedian, and the grandson of Frank Keenan, a veteran of the stage. This is his professional debut, and he is playing the part of a Princeton youth.

Mary Rogers is the daughter of Will, droll humorist of stage and screen. She made her Broadway debut last season.

Owen Davis Jr., the son of Owen Davis, playwright, is an old hand at acting compared with the other two. He has been on the stage for several years.

Thousand Visit Christie's to See Morgan Miniatures

LONDON, June 17.—(AP)—More than 1,000 art lovers from America and Europe thronged Christie's auction rooms today for the opening of a display of J. P. Morgan's collection of ivory miniatures. The exhibits, valued at $2,000,000, will be shown for one week, after which they will be sold at auction.

Infant Welfare

Mrs. Charles H. Meek is general chairman of the committee in charge of a horse show to be given next Sunday at the Oakbrook Polo club, York road and 22d street, for the benefit of the Infant Welfare society of Chicago. The Hinsdale Junior Infant Welfare center is sponsoring the show and a polo match between the team of the Black Horse troop and that of the Oakbrook club that will follow the show.

Curtis Dawes Weds Dorothy Potter in N. Y.

Only Relatives Present at Quiet Ceremony.

BY JUDITH CASS.

FROM New York comes news of the marriage yesterday of Miss Dorothy Potter, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Potter of Rome, N. Y., to Curtis Dawes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Dawes of Evanston. The wedding, a very quiet one with just the immediate families present, took place in the Hotel Barclay with the Rev. Leon Rosser Land officiating.

Following a wedding breakfast the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip to South America and upon their return they will be at home in Rochester, N. Y. No engagement had been announced so news of the wedding comes as a surprise to all but Mr. Dawes' relatives and most intimate friends in Chicago. The bridegroom's parents and his sister, Mrs. George Henry Schulz, were in the east for the ceremony. Mr. Dawes attended his son as best man and the bride was unattended.

Curtis Dawes has been living in the east for some time. He is a graduate of the Lawrenceville school and of Williams college, and is a nephew of former Vice President Charles G. Dawes and of Rufus S. Dawes, president of Chicago's recent Century of Progress Exposition.

More Parties for Miss Wilhelm.

The J. Stewart Harveys are entertaining in their Schiller street apartment tonight for their brother, Dagget Harvey, and his bride-to-be, Miss Jean Wilhelm, who will be married Saturday afternoon. Tomorrow night Mrs. Corson Ellis will be a dinner hostess in her Lake Forest home for Miss Wilhelm.

Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm will give the bridal dinner for their daughter at the Shoreacres club and Saturday the junior Edward A. Cudahys wil entertain at luncheon for their niece and Mr. Harvey, the bridal party and the out-of-town guests.

Miss Wilhelm and Mr. Harvey will be married Saturday afternoon in the same garden in which the former Roberta Thorne and Corson Ellis were married ten years ago for the Wilhelms are occupying the Robert J. Thornes' beautiful house in Lake Forest this summer. The Ellis-Thorne wedding, however, was an autumn one so Saturday's ceremony will not resemble it as to coloring but it undoubtedly will be just as lovely as was the one ten years ago.

Others Entertain for June Brides.

Parties of every variety are being crowded into the next fortnight for other late June brides. Before Miss Marjorie Bertha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Bertha, becomes Mrs. Orville H. Schell Jr., the afternoon of June 29, she will be fêted by many of her friends in and about Chicago. This week there are a half dozen parties for Miss Helen English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Robert English of Winnetka who will be married to Walter Nason Stuckslager this Saturday afternoon.

One of the largest affairs for Miss Bertha this week will be a luncheon and shower Mrs. Alfred Uihlein of Milwaukee will give Thursday at the home of her father, Edgar J. Uihlein, in Lake Bluff. The young Mrs. Uihlein came down last week to spend June with her father.

On June 27, two nights before the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Bertha will give the bridal dinner at the Winnetka house they have taken for the summer. The service will be read at 4:30 the afternoon of the 29th at the house with a reception following. Miss Bertha is to be unattended at her wedding since her good friend, Mrs. James

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

A VISITOR passing through Chicago from Hollywood to New York tells of the movie preview to which a friend took Sam Goldwyn. Asked what he thought of it afterwards, Mr. Goldwyn replied:

Critique—

"It's colossal—in a small way."

PERHAPS fishermen along the lake front have used the method for years, but it seemed a novel idea as we watched them early the other evening. Instead of casting or utilizing a pole in the usual manner the line was tied to a weighted pully arrangement, which traveled out into the lake on a trolley line. The line and hook were thus dropped perpendicularly into the water at the depth the fisherman sought. And after a catch the line and hook, with fish attached, were similarly pulled in on the pully. It would seem to be a good system. We saw one young fellow leave the lake front with a long string of perch.

WE watched these proceedings from a penthouse terrace. And even more modern than the cocktail glasses and the furniture and the humorous wall drawing by Vally Wieselthier was the vignette of a modern woman offered by the hostess. There she sat, a slim, frail woman in a flowered satin print, her short curls cut and banged in the most feminine manner, her satin slippers matching the stones in her square, modern gold earrings [designed by herself, as were the cocktail glasses and the ice bucket and the hors d'oeuvres tray.

She presented the picture of a woman who spends her days planning her appearance, but she had spent the entire day working with engineers at the plant of a great electric company, making suggestions as to the restyling of their washing machines and stoves and other household equipment. Just before her dinner guests had arrived a famous London merchant had come in for tea and to make arrangements for handling her metal and glass table decorations and service and her modern jewelry in his Bond street establishment. Then, shortly after dinner, she excused herself for fifteen minutes to receive three workmen from her studio who were working on some new bracelets and earrings she had designed. They had struck a snag and, as she wanted the jewelry ready before she sails for Europe this week, they were working that evening. She was, of course, Mrs. George W. Dulany Jr.

THE gentleman from London, E. R. Aspray [every visitor to London knows Aspray's], had arrived in town the preceding Sunday morning. His Chicago impressions were, perhaps, a little confused at first, due to a golf game he played that day. He had asked at his hotel where he might play, assuming that, as it was a hotel of fashionable reputation, some convenient arrangements would be made for him. Instead he was sent to Lincoln park to play on the public course there. He was a little put out to find, when he got there, that he not only had to carry his own clubs but that he had to wait until some fifty people ahead of him had driven off before he could play. It was not an auspicuous introduction to Chicago.

THIS story is practically news—of the man-bites-dog variety. A man named E. F. Kionka of Oak Park was sitting in a barber shop a few evenings ago and he noticed a very talkative man a few chairs down. After he left the shop the barber who had attended him commented to the barber at the next chair that he had been the most talkative customer he had had in a long time. He thought he never would shut up, he added.

Tavern Murals of Love Really Pageant of Life

Artist Takes No Liberties Despite Title.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Edgar Miller has just completed a series of murals, "Love Through the Ages," for the walls of the Tavern club dining room. The first showing was yesterday and the room was filled with people expectant of all kinds of revelations.

With the leeway a title such as his gave Mr. Miller, almost anything might have been included in his scheme. But he held himself in check. The murals are neatly precise and concise, and they give the most expurgated account of "Love Through the Ages" that one could imagine.

True, Henry VIII., England's great lover, or at least great husband and rejector, is painted in grand fashion with a train of tender spouses. But there is nothing naughty nor French about the episode; as calm as a Shropshire sheep, and as stout, Henry walks out. Beyond and around him hints of the Crusades, of Palestine, of Indians, of Egyptians, of the Incas, and the Primitives define themselves upon the walls.

It is not so much a pageant of love as of life; there are no cupids but many canoes and gay little deer and frolicking horses. There are an infinite number of persons doing this and that of minor consequence. Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontaine [one thinks] could have jogged Mr. Miller's inspiration a bit had he watched them make love on the boards.

Neither physical nor sentimental love really is illustrated in his work. There is a tiny bedroom scene, but with participants so lacking in charm, guile, beauty and allure that no one need turn from it in alarm.

The colors used throughout are quiet and charming and an oriental flavor is distinctly felt. The Tavern has an asset in its murals. The fly in the ointment is the misleading title, which distinctly lets you down.

A stubborn conviction still persists that with "Love Through the Ages" Mr. Miller should have gone more Fragonard and Watteau.

Young Set Adopts Fashion of Dowagers.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Borrowed from the stately dowagers of an almost forgotten era of elegance, the new dog collars, for the younger set this time, are positively the best of the costume jewelry gadgets to date. If you don't believe this story look at them yourselves and in less time than it takes to tell it you'll buy one for your own unwrinkled neckline. Another thing that will keep you gasping is the amazing low price mark!

You'll find three different models: one, the flexible metal affair liberally studded with lots of nice small, glittering rhinestones, looking for all the world like the flashing elegance that your Granny clasped around her neck. Then, there are the lustrous pearl numbers that fit tightly with a swanky rhinestone clasp to show right in front. And last, but probably the best of the new 1935 adaptations are the effective oblong rhinestone clasps that are slid through a length of tulle or net and then tied securely around the neck, the tulle or net bow at the back.

These buckles or clasps come in various widths and sizes, sort of a two or three elevation idea, so that you can decide just how high or low or how long you need this decorative bauble. Whatever style you choose, they should be and can be fitted snugly, or else the charming, old fashioned effect is lost. You wear them with afternoon dinner and dance dresses, and the younger you are, the better they appear, especially with these be-ruffled lace and billowing net evening gowns with drop shoulders.

County Federation Host to Philippine Club Leader

Mrs. Francisco A. Delgado, wife of the Philippines resident commissioner in Washington, D. C., was the guest of the Cook County Federation of Women's Clubs at an informal reception yesterday noon at the Palmer house. Mrs. Delgado has long been active in club work in the Philippines, having served both the Philippine Federation of Women's Clubs and the Manila Woman's club as president. In Washington she is an active member of the Ladies Congressional club. After the reception she and Mr. Delgado were guests of the Filipino Community center, 837 North La Salle street, at luncheon. They returned to Washington last night.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

You'd never guess it, but her tan is faked. It's achieved by the use of a bronze stain, easily and smoothly applied, that looks like a tan born of toasting.

ONE way to fool people into thinking that you've lounged on a beach or roof until you were toasted a golden brown when you really haven't seen the sun except through a window is to use a bronze stain one of the great beauty specialists has perfected.

It has an advantage over the sort of sun tan makeup that's composed of foundation plus powder. It doesn't get messy and if you do a good job there are no "high water" marks around neck and arms. We've known several women who use it during the winter. They're the poor unfortunates who get to Florida and hate to part with their tan when they come back to town. As the real tan fades they fake a good one with this bronze liquid.

You don't even have to use powder over this if you don't want to—and if you're the type to whom a faint shine is becoming. It's marvelous for the legs, too. You know the appalling whiteness of legs when you go for your first stockingless excursion; they look unpardonably naked even when you reveal only seven or eight inches of them. The stain blended in well makes them look oceans better.

The liquid comes in two dark shades, one a bit lighter than the other. If the skin of the face is extremely thin and sensitive the stain may sting very faintly for a few seconds but most normal skinned women won't have this. It is easy to put on. The skin must be immaculately clean first, of course. There's no trick at all to blending it in smoothly; if you use cotton and do the job under a good light it won't be streaked or spotty. Soap and water remove it.

This is camouflage, designed for the woman who wants the becomingness of tan on occasion with none of the discomfort or tediousness of achieving one.

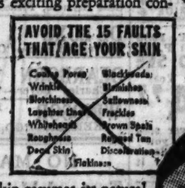
BLACKHEADS?
PIMPLES? OPEN PORES?

Not If You Let This Sensational Beautifier Keep Your Skin Clear

"I'm through with blackheads. Dioxogen Cream prevents them"

Thousands of women who formerly were miserable over a skin spoiled by blackheads, whiteheads, large pores and blemishes, now rave about a new beautifier. This exciting preparation contains live oxygen that penetrates into the mouths of the pores, purges them of poisons, cleans out the dirt, detaches worn-out tissues, and loosens ugly blackheads.



When the dirt and grease are gone, the pores close up to normal size and the skin resumes its natural, clear appearance. It is soft, smooth, and finely-textured. Sallow or muddy color is gone, while lines, spots, freckles, flakiness and patches of tan are literally wiped away in a short time.

No beautifier in the world is like Dioxogen Cream. It is the only preparation that supplies active oxygen to the skin. Oxygen is the precious substance that gives color to the rose.

No long waiting for results with Dioxogen Cream. From the first time you use it, you see that your skin is becoming fairer and clearer . . . the pores less open. Even the woman with a complexion that has "gone to pieces" soon becomes enthusiastic about Dioxogen Cream.

Dioxogen Cream is lovely to use and never disappoints you. Simply follow the easy directions with every jar—apply it generously at night, when you remove make-up. In the morning, after you've washed your face, apply a very thin layer as a powder base. Dioxogen Cream thus works to beautify you 24 hours a day. It benefits every type of skin . . . corrects excess oiliness, prevents dryness and flakiness.

FEDERAL COUPONS GIVEN

The Ortega Feud

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Chris Jackson is sent by Bill Benton, new sheriff of Monterey county, to put an end to the Ortega-Alvado feud, which has resulted in numerous murders. Both families believe California to be still Spanish and want Americans kept out. Pietro Sanchez runs the general store of the Big Sur valley. While calling there Chris encounters Guido Ortega, Ramon, his dare-devil son, and Ysabel, his beautiful, sad eyed niece. He falls in love with Ysabel at first sight, and has a quarrel with Ramon and publicly spanks him. Chris outfits himself for a supposed lion hunting expedition. He receives a note sent by messenger from Ysabel Ortega, hinting of a mysterious danger, begging his aid, and asking him to meet her in a fortnight. Chris camps in a canyon on the northern boundary of the Alvado ranch. A shot from an unseen hand gives him warning to leave. He is saved by Rocky, an old Indian hunter, who advises him to leave the country. Next day Chris meets Francesca Alvado, flirtatious Spanish beauty, who warns him her father welcomes no strangers. Chris tells her of his encounter with Ramon Ortega. She invites him to call on her father.

INSTALMENT VIII.

THE ALVADO RANCH.

Chris gave a shrill whistle as he neared the camp, but to his surprise there was no answering barks of welcome from the dogs.

Puzzled at the silence, he hurried on, breaking into a run as his ear caught a pitiful whimper accompanied by a low whining.

Pushing through the under brush, a surge of rage went over him at the sight that met his eyes.

The camp had been completely wrecked and under the tree, where Chris had tied Tom, lay Jerry's quivering form. Tom stood over him, licking his leg, and from time to time giving the low whine which had first warned Chris of trouble.

He murmured soothing words as he expertly examined the break.

"We can fix that up all right," he announced finally, relief in his grim tone, "but just wait until I find the brute that did it!"

He crossed over, and took down a grubby bit of paper that was stuck on the tree trunk with one of his own knives that had been in his pack.

Printed in Spanish were the words: "Second warning! Leave at once!"

Crushing it angrily in his hand, Chris ran down to the grassy space by the creek where he had left the horses. An explosive oath escaped him at the sight of the cut tether ropes. Both Bingo and the pack horse were gone.

Chris stood motionless for a moment, his lips tightly set and his eyes steely with anger at the evidence of this further outrage. Then, he turned and went back to the dogs, stooping as he went to pick up sticks that would do for a splint for Jerry.

Taking off his bandana and tearing it in strips, he set the broken leg and bandaged it as gently as possible into the splints.

"No hunting for you for some time to come, Jerry boy!" Chris fondled the rough black head, while Jerry reached out a long red tongue and licked his wrist. "But you'll be fit as a fiddle after a while," he promised, reaching out to untie the rope from which Tom was straining to be freed.

"Reckon that rope saved you a few broken bones or 'worse,'" he mused, as Tom jumped up for his share of caresses, "the guy who did this wasn't risking a shot to give away what he was up to." He looked over at his demolished pack, adding ruefully, "I wish you two could talk!"

He crossed over to examine his mauled possessions. His saddle and bridle had disappeared. His blanket had been savagely rent with a knife and his mess kit and everything breakable stamped out of shape.

The anger that had been temporarily obliterated while he had ministered to Jerry rose up again in Chris, and he ripped out a savage oath as he vowed vengeance.

"I'll bet this is some of the Alvado dirty work," he fumed aloud. "I'll give that old man a piece of my mind this afternoon, don't you forget it! He can——"

A shrill whinny brought Chris' tirade to a sudden end. He whirled about, and then made a dash for Bingo, who came charging up the creek bed, a snapped lead rope hanging from his neck.

"Good work, Bingo!" Chris held him off at arm's length and examined him for possible injury. "Gave 'em the slip, didn't you? He rubbed Bingo's nose, with a grunt of relief. "I was just wondering what in hell I was going to do without you! Now we can go and demand an explanation of this performance, anyway."

After bringing as much order as he could into the chaos of his camp, Chris foraged about for some scraps of food in the wreck of his "commissary department," and started off bareback on Bingo for his call on Señor Alvado.

"He's going to hear a whole lot more than an account of my meeting with the Ortegas and don't you forget it," he announced grimly, as Bingo picked his way down the creek bed.

Coming out on the beach, Chris let Bingo indulge in a hard gallop, then guided him to the trail that picked up again at the far end of the level stretch of sand.

A steep rise brought them to the top of the cliffs, where the trail led them away from the ocean a hundred yards or so, then paralleled it, until it dipped down into a redwood canyon.

After traversing three of these canyons, Chris came out on a flat plateau that towered a hundred feet or more above the ocean, and presented an unexpectedly luxurious sight in this wild land of range and barren hills.

The land here had been cultivated to the highest possible degree. Fields of grain and alfalfa waved on the left toward the hills, while directly in front of him, set back fifty feet or so from the percipitous cliffs that dropped to the ocean below, the hacienda dominated the whole area.

Built of white adobe, its massive walls shaded along the front by a wide veranda that ran the full length of the building, the house presented as vivid and picturesque a sight as any that Chris had ever seen. The heavy pillars which supported the red tiled roof of the veranda were covered with roses and honeysuckle that filled the air with a languorous fragrance, and the whole scene presented an air of luxurious indolence and peace.

It seemed impossible that this place could harbor the germs of vengeance and violence that actually did permeate it, and yet, as Chris surveyed its great walls with their recessed, barred windows, he realized that all this gentle fragrance and color could easily be a deceptive veil for a veritable fortress.

There was no one in sight as he rode up, either at the hacienda itself, or in the rancheria, whose outbuildings stretched off on his left, and Chris realized that he must have broken in on the sacred period of the "siesta," which no Spaniard forgoes, feud or no feud.

Dismounting at the heavy oaken front door, Chris hesitated a moment, undecided whether to knock and break in on the deathlike silence or to wait a bit for signs of life to appear.

As he weighed the question in his mind, the huge front door swung slowly open, and an Indian girl came forward to meet him, adding one more picturesque note to the scene.

She wore a bright red skirt and over it a smock of white linen, open at the throat. Her coarse black hair hung in heavy braids, and her bright little eyes set in her square, copper colored face, surveyed Chris with lively interest.

She motioned him to come up on the veranda and wait. When he asked in Spanish if the señor was at home, she gave a quick, scared nod, and pointed upstairs. Then, without giving Chris a chance for further questions, she disappeared into the darkened hallway, and the door swung ponderously to behind her.

Leaving Bingo in the shade of a live oak, Chris came up on the piazza and prepared himself to wait until the "siesta" should be over.

Sinking back in the heavy oak arm chair, the drowsy fragrance of the air and the insistent droning of the bees calmed his anger in spite of himself, and a wave of lassitude swept over him.

He wondered dreamily if this was the atmosphere of Ysabel Ortega's home. In imagination, he could see her sitting in the shadows of the veranda, her dark eyes that had so haunted him fixed on him in desperate appeal.

The illusion was so strong that he roused out of his lethargy with a sudden dread that she needed him now, that it was folly to wait for the two weeks period she had stipulated before going to her.

Running Away from Home Is Road to Misery

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Curious that there should come to my desk four letters, almost simultaneously, from youngsters threatening to abandon the home for parts unknown!

What is it, girls and boys? The great outdoors beckoning, wanderlust, or family financial difficulty in which you figure yourself an unwanted burden? Or, just that frequent hysterical attack of youth to get out from under discipline? The case of one such we handled yesterday. But you, Louie, one of today's confidants, what makes you think you'd be better off on the road? We happen to know of some of the things that happen to homeless boys and girls on the road. Indeed, we sat in on a night court scene in which about twenty boys of this class presented a sorry scene. Sick looking youngsters of from 15 to 20, half starved looking, and some of them frightened beyond words that their petty thieving along the way was now going to confront them and earn a jail sentence.

Even more dismal was the picture of the stray girls in the group. There's no classification for such girls. They're not given the benefit of the doubt as to their character. They're suspected of behavior of which they may not be guilty at all. But that's only a minor feature of the lot of the unprotected girl who has left home for what fiction or the movies have inspired her to believe is going to be a glamorous adventure.

There isn't any glamor about being a runaway. None whatever for a girl tramp. And equally none for the boy who runs away to "seek his fortune." One part of the globe right now is like another part of it, in that the same difficult employment problems will confront one everywhere and inexperience will weigh fatally against one.

Wait until times pick up to put your fortune seeking plans into effect. By that time you'll have more adult reasoning power to direct your actions. In the meantime don't believe just because you hear a lot of talk in the home about money shortage that you are going to make things easier for your people by disappearing. That's the most cruel blow you can add to mothers and fathers struggling under difficulties.

If Traveling by Train Carry Baby in Basket

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In the preceding article in this series on traveling with your baby we talked over the things to keep in mind in traveling with him by car.

Today's article will discuss taking a long train journey.

To repeat what we said previously: Your baby is healthiest, happiest, and safest at home where he can be kept to his regular schedule. But we are assuming that the reason why you are making the journey outweighs these considerations, and that what you want now is information on how to plan the journey so that he is kept as rested and well as possible—and that you are too. Here are some practical directions regarding how to care for him during the trip.

First, be sure that your train and boat information is accurate, and that you know of any connections, stopovers, and so forth, that have to be made, so that you can plan accordingly.

Next, plan what you will carry the baby in. A market basket is the best vehicle and means that both you and he will be cooler and quieter and more rested than if he were constantly in your arms or lap. A pillow, a hair mattress or a folded blanket can be put at the bottom with a rubber sheet over it, and any necessary covering. A heavy carton or cardboard box can be used if economy is necessary—as it often is.

You will also need some cheesecloth to put over the car window to keep out the dirt, grit and coal dust that come in, unless you travel in a chair car. Provide also a sheet to put over the chair or seat for the baby to lie on when he is taken out of the basket.

His clothes are the next item. It is well to have for traveling two dresses that can be easily washed, or that don't need ironing, like crêpe de chine or thin seersucker. The outfit that he wears to the train can be taken off and kept clean and unwrinkled for his "arriving" costume. He will also need changes of his other garments, sweaters for cooler weather, and so forth. If the journey is long and hot he only needs to be kept in a band, diaper, and dress, barefooted.

You will also need some form of disposable diapers for long journeys or, if the journey is not too long, a supply of diapers and a traveling kit of some kind to hold the soiled ones. The traveling kit can also contain a small chamber [there are some that fold up] and some rubber or other waterproof material to wrap the wet diapers in. There are on the market various kinds of diapers and diaper pads for traveling. It is also possible to use soft old linen squares and throw them away after they have been used. A face cloth and towel and soap should be included.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

SLAM BIDDING.

Provided that the bidding is logical and constructive, I do not quarrel with any method of reaching a slam. Some time ago I stated that I did object to cluttery bidding, when both partners crawl toward their objective, but in the following hand, since the burden of a grand slam must necessarily devolve on South, North has to paint an accurate picture of his holdings.

NORTH
♥A-K-x-x
♦A-x
♣K-10-x-x-x

WEST
♥J-9-x
♦Q-x-x-x-x

EAST
♠J-x
♥Q-10-x-x
♦J-10-x-x

SOUTH
♠Q-10-9-x-x-x
♥x-x
♦K-x
♣A-9-x

The bidding:

NORTH	EAST	SOUTH	WEST
1 Cl.	Pass	1 Sp.	Pass
3 Ht.	Pass	3 Sp.	Pass
4 Sp. [1]	Pass	5 Cl. [2]	Pass
5 Di. [3]	Pass	5 N. T. [4]	Pass
6 Sp. [5]	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. After giving a jump force in another suit North should do no more than raise to game.

2. A very fine bid. South realizes that North expects no more in his hand than five or six spades to the queen. The time has come to show the ace of clubs.

3. North might have jumped to six spades at this point, and inferentially confirmed his holding of the ace of diamonds, but he wished to test out the possibility of a grand slam first. He is still worried about the clubs.

4. Another good bid. It means precisely the same to North as a raise to six diamonds would mean, but it leaves a six club bid open.

5. Holding the K Q of clubs, North should jump to the grand slam. With a wide open club suit, North can do no more than bid six. Naturally, South has done all that he can. Seven from either partner would be an out-and-out gamble.

It so happens that seven is a spread. The minute that the dummy went down South realized that if either opponent held four hearts and three clubs a squeeze was bound to operate successfully.

South drew trumps and was relieved to find that the jack of spades dropped. He then played two hearts and ruffed out a third. The king of diamonds was cashed [the ace had been removed by the opening lead] and the rest of the spades run down. By retaining the K X of clubs in dummy and the odd heart, South put East on the spot. East either had to unguard his queen of clubs or discard his high queen of hearts.

The weekly problem will be given tomorrow.

Only Relatives Present at Quiet Ceremony.

Dumas Henry, the former Catherine Molloy, cannot be here from Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Schell's older brother, William, will be his best man. Another out of town guest will be Mrs. Charles Martin of New York City.

Just a week after she attends Miss English as bridesmaid in her wedding Saturday afternoon, Miss Harriet Tilden, daughter of the Averill Tildens, is boarding a boat for Europe to spend seven weeks in foreign capitals. Miss Louise Ashley of Sioux City, Ia., is to be maid of honor for Miss English and the other bridesmaids will be Mrs. Boyd Anderson, Mrs. Douglas MacMillan, and Miss Marion Chinn of Duluth. Little Kathleen Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Ball Jr. of Winnetka will be the flower girl.

Miss English's brother, Robert, will be Mr. Stuckslager's best man and ushering will be Mr. Anderson, Robert Tufts, Jack Clauer, and Morris Muller who has come east from California for the ceremony.

The service is to be read at 4:30 Saturday afternoon at the English home at 375 Hawthorne lane in Winnetka. A reception will follow and then Mr. Stuckslager and his bride will leave on a wedding trip the destination of which is unannounced. Upon their return they will make their home at 320 Prospect avenue in Highland Park.

Miss Tilden is giving a dinner party for Miss English and Mr. Stuckslager this evening at the home of her parents at 735 Ardsley road in Winnetka, and tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. English with their son, Robert, will give the bridal dinner at the Edgewater Beach hotel. On Thursday evening Mrs. Frank R. Fuller, another Winnetkan, will entertain at dinner at the Indian Hill club. Mrs. Fuller is due home tomorrow from a trip to the orient.

Parents Return from Graduations.

The Charles S. Deweys have returned from a short trip east where they went to see their son Peter graduated from St. Paul's school in Concord, N. H. Peter is remaining in the east to take his examinations for Yale but he will be at home before long. The Deweys' plans for the summer are indefinite, but it is probable that they will go to France as usual for at least part of the summer.

John Shedd Schweppe, the Charles H. Schweppes' son, who was graduated from St. Paul's, also, is taking the examinations for Harvard before he comes home. His mother and father arrived at home yesterday from having gone east for the commencement exercises at the preparatory school.

John Schweppe's cousin, John Shedd Reed, is finishing at Hotchkiss this year and he plans to enter Yale in the fall. His mother, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, is east now for the graduation and will be at home in 10 days.

The young Potter Palmers left yesterday with their two babies for a visit with Mrs. Palmer's mother, Mrs. A. West Movius, in Boston. They plan to take a house at the seashore and spend the summer there, returning to Chicago in the autumn.

The senior Potter Palmers have been at their summer place at Bar Harbor for several weeks and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Oakleigh L. Thorne, and their two babies are leaving in about 10 days for Biddeford Pool, Me., where they have taken a place for the season.

The Honore Palmers and the D'Orsay Palmers left Sunday to spend the summer in Bermuda, where they will be joined by Honore Jr.

Gardner Family to Return Home.

By the 23d of this month the entire Henry A. Gardner family will be assembled in the Gardner home in Winnetka, for on that date the two sons of the family, Henry Jr. and Gifford, will arrive by motor from the east. Henry goes to Yale and Gifford was graduated this month from the Phillips academy at Andover, Mass.

Mr. Gardner and Miss Marie Louise Gardner went east for the graduation; he will return on Thursday and Miss Gardner will arrive at home the end of the week. Mrs. Gardner did not accompany her husband and daughter east.

Wirt Morton and Andrew Reborl will return the end of this week from a trip east, the primary object of which was to attend the graduation exercises at the Lawrenceville school, for their respective sons, Carl Morton and Andrew Rebrol Jr., were among the graduates.

Mrs. Oliver Dennett Grover and her sister, Mrs. Edwin C. Bolton, are sailing on the 29th of this month on the Conte di Savoia to spend the summer abroad.

Miss Phoebe Massey Returns from School.

Miss Phoebe Massey, daughter of the George B. Masseys of Winnetka, has returned home from Miss Porter's school in Farmington, to which she will return in the fall.

The Horton Conrads have left for a ten days' motor trip in the east. Mrs. Conrad will visit in New York while her husband attends his tenth reunion at Dartmouth. Miss Nancy Knode accompanied her brother-in-law and sister east to be in the bridal party of Miss Mary Bliss of Scranton, Pa., Miss Knode's roommate at Sarah Lawrence college.

Because of her devotion to and interest in Vassar college, where she was graduated before the turn of the century, Mrs. Andrew MacLeish of Glencoe was recruited again yesterday for the presidency of Chicago's Vassar club. The election was held at a luncheon at the Casino club.

Mrs. MacLeish has previously served the club as president and also as the first president of the board of Vassar house, an alumnae restaurant in the Diana Court building.

Mrs. Gordon McKeldin and Mrs. Alexander Patterson were chosen the new vice presidents of the club yesterday. Mrs. Robert Paige was named secretary-treasurer, with Miss Edith Lapham her assistant.

Four Chicago girls just returned from Vassar—Miss Harriett Street, Miss Dorothy Darby, Miss Betty Johnson, and Miss Florence Hernes—brought news of the college to the luncheon guests. A report on the scholarship restaurant was read by Mrs. Arthur D. Welton.

Luncheon Today for Arden Shore Group.

Mrs. Ewing Webb, chairman of the Chicago Arden Shore auxiliary, is entertaining members of the auxiliary at luncheon today in her Lake Forest home.

Members of the Chicago College club will motor west to Geneva and on to Dundee and Elgin today. They are going to see the lovely houses and gardens along the Fox river in Geneva that are a part of the reclamation of the river front property. Then they are going on to a watch factory in Elgin and to the Haeger potteries in Dundee.

Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, Miss Janet Fairbank and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter will pour at a tea to be given this afternoon at the Cordon for Miss Mary Garden. Several voice teachers of the city will be hosts at the party which will start at 4:30 o'clock.

Distribute 3,730,000 Religious Books in Year

The Moody Bible Institute Colportage association in annual meeting yesterday heard reports showing that 3,730,000 religious books and pamphlets have been distributed during the last year under that association's direction. The meeting was held in the offices of Henry P. Crowell, president of the Quaker Oats company and vice president of the association. Reports also showed that the 1934 distribution was the largest among underprivileged persons in the association's history, with that year's total 768,000 greater than that of the preceding year.

Zion Nursery Aids.

Elmer Siegel auxiliary of the Daughters of Zion nursery will meet this afternoon at the home, 1401 North California avenue. Luncheon will be served at noon.

WEDDING

In a large wedding this morning Miss Helen V. Barrett, daughter of Mrs. Charles V. Barrett and the late Mr. Barrett, long time Republican leader, will become the bride of Stephen P. Glennon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Glennon of Jersey City, N. J.

The service will be read at 10:30 o'clock at Our Lady of Mount Carmel church by the Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Casey, Charles V. Barrett Jr. will give his sister in marriage and small Edward Barrett, another brother, will assist Msgr. Casey at the altar.

Miss Marion Barrett is to attend her sister as maid of honor and two more sisters, Gertrude and Ruth, will be the bridesmaids. Philip Glennon Jr. is here from the east to serve his brother as best man. Ushering will be Herman C. Carrozza and Edward J. Rowan Jr., both of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., John A. Finneran of New York City, and John J. Bertrand.

The service will be followed by a reception at the Barrett home at 541 Hawthorne place. Then Mr. Glennon and his bride will leave on a wedding trip to Bermuda. Upon their return they will make their home in New York City.

Corsets of Old Days Burden to Film Moderns

Cast of "Way Down East" Has Trouble Breathing.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 17.—[Special.]—The film troupe which is redoing the time honored box office stimulator, "Way Down East," at Fox's ran into unexpected complications dating back to past days. These were corsets. Janet Gaynor is so slim she doesn't mind 'em as much as other modern girls, although Janet confesses sharing the others girls' aversion, but to Astrid Allwyn, playing Kate, and Margaret Hamilton, playing Martha Perkins, the gossip, the stays constitute a major hazard.

Miss Allwyn as Kate, the up-to-date girl from Boston who comes back to the farm, was noticed on the set between shots leaning sideways on the arm of a large chair. When she bent sideways she was able to take an occasional comfortable long breath, she stated.

Margaret Hamilton said she broke in on the whalebone more gradually, playing the rôle of Lucy Gurget both on the stage and in a recent movie in "The Farmer Takes a Wife," and learned to walk and sit in her corsets during those long lacings.

Anna Sten, by the way, had to wear corsets in "Nana" from beginning to end, because the costumes of that day demanded them. She never seemed to have the same regard for her producer, Sam Goldwyn, whose employ she recently resigned from after the corset assignment.

Carole Lombard rented the entire "Fun House" concession on Venice, Cal., amusement pier for her novel party. Hundreds of guests fell through the rolling barrels, slid down chutes, rode on the miniature railway, and tried to stay on the greased merry-go-round while so many thousand gathered outside to watch the hilarious merrymakers with the famous names that it almost turned into a riot.

Mary Eaton, widow of Director Millard Webb, is being seen places with Composer Nacio Herb Brown, Anita Page's recent ex.

Maureen Delaney of the recently touring Irish Abbey players, has been signed by Radio-R. K. O. studio to play in the next film James Barton makes. Title is not yet chosen.

Vicente Escudero, Spanish gypsy dancer, and his partner, Carmita, are doing a special dance number to the tune of "Midnight in Paris" for the Jesse Lasky spectacle, "Here's to Romance," starring opera singer Nino Martini in the latter's film debut at Fox.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—United States Ambassador to Spain and Mrs. Claude G. Bowers went to New York this afternoon after several days' stay in the home of the first secretary of the embassy in Madrid and Mrs. Walter H. Schoellkopf. Yesterday they were guests for whom Mrs. Woodrow Wilson entertained at luncheon.

Former Representative and Mrs. Albert G. Simms will close their Washington home tomorrow and start for their home in Albuquerque, N. M. They will stop in Chicago and in Rockford for a day or two. They will remain in New Mexico the greater part of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt D. Barnes Jr., the latter before her marriage Saturday, Miss Katrina McCormick, daughter of Mrs. Simms, are spending a few days at Dower house, the country home of Mrs. Barnes' cousin, Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, and will go to New York tomorrow preparatory to sailing on the Manhattan Wednesday for several months' motor trip in Europe.

Elephants Placed Symmetrically in Attractive Quilt

Superstition says that elephants with curved trunks are signs of good luck. A coverlet made of this baby "Elephant" pattern, with his trunk curved in friendly greeting, would be great good fortune for any boy or girl lucky enough to be enveloped in its warmth. Brown and white is a suggested color combination. For the extremely young child, a pretty rose background with light gray baby elephants so symmetrically designed and arranged on a quilt that they appear to be in the midst of a trained performance is suggested.

Serenity Vital Charm in the Woman Today

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Along with the photograph of a distinguished member of society, presented in one of the fashion magazines, one reads as the woman's assets: "The distinction of serenity; the vitality of an excellent horsewoman, and the poise of an accomplished hostess!"

A pretty complete picture of a modern charmer, wouldn't you say? Proving, too, that it takes more to gain a spot of distinction in today's beauty world than mere prettiness or, indeed, we might say even striking beauty. The woman described, it might be said in passing, had all the pictorial qualities, but her serenity, her vitality, and poise were the points emphasized.

Serenity is a lovely asset in a woman. The wonder is that more of us do not go in for its accomplishment. We never meet a serene person but that we envy her great charm. Unfortunately, we turn right around and forget, as far as we are concerned, its usefulness as a feminine trait; it's pure decorativeness, too. For a serene woman just naturally falls into better poses. Her clothes drape more charmingly; her body falls into fore attractive lines. The truly serene woman gives an impression of depth of feeling, a great reserve of strength and energy.

Inconsistent as it may seem, she does express vitality, but vitality under great social command, may we say? People who are in great good health always can fall into a serenely quiet mood when necessary. It's the nerve wracked and the ailing who give an audience bad moments.

Women love this serenity in other women, but men adore it. Recently I heard a masculine gathering elaborate on this great lure, and to a man it was voted the "top." Poise is just another word for it. Sureness of self, another word for it. And then forgetfulness of self as it comes only to the woman who knows every little detail is right. We'd better look into this serenity business, my sisters. If it's what the gentlemen prefer in blondes, brunettes, and red heads, we'd better be about cultivating more of it.

Missouri Synod Delegates Debate Closing of Schools

Cleveland, O., June 17.—(AP)—Delegates to the annual convention of the Lutheran church, Missouri Synod, today debated heatedly the question of closing several seminaries and colleges maintained by the church. The Rev. Ben Selcke, Petersburg, Ill., the Rev. Paul Schulz, Springfield, Ill., and the Rev. H. A. Klein, president of the Springfield, Ill., seminary, led the fight for retention of the institutions before committee meetings preliminary to the convention assembly.

Brown Sugar in Powdered Form Is a Time Saver

May Be Used in Cooked or Uncooked Foods.

BY MARY MEADE.

Ever since the new powdered brown sugar took its first bow on the grocers' shelves over a year ago it has been the source of much kitchen glee. It's so delightfully easy to use in almost any concoction you want to make with it (and many are the possibilities) that its popularity has been assured right from the start.

The difference in appearance of this sugar is startling to women familiar with the darker, coarser brown sugars. It appears almost white—but not from any added substance. Here's the way its color has been explained to us: "Water is not white, but foam is. Ice is not white, but snow is. Reduce brown sugar to a fine enough powder and it looks white. Still it's brown sugar!"

Because of its fineness one notices a difference as soon as one pours out the sugar. It blends instantly and smoothly without sifting or laborious creaming. Likewise, it's possible to use it in uncooked mixtures, just as one would white confectioners' sugar. More than that, it may be substituted for ordinary brown or white sugar in regulation cooked or baked recipes!

Most interesting to us are the uncooked sweets which may be made from it in a jiffy. Instead of a cooked caramel frosting on your next spice cake, how about this speedily created one?

Uncooked Brown Sugar Icing.

3 cups powdered brown sugar
1 tablespoon soft butter
Orange or other fruit juice

Blend the sugar and butter and add enough fruit juice to achieve a smooth spreading consistency. Ice the cake while warm.

A brown sugar fudge like this next one always should be sure of scoring with bridge nibblers:

Uncooked Brown Sugar Fudge.

3 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 tablespoons butter
3 cups powdered brown sugar
4 tablespoons cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup nut meats

Melt the chocolate and butter in the top of a double boiler. Blend the sugar, cream, and vanilla in a bowl, and when creamy pour in the chocolate mixture and nuts. Mix thoroughly and spread in a buttered pan. Serve cut in squares.

Mixed with cinnamon, this powdered brown sugar makes a grand topping for a distinctive cinnamon toast. We like it sprinkled on cereals and French toast as well, but all of those minor touches stand back for the elegant hard sauce it makes. This, on the simplest of cottage puddings, is still festive fare and no mistake.

Brown Sugar Hard Sauce.

½ cup butter
1 cup powdered brown sugar
1-3 teaspoon lemon extract
2-3 teaspoon vanilla extract

Cream the butter, blend the sugar gradually, and flavor. While still soft the sauce may be forced through a pastry tube in small rosette shapes. These, chilled until firm on waxed paper, are as attractive as they are delicious.

There are many other treats in store for you if you haven't tried this new powdered sugar. One of them in particular deserves special mention. It's a gingerbread upside down cake made like this: Melt a half cup of butter in the bottom of a heavy skillet, add three-fourths cup of the sugar and a No. 2 can of drained pears, hollow side down. Pour regulation gingerbread batter over this and bake in a slow oven for about 40 minutes. Turn upside down to serve.

Make HAPPINESS a Habit

Wouldn't you like to step up the amount of enjoyment you get from life? The knack of keeping fit is largely a matter of regular habits. Your happiness may be hampered by common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in your meals.

Your grocer has a natural cereal food which corrects this condition. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, eaten regularly, supplies generous "bulk." Also vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle—and safe for normal individuals. More effective than the "bulk" in leafy vegetables, as it does not break down within the body.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

I'VE GOT TO SAVE ON LUNCHES TO BUY NEW STOCKINGS

"Honest, these runs are getting in my hair," wails Janet. "Seems as if I can't move a muscle but a run pops. They keep me so broke I can't buy a decent lunch!"

"Sounds like a bad case of cake-soap rubbing," decides Ruth. "That, or using ordinary soaps with harmful alkali can ruin stockings quicker than anything I know. Switch to Lux and see if it doesn't do the trick. I haven't had a run in a month of Sundays."

THRIFTY GIRLS cut down on costly runs by using Lux. It saves stocking elasticity. Ordinary soaps containing harmful alkali and cake-soap rubbing weaken elasticity so threads break into runs easily. Lux has no harmful alkali. Safe in water, safe in Lux.

CHARGES REDS ARE DISTURBING DAIRY FARMERS

Lyle Accuses McCarthy in Milk Hearing.

Charges that communistic agitators are active among the farmers of the Fox river valley were made yesterday at a hearing conducted by a committee of the Illinois house of representatives on a bill that would set up a state board of milk control. The session was held in the city council chambers.

The allegations were made by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle. He asserted that State Representative Frank McCarthy [Rep., Elgin], secretary of the committee, was too friendly with "the communist" element, which, the judge declared, is "fomenting trouble among the farmers" in the Fox valley.

Basis of Lyle's Charges.

Judge Lyle's appearance at the hearing was at Mr. McCarthy's request. In a radio speech recently the judge accused the legislator of aiding the "Reds" by stirring up dissension among milk producers and by seeking to oust Don N. Geyer as manager of the Pure Milk association, bargaining agency for dairy farmers in the Chicago area.

On McCarthy's demand yesterday that he produce proof of his accusations, Judge Lyle admitted he could cite no actual facts, other than that McCarthy "fraternized" with radicals before the meeting of the Kane county district of the PMA in 1934. Judge Lyle declared he did not dare name his informants for fear they "might be punished by the state or national administration."

"It's a lie," shouted McCarthy. "I never saw any Reds in Kane county and no farmer there ever heard of any either."

Lyle Repeats His Belief.

"Despite what you say," replied Judge Lyle, "I still believe you are helping the radicals to foment trouble and dissension among the milk producers. Men of your caliber are unfit to serve in the legislature."

Judge Lyle also talked against the proposed establishment of the state milk control board, asserting it would only become a tool of politicians. Asked if he had any recommendations to make, Judge Lyle said: "Yes, I have. Why don't you men go home and forget about the whole thing?"

Mr. Geyer also was a witness at the hearing. He said the PMA was on record against setting up a state milk control board. The milk industry, he declared, already suffers from too much regulation.

The committee will make its report to the house in Springfield today.

Milk Dealers Protest Ordinance.

In a later hearing in the city council chambers a subcommittee of the council heard a protest from 140 small milk dealers against some of the provisions of the recently revised city milk ordinance.

O. P. Black, representing the Associated Milk Dealers of Chicago, was the spokesman. The chief objection to the new ordinance, he said, is the requirement that all dealers pasteurize cream and milk by-products in their own plants.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the city board of health, insisted this provision be retained, pointing out that in many small plants where the owners buy pasteurized cream from larger dealers and bottle it themselves unsanitary conditions prevail.

Black then asked that the small dealers be given at least a nine month period of grace so that they can purchase the necessary pasteurizing equipment. Ald. Thomas J. Terrell [29th], chairman of the subcommittee, said this request would be taken under advisement for a few days.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Gardening Important

June 17, 1935.

GARDENING, an important phase of farming often neglected, is given a great deal of attention nowadays on THE TRIBUNE experimental farms.

Gardeners at the Wheaton farm start their crops early either in the greenhouse, in hotbeds, or under cold frames. Often they use all three means of protecting the tender vegetables and flowers while they are being nursed through the cold days of late spring. The result of this early start is that at the Wheaton farm leaf lettuce, spinach, Swiss chard, radishes, onions and other vegetables are now ready to harvest.

A week ago the peas started blooming and the buds began to form. The gardeners expect to be able to gather peas for table use in about two weeks.

Celery started from seed in the greenhouse about March 1 and transplanted to flats in April, was ready to be set out in the open garden last week. The gardeners at the Wheaton farm transplanted to the open garden also such tender plants as eggplant, and pepper, during the last few days. Last week they planted Rural New Yorker potatoes for the late crop.

Both flowers and vegetables were greatly in need of the recent sunshine and warm weather. There has been too much cool weather for vegetables to thrive.

In the flower garden, not open to the public, several flowers are now blooming, including veronica speedwell and double petunias propagated from cuttings. These were started in the greenhouse and then set out in the open. The petunia cuttings were rooted in sand in the greenhouse during the winter. This plan enables the gardeners to grow a variety of petunias true to name.

Another succession of lima beans, green beans and beets and the main crop of carrots are being planted at the farm. Golden bantam sweet corn is being put in every ten days. Kohlrabi and onions for fall harvesting and radishes are among the crops now being started in the open garden at the Wheaton farm.

Chicago Avenue Court Reopens After 13 Months

After being closed for 13 months, the renovated courtroom in the Chicago avenue police station was reopened yesterday with Judge Thomas A. Green sitting on the bench. Originally it was announced that because of the rundown condition of the building, the courtroom would remain closed permanently. Protests by citizens over the closing prompted city officials to plan the courtroom's rehabilitation.

NEW GAS SUPPLY SENT TO BALLOON ALTITUDE FLYERS

A new supply of liquid oxygen and liquid nitrogen was dispatched from Chicago yesterday to Rapid City, S. D., for the stratosphere ascension which is being planned jointly by the National Geographic society and the army air corps. The supply of gases necessary for breathing in the balloon gondola deteriorated because of delays caused by bad weather at the flight base in the South Dakota Black hills.

Maj. C. D. McAllister took off from the Chicago airport yesterday afternoon with one bottle of each of the gases. He said he planned to stop for the night at Sioux Falls, S. D., and expected to reach the base today.

Capts. Albert W. Stevens and Orvil A. Anderson, who will make the flight, have everything in readiness and are awaiting only favorable weather, Maj. McAllister said. The two captains will attempt to take a long range picture of the horizon approximately 14 miles above the earth.

AAA'S PROGRAM TO RUIN FARMER, CRITICS DECLARE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—The proposed amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment act were lashed on the floor of the house late today as unconstitutional and productive of ruin to the farmer.

The same huge majority that has pushed over other parts of President Roosevelt's "must" legislation, however, is counted upon to bring about approval of the amendments tomorrow.

A prediction that the amendments would be invalidated by the Supreme court was made by Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. [Rep., Mass.].

"The processing tax is a Roosevelt tax on the necessities of life," he said. "It is taxing the public for what it eats and wears. These amendments 'freeze' the processing taxes and block recovery of back levies which have been illegally collected."

The attitude of many members was expressed by Representative U. L. Burdick [Rep., N. D.], who said: "I personally believe these amendments will be harmful to the farmers, or at least do them no good."

SPEED UP BUILDING OF SCHOOLS FOR YOUTHS OF ALASKAN PIONEERS

PALMER, Alaska, June 17.—(AP)—School bells will ring "before snow flies" for the 450 youngsters of school age in the raw, new Matanuska valley colony. This was the assurance given today by Anthony J. Karnes, commissioner of education for Alaska. He said construction of necessary buildings would be speeded up. Snow usually comes in October.

Some of the children never have gone to school before; others will remember their first student days in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan before their parents came to the Matanuska colonization project.

Karnes, visiting the district several days, is urging that nothing be permitted to interfere with accelerating preparations. The 450 pupils will require between 18 and 20 teachers. It will be necessary to employ many carpenters and other skilled workers to get the schools built in time because of delays in the arrival of lumber, due to strikes.

JUDGE PUTS OFF RULING ON TAKING SWINDLER WEST

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday continued until this morning the hearing of a motion for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Jacob Berman, who next Saturday will finish a federal penitentiary term for using the mails in a stock promotion swindle in Los Angeles.

The petition was obtained here by Berman's attorney to keep him from being taken to a California prison. If he were released there he could be seized to start serving three consecutive sentences of one to fourteen years in the state penitentiary for forgery growing out of the same transactions.

The continuance was granted by Judge Sullivan to permit Berman's attorney to study the government's answer to the petition which declares the federal court here has no jurisdiction or authority to send Berman back to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

FATALLY HURT IN FALL.

Suspected Boat Captured by Coast Guard Flyer

Boston, Mass., June 17.—[Special.]—Halted off Monomoy Point, Cape Cod, by gunfire from a coast guard plane, summoned by radio, after she had outdistance a patrol boat, the new Bedford owned speed boat Hobo was towed into Boston today. Three of the crew were released, and the fourth was held on suspicion of being an alien. Search revealed no trace of contraband liquor.

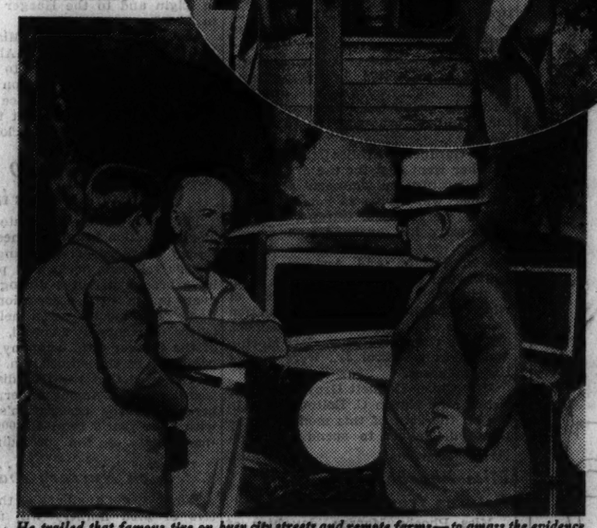
"GET THE GOODS ON G3"

WENT OUT THE ORDER TO INSPECTOR FAUROT

—and he bared the private lives of hundreds of tires to get the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth about 43% longer non-skid mileage



Over and over Faurot's reports PROVED "G-3" All-Weather tread delivers more than 43% longer non-skid mileage!

—because of the broader road contact of a flatter, wider All-Weather tread —because of the slow, even wear of closer-nested non-skid blocks and wider riding ribs

—because of more rubber in the tread—an average of two pounds more per tire

AND QUICKER STOPPING SAFETY because of the greater road grip of more non-skid blocks in the center of that famous tread!

IN any court room in America, they assume a man innocent until he's proved guilty.

But we reversed the process on the "G-3" All-Weather.

We put this tire under suspicion. Sent that pioneer fingerprint expert of America — former head of all detective activities for Greater New York—to run down the truth about this tire's performance.

Does it live up to its reputation?

Does it deliver 43% longer non-skid mileage on owners' cars—as it did in that grueling third degree on the Goodyear test fleet—when they'd speed up to 50—jam on the brakes, hour after hour, day after day?

These are the questions Goodyear wanted to answer—so a bold step was taken to get the facts—and Faurot made a 7,000-mile search for evidence.

He trailed that famous tire on busy city streets and remote farms—to amass the evidence. (Snapshots taken during nation-wide search by Joseph A. Faurot, famous sleuth and now Chief of Department of Identification, Commercial Crime Commission.)

How the reports piled up!

We'll have to skip the dramatic story of that fact-hunt—the days and nights of trailing, checking, quizzing, shadowing every kind of driver who uses tires. But we can give you a thrilling glimpse of the results.

Here—packed down for brevity—are some mine-run cases, just like the hundreds more which that famous sleuth uncovered:

Wholesale clothing salesman—covers Michigan and Wisconsin. Interviewed in Chicago. Tire mileage 21,846—¼th of "G-3" grip remains. Compared to former tires, this is fully 50% better non-skid mileage.

Light delivery car driver—makes 100 to 150 stops and starts per day. Interviewed Elgin, Ill. Speedometer reading, 79,464. "G-3" mileage to date 22,211. Non-skid tread still clearly visible. Driver figures this is at least 45% better than former tires.

Bar-B-Que stand owner—outside Winston-Salem, N. C. Tire has gone 23,846 miles—that is 5,000 miles farther than former tires and tread design is still visible.

Sales representative—Albuquerque, N. M. Travels all over state. Often covers 300 miles per day. Speedometer reading, 30,040. Tire mileage 10,000 miles in ten weeks. ⅔ds of tread still on tire (former tire replaced at 20,000). This indicates "G-3" would keep its grip at least 45 to 50% longer.

Glassware salesman—San Francisco, Calif. Speedometer 61,750—tire mileage 16,000. Travels 500 miles per week. Has owned 20 cars. "G-3" All-Weather giving easily 60% longer non-skid wear.

That kind of evidence speaks for itself. But it can't tell the whole story. There are two parts to a tire—tread and carcass. And beneath that heavier, broader, longer-wearing "G-3" tread, Goodyear puts patented Supertwist Cord—extra-resilient, extra-durable—to give longer life and better protection from blowouts in every ply.

Do you realize that this famous tire—the "G-3" All-Weather—outsells any other tire in the world? That's the greatest evidence of all, proving its extra safety, extra value.

It's waiting for you now—no farther away than your nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer—and it doesn't cost an extra cent to buy.

SCHMELING AND BRADDOCK MAY MEET IN FALL

Garden Asks Champ to Fight Soon.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—A championship bout between Champion Jim Braddock and Max Schmeling of Germany, ex-champion, in late September instead of next June was suggested to Joe Gould, the champion's manager, by Matchmaker Jimmy Johnston of Madison Square Garden today.

MAX SCHMELING.

Braddock is under contract to make his next appearance for the Garden. Therefore, argues Johnston, why allow Braddock to cool as an attraction? He is strong in public favor now as a result of his unexpected victory over Baer in one of pugilism's greatest upsets. Neither Baer nor Carnera before him, points out the matchmaker, earned through theatrical contracts and boxing exhibitions the sums they thought should flow to a champion.

Jacobs Is Willing.

Joey Jacobs, American manager for Schmeling, is perfectly agreeable. He thinks September would be far better than next June. Max himself, once opposed to meeting Jersey Jim in an elimination contest, now looks with favor on the championship match and has cabled his approval.

Jacobs will sail for Europe following the Joe Louis-Carnera bout here June 25. If Gould, for Braddock, acquiesces Jacobs will carry a contract for the September date. Otherwise he will take a document calling for a meeting next June. Gould is expected to give a favorable reply after consulting with Braddock either tomorrow or Wednesday.

Schmeling's next bout is against Paulino Uzcudun in Berlin July 7. They fought a 12 round draw in Barcelona a year ago.

"What good will this money do you; you can't bring it out of Germany?" Jacobs was asked.

More About Those Hands.

"Well," replied Joey, "Schmeling gets most of it and lives there, so he's all right. Guess I'll have to spend mine for beer before I leave Germany."

Ex-champion Max Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, came to the city today from their Long Branch cottage, where brother Buddy is training for his fight in a preliminary to the Louis-Carnera bout.

"Will Baer fight the Louis-Carnera winner in September," Hoffman was asked.

"He will if his hands are all right by that time," Hoffman replied. "Those hands are one of my strangest experiences in the fight game. I thought Max's hands were all right, but he kept complaining about them at camp, so as a precaution I asked permission for extra bandages and adhesive tape under the gloves.

Braddock Plans Tour.

"The Braddock party was willing if given the same privilege, for Jim in the past also had trouble with his hands. I went over and saw the bandaging of Jim's hands. When I came back, I found no tape on Max's hands to hold the bandages in place. When I asked why, Max said his knuckles were so sore he could not stand the pain of the extra taping and refused to wear it. I was dumbfounded and still can't understand it."

Meantime, Braddock will undertake to learn just how anxious the public is to see him. Francis Albertanti, who directed the advance publicity from Jim's camp and worked up the human interest angle which gave public sympathy to Jersey Jim, has been commissioned to schedule a transcontinental tour of theatrical appearances and boxing exhibitions.

BUDGE TRIUMPHS IN QUEENS CLUB TENNIS TOURNEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 17.—Donald Budge, California, who hopes to earn the vacant singles berth on the United States Davis Cup team, which plays the winner of the European zone finals next month, began his campaign in the Queens club tournament this afternoon by whipping the Hon. I. Montague, 6-0, 6-0. Spectators were impressed with Budge's swift volleys and his calm play.

Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., whom Budge must displace on the Davis Cup team, since the other singles berth is conceded to Sidney B. Wood Jr., New York, defeated A. A. Fyzee this afternoon, 6-1, 6-1. John Van Ryn, another Texan, drew a bye, while Gene Mako, California, won by default.

Wood withdrew from the singles to conserve his energy for the Wimbledon tournament and will compete here only in the doubles.

Clayton Lee Burwell, former Sewanee university star, reached the second round of the Queens tournament by defeating Judge Hargreaves, 6-2, 6-2. He will meet Budge tomorrow. In the women's division, Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., gained the second round with a 6-0, 6-2 victory.

BIG TEN STARS AT BERKELEY FOR TRACK MEET

Berkeley, Cal., June 17.—(AP)—Three athletes from Temple university, three from Illinois, and one from Minnesota arrived today to prepare for the National Collegiate A. A. track and field meet Friday and Saturday.

The Temple delegation included two colored stars, Eulace Peacock, sprinter and broad jumper, and Al Threadgill, high jumper, and Dave Smukler, full back who will put the shot.

Illinois' trio were Robert Grieve, sprinter; Bob Riegel, high jumper, and Irv Seely, pole vaulter. Wayne Slocum, two miler from Minnesota, rounded out the group. T. Nelson Metcalf of Chicago, chairman of the N. C. A. A. track and field committee, arrived on the same train.

Word was received that the Ohio State squad, headed by Jesse Owens, will remain in Los Angeles to train three days, arriving Thursday.

Carnera Loses 20 Pounds; Now He Is Down to 260

Owasca Lake, N. Y., June 17.—[Special.]—Primo Carnera is entering the final stage of his training for the Joe Louis bout at the Yankee stadium a week from tomorrow, showing not the slightest sign of excess weight.

Since May 3 Carnera has pared off more than 20 pounds. Yesterday when he completed his drill he weighed a bit under 260 pounds.

This indicates he will enter the ring at about 256 pounds, one of the lowest figures he has reached in his career. The loss of unnecessary fat has reflected in his speed, which for his great size is remarkable.

MRS. O. S. HILL'S 77 WINS MEDAL IN OMAHA GOLF

Omaha, Neb., June 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, Mo., defending champion, turned in a 77, three under par, to become medalist in today's 18 hole qualifying round of the Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf tournament.

Playing under a sullen sky in the forenoon and blazing her way over a rain drenched course in the afternoon, the defending champion was two strokes under Mrs. Charles F. Newbold of Wichita, Kans., her nearest rival.

After Mrs. Newbold, with her 79, came Marion Miley, Lexington, Kentucky state champion; Sarah Guth, St. Louis city champion, and Lucile Robinson, Des Moines, former Western champion; each with an 81. A 17 year old miss, Patty Jane Berg, Minneapolis, served notice she must be reckoned with by her card of 82.

Tomorrow's pairings find Mrs. Hill pitted against another Kansas City resident, Mrs. E. Devilbiss, who qualified with a 93. Mrs. Newbold meets Mrs. J. A. Walter, Kansas City, who had a 92.

Mrs. L. K. Zech, Chicago, who qualified with 84, meets Mrs. J. J. Ruscott, Oklahoma City, in the first round.

Waco, Tex., Pro Cards 72 in Scottish Open

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GLEN EAGLES, Scotland, June 17.—Joe Ezar, Waco, Tex., professional, scored 72 in the first round of the Scottish open golf tournament today. After tomorrow's 18 hole round, the field will be reduced to 60 low scorers for Wednesday's 36 hole round. Ezar is entered in the British open championship at Muirfield next week.

SOX, YANKEES TO TRY AGAIN TODAY; PHELPS PITCHES

New York to Use Tamulis, Star Southpaw.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox and Yankees drew another blank from the weather man yesterday, not because of more rainfall, but because of the mud which lingered on Lou Comiskey's premises as the result of Sunday's deluge. Conditions were such that the home club didn't hesitate hanging out the postponement sign long before the noon hour, but, barring more showers, the diamond will be in shape by this afternoon so that the Yankees can conclude their visit here with a few hours of work.

Babe Phelps, who has been waiting since Sunday to make his second start with the White Sox, will be delegated to handle the pitching chores today. In his other start the ex-National leaguer did a neat job of stopping Washington's Senators. The Yanks probably will turn loose Vito Lefty Tamulis, although Joe McCarthy has so many first rate tossers that he might change his plans at the last minute.

Plenty of Work Ahead.

With three games of the present series washed away, the Yanks, also the Sox, are in for some heavy work when the New Yorkers come this way on their final trip. Seven games will have to be disposed of in four days, and if there's another postponement this afternoon it will mean four double headers in a row. A twin bill could have been booked for today, but the Sox preferred to delay it for the very good reason that they are not in very good trim.

Still another reason for not wishing double toil today is that a double header is scheduled for Thursday against the Athletics. If all the games had been played with the Yanks in the current series this double engagement would have found Manager Jim Dykes sadly shy of pitching talent. In addition there is a double header booked for Sunday with the Boston Red Sox. The bargain attraction was devised by moving back the game originally scheduled for next Tuesday.

Sewell Back Sunday.

By Sunday it is probable that Luke Sewell, who had caught every Sox game this season until he suffered a charley horse last Friday, will be back in action. He has shown rapid improvement.

John Whitehead, the Texas league rookie who won his first eight games and now has collected three defeats in a row, probably will be started against the Athletics in Wednesday's opener and then will be brought back for one of Sunday's games with the Red Sox.

Holders of rain checks from Sunday's postponed double header can exchange grand stand tickets at the ball park and box seat tickets either at the park or The Hub. Refunds will be made if rain checks are mailed to the park along with self-addressed envelope.

FEATHERS, BEARS' STAR, MARRIES VIRGINIA GIRL

Pennington Gap, Va., June 17.—(AP)—Beattie Feathers, all-American at the University of Tennessee and back field star for the Chicago Bears, professional team, last season, was married to Miss Inez Williams of Pennington Gap, at Tazewell, Tenn., June 9, it was revealed today. Feathers is a summer school student at Tennessee.

The bride is the daughter of G. J. Williams, superintendent for the Kentucky Utilities Power company at Pineville, Ky., with supervision of power plants at Pocket, Va., and Four Mile, Ky.

Twenty Grand to Compete in English Stakes Today

ASCOT, England, June 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Payne Whitney's great champion, Twenty Grand, will make his first appearance on an English race course tomorrow. The American thoroughbred is entered in the Queen Anne stakes, one of the features of the opening program of the Royal Ascot meeting. Twenty Grand has been assigned 125 pounds for the test of seven furlongs, 155 yards. Topweight is 129 pounds.

WIN IN BASEBALL FIGHT

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Pitts Plays First Game in Albany Uniform Sunday

Albany, N. Y., June 17.—(AP)—Alabama Pitts and General Manager Johnny Evers of the Albany ball club uttered the same exclamation when informed today of Judge Landis' decision that Pitts might play baseball:

"I'm tickled to death," they both declared.

Pitts said:

"I'm sure Judge Landis will never regret having made that decision, and I know I am going to make good in organized baseball. That's all."

Evers, who was in Troy, said:

"I've had many thrills in baseball, but this is the greatest thrill I've ever had in my life."

Grateful to Landis.

Surrounded by a crowd of newspaper men, photographers, and club officials, Pitts stood in the office of the Albany baseball club and assured the gathering his faith in Commissioner Landis had been upheld when he was permitted to play.

"He is a great man," Pitts said. "I had always heard about his fairness, but not until today did I realize just what one of his rulings could mean to me."

Al Mamaux, club manager, had this to say: "Those who think Pitts' training has been neglected are going to be fooled. He is better today than some of the outfielders I have seen in the International league."

Will Play Sunday.

"I expect to see Pitts started in the Albany lineup Sunday," Evers said. "In fairness to the boy I don't feel that he should make his start in a night game under the lights. It would be too much of a handicap to ask until he has a chance to get used to things."

Evers said a new contract will be drawn up immediately for Pitts. He refused to disclose Pitts' salary under the original contract. A report gave Pitts' earlier contract terms as $200 a month.

LAWES LAUDS DECISION.

Ossining, N. Y., June 17.—(AP)—Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing, who encouraged Alabama Pitts to develop his athletic talent, heard Kenesaw M. Landis' decision while motoring back here today from New York.

"The decision speaks for itself—it shows intelligence," he commented enthusiastically tonight. "Nobody can add to it. Naturally I am pleased."

The psychological effect will be as valuable as the decision itself, Lawes said.

"It is encouraging to administrators as well as all the men in prison," he said.

"Pitts is pretty cool headed and modest, and I think he will make good in baseball. It's up to him now."

It was Lawes who got Pitts started with the Albany baseball club. For four years he encouraged Pitts in athletics behind the walls.

BRAMHAM IS SILENT.

Durham, N. C., June 17.—(AP)—W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, declined to comment today upon Commissioner Landis' ruling by which Alabama Pitts will be permitted to play baseball with the Albany club of the International league.

GILES DELAYS STATEMENT.

Rochester, N. Y., June 17.—(AP)—Warren C. Giles, chairman of the minor league executive committee which barred Alabama Pitts from baseball, declined to comment today when informed the committee had been overruled by K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

"I will have no comment to make until after I have had a chance to study the decision thoroughly," Giles said.

GOOD LUCK—KNAPP.

Baltimore, Md., June 17.—(AP)—Charles H. Knapp, president of the International Baseball league, is glad Alabama Pitts is to have his chance in baseball.

"I'm glad they're going to let him play and I hope he'll make good," Knapp said of the Landis decision.

FIRPO MARBERRY NAMED AMERICAN LEAGUE UMPIRE

Fred [Firpo] Marberry, veteran American league pitcher, recently released by the Detroit Tigers, was made a member of the American league umpire staf by President Will Harridge yesterday.

Marberry will be kept in Chicago for several days of schooling in American league umpiring technique and will be sent out for active duty in a week or so.

BLANTON, PIRATE STAR, STRICKEN BY APPENDICITIS

Philadelphia, Pa., June 17.—(AP)—Cy Blanton, the Pittsburgh Pirates' sensational recruit pitcher, was rushed to the Jefferson Memorial hospital tonight suffering with what physicians diagnosed as acute appendicitis.

At first surgeons considered operating tonight, but shortly before midnight Manager Pie Traynor announced that Blanton's condition seemed improved. The surgeons decided to wait until tomorrow and decide then if an operation is necessary. Meanwhile Mrs. Blanton sped here from Pittsburgh by plane to be at her husband's bedside.

Blanton, pitching his first year as a regular in the majors, was slated to face the Phillies today.

Indians Sign Phillips; Send Catcher Pytlak Home

Cleveland, O., June 17.—(AP)—General Manager Billy Evans today announced the purchase of Ed Phillips, veteran catcher, from Albany of the International league, to bolster the staf of the Cleveland Indians during a temporary absence of Frankie Pytlak. Phillips has served with the Tigers, the Yankees and the Senators. He is expected to report tomorrow. Pytlak left the club today because of illness.

SLUGGER DRIVES IN FOUR RUNS TO WIN FOR FRENCH

Makes Three Hits Off Earnshaw.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 17.—Chuck Klein, with two homers good for four runs, was indispensable today to the project in which the Cubs made it three straight from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 3.

CHUCK KLEIN.

The awakened Hoosier made three of the eight hits accomplished off George Earnshaw, and each of his homers backed up a single by Freddy Lindstrom. The second circuit smash was his ninth of the year and his sixth since 1:30 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon.

This second homer was knocked just in time to avert a tie score. It came with two out in the first half of the ninth and Babe Phelps led off the latter half of the ninth with a homer, the eleventh hit off Larry French.

French Has Control.

French pitched well in the pinches as he went about the business of ringing up his fifth victory of the year. This is attested by the fact the Dodgers had nine runners left on bases. Larry's control was good. He walked only one batsman.

The Cubs now have gained three games in as many played on the teams that adjoin them in the National league standings.

They now are three games ahead of the fifth place Dodgers and a game and a half behind the collapsed Cardinals. However, they remain 8½ games behind the league leading Giants. The Chicagoans have won five out of their last six games and six out of nine played in the east, bringing their record for this trip to six and six.

Bang! No. 8 for Chuck.

Klein's No. 8 homer of the season scored the first runs of the afternoon. Lindstrom opened the second inning with a single to center. Then Chuck socked Earnshaw's third pitch against the screen back of the right field wall. Cavarretta, Jurges, and French supplied easy outs.

The Dodgers got one run in their half of the second. Reis opened with a single to center, went to second on Taylor's out and scored on Jordan's double to right center. Cuccinello grounded out to Herman and Lopez flied to Lindstrom.

Bordagaray doubled with one out in the third, but Stripp popped to Jurges and Jurges threw out Frey. The Dodgers had two runners on in the fourth on singles by Taylor and Cuccinello, but nothing came of the splurge.

Foray Cut Short.

Cavarretta launched the fifth with the third hit off Earnshaw, a single past Cuccinnello, and moved up on Jurges' sacrifice. French fanned, but Galan singled to right, scoring Cavarretta. Galan, however, was taken by surprise on an elemental cutoff play and was run down between first and second for the third out.

The Dodgers wasted two more singles, by Bordagaray and Stripp, in the fifth. They were more successful in the sixth. Taylor got a pass to start this inning, then Jordan and Cuccinello furnished easy outs. Lopez beat out a single to deep short, Taylor stopping at second. Earnshaw singled to right, scoring Taylor and putting Lopez on third. Big George went to second on Klein's throw. Bordagaray, who had doubled and singled two previous times up, grounded out to Jurges to end the inning.

Homers Or no Count.

With two out in the ninth Lindstrom got his second single and again scored on a homer by Klein. This time Chuck knocked the ball into the street beyond the right field screen.

In the home half Phelps batted for Earnshaw and knocked a homer against the screen beyond right field. Jurges threw out Bordagaray, French tossed out Stripp, and Frey fouled to O'Dea.

FINAL WEEK OF GOLF SCHOOL STARTS TONIGHT

Women and Girls Take Lesson in Putting.

The third annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE in conjunction with the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association will enter its final week tonight when the fifth classes for women and girls will be given on the 13 member courses of the Daily Fee organization. The thousands of men and boys taking part in the biggest group instruction plan in the history of the game will have their fifth turn tomorrow night.

The sixth and final lessons will close the week and the instructional side of the school, women and girls going through their final paces on Thursday night, and men and boys on Friday.

Then will come the graduating exercises, the sites of which will be announced within a few days. The commencement group will be named at the final lessons on all of the 13 courses Thursday and Friday nights. Each professional will choose his best student in each class, making a total of 52 finalists.

Finalists in Tourney.

These 52 will have their first opportunity to put into practice the six lessons they will have received during the regular course of the school on next Sunday, when they will meet in an 18 hole medal play tournament, to be decided from scratch. The same 52 will gather again on June 28 to vie in a form contest, which will be judged by a jury of the game's leading professionals, including Horton Smith of Oak Park, Tommy Armour of Medinah, Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, Denny Shute of Westward-Ho, Dick Metz of the Lasker course, Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, and Jock Hutchinson of Glen View. Each pupil will be allowed three solo swings before this jury, which will judge them on a uniform system of scoring.

THE TRIBUNE will award golf bags, clubs, balls, and trophies to the winners of these final contests, while the Daily Fee association will award playing memberships good for the remainder of the season at the course at which they received their lessons.

Chipping and Putting.

The lessons tonight and tomorrow night will be devoted to chipping and putting, two of the most important branches of the game, while the final lessons on Thursday and Friday will be a review of the entire course, in addition to the naming of the winners.

Classes at the three inner courses—Mid-City, Evergreen, and Big Oaks—will begin at 7 p. m., while those at the outlying courses—Big Run, Cog Hill, Elmgate, Mission Hills, Indian Head, Northbrook, Techny Fields, Vernon, Wabansee, and Westgate Valley—will open a half hour later, at 7:30 p. m.

C.Y.O. Boxers Face New York Team July 31

A team representing the Catholic Boys' club of New York will meet the eight Catholic Youth organization boxing champions in the first of a series of intercity tournaments between the two organizations at Wrigley field July 31, it was announced last night.

In addition to the title matches there will be preliminary bouts between the eight boys who finished second in the recent New York competition, which attracted an entry of 2,000, and the C. Y. O. runnersup.

DAVEY DAY WINS DECISION OVER PATSY SEVERO

Davey Day last night strengthened his position as a leading contender for the lightweight boxing championship by beating Patsy Severo in ten rounds at Marigold Gardens. Day, who weighed 133¾, one quarter of a pound more than Severo, was the aggressor throughout.

A capacity crowd of 1,800 paid $1,998 gross to see the bout. Jimmy Eliopoulos, Chicago bantamweight, won a six round decision over Bobby O'Dowd of Sioux City, Ia., in the semi-final. Jackie Sherman, Detroit, beat Mickey O'Shea, Bob Tinsley beat Jimmy Richards and Al Vanden Bosch and Syl Saleska, Milwaukee, drew a four round preliminary contests.

Braddock's Cinderella Story a Laugh in '34, Smash in '35

BY JACK MILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—If Hans Christian Andersen or some other fairy tale fabricator had spun the strange saga of James J. Braddock, the Cinderella man of boxing, readers would have screamed "fake!" or "preposterous!" Or if the Jersey jolter himself had paused in his back breaking labors on a North river dock to predict a year ago that he would fight Max Baer for the world's heavyweight championship—and also beat him—the gritty Celt's listeners would have tapped their foreheads significantly and murmured:

"Poor fellow—and he's such a nice boy to wind up punch drunk, too!"

For not since a slim, pompadoured young bank clerk from San Francisco named James J. Corbett, stopped the mighty John L. Sullivan in New Orleans back in 1892 has there been such an upset in the ranks of the big fellows as was caused when pugilism's Forgotten Man fairly punched the ears off Baer in Madison Square Garden bowl at Long Island City last Thursday evening.

Experts Wrong—Baer Too.

All the sports writers liked Jim personally, and they admired him for the game fight he put up to keep his lovely wife and three charming children from starvation. But they figured that the burly Baer would belt him out in a few rounds—as the champion himself also reckoned before the starting bell rang. Jim's pals, who stayed away from the bout rather than see the lion hearted Braddock beaten to a pulp, all said:

"Well, he'll pick up a hatful of money, even if he does get knocked out."

But Jimmy disposed of the boastful Baer just as he had whipped a host of other good gladiators whom he was expected to serve as a human chopping block. And just as the brash Baer was an unpopular figure, Jersey Jim is a cinch to be the most popular champion the Irish have produced since Sullivan. And the reason is simple:

Braddock has been kicked around. He has been down and out, on relief rolls and all but counted out in the game of life. He's an underdog of underdogs, a fellow who has taken his tough breaks without a squawk and kept on punching—and Joe Public and his pals love this type of guy!

Washed Up, Eh?

A poll recently taken among the nation's boxing writers by a ring publication names ten men who were the outstanding heavyweights of 1934. Baer's name tops the list and the sensational Joe Louis is in last place—but Braddock didn't get a vote! For James Jay was washed up, you see; a rattling good 175 pounder a few years back, but a chap who just didn't belong among the topnotchers of his craft.

"That Jim is so tough that if you wanted to hurt him you'd have to use an ax!" was the admiring comment of Doc Robb, Jim's competent trainer, in reviewing the Baer-Braddock bout for this writer.

"Max hit Bradock in that third round with a right hand punch that would have dropped an ordinary guy," Robb explained, "and when I saw Jim stand up under the same sort of blow that tipped over Primo Carnera I knew I was working for the next heavyweight champ.

One Injury After Another.

"Jim has had everything happen to him in the line of injuries," Robb continued. "In a fight with Germany Heller his collarbone was broken. A week before he stopped Tuffy Griffiths he suffered a sprained ankle. He fought with two broken ribs against Hans Birkie. He broke his right hand in a battle with Joe Monte, a tough cookie if ever I saw one!

"The hand was set wrong and a surgeon told Jim it would have to be rebroken and set properly. Jim didn't have the money for the operation, so what do you suppose that nervy Irishman did?

"'Get me a fight and I'll break the hand myself in the ring!' he told his manager, Joe Gould. So Joe tossed him in with Paul Swiderski. Jim banged the Pole on the top of the head in the opening round and, sure enough, he broke the hand. He was out of action for two months while the mitt mended. He broke the hand again, but by accident this time, in a fight with Abe Feldman soon afterward!"

Hurt in Training Camp.

Trainer Robb revealed for the first time that the durable Braddock was injured while working in his Catskill camp for the Baer bout, but Jim kept his disability a strict secret for fear that the fight—his big chance—might be called off.

"A ligament in his left side was torn and he had to quit boxing for a week," Robb confessed. "A doctor told him only rest would heal it, but we had a special harness built which Jim wore under his shirt, to protect this ruptured muscle. When he resumed sparring, we told his partners to keep their punches up and forbade them to hit him in the body. If Baer had known about this he could have stopped Jim with body blows. As it was he once hit him with a murderous right hook to that weak side. The blow reddened Braddock's ribs and nearly ruined him. It was the most painful poke Jim caught during the whole match and for a time I was afraid it might be curtains for my boy."

HARVARD ALUMNI DIG UP LINKS IN SEARCH FOR GOLD

The excitement started yesterday when a Cape Cod girl, Miss Edna Marshant, attempting a shot from a sand trap, struck a human skull. A golf club employé then gathered up a basket of bones.

Many residents recalled old tales that not only pirates but pirate gold was buried hereabouts, and today old grads succumbed to the lure. They found additional bones, which will be examined by acheologists in the hope of determining if they are skeletons of white men or Indians, but nary a Spanish dubloon nor piece of eight was brought to light.

Among those who joined in the digging were Henry S. Sturgis, first vice president of the First National Bank of New York; Evan S. Draper, New England mill owner; Huntington R. [Tack] Hardwick, once famous gridiron hero, and Bernard S. Carter of the Paris branch of J. P. Morgan & Co.

$3,500 OPEN AT MEDINAH DRAWS STAR GOLF FIELD

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The professional golf caravan, which has made important stands at Oakmont and South Bend within the last two weeks for the national and western open championships, will move upon Chicago this week-end for the outstanding open event of the local district—the first annual $3,500 open of the Medinah Country club, starting Thursday.

Johnny Revolta, the curly haired Milwaukeean who won the western title Sunday afternoon with a score of 290, after having led from the halfway mark, will head the field of more than 125 leading pros and amateurs who are expected to compete in the tournament on the big west side club's No. 3 championship course.

Hospital Will Benefit.

Proceeds of the tournament will go to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, as do those taken in the Shrine's East-West football game at San Francisco every New Year's day. Medinah adopted this latter plan to golf, and officials plan to make the event an annual fixture.

Revolta will not be the only star from outside the district. With him, among others, will be Willie Goggin, the San Franciscan who was second to Revolta in the western; Byron Nelson, 23 year old Ridgewood, N. J., sharpshooter, who is looked upon as one of the game's comers and who finished third at South Bend; Jimmy Thomson, the game's longest hitter, who filed a 71 on the final round of the western; Fay Coleman and Mark Fry, Los Angeles, and Bill Kaiser, Louisville.

Chicago Stars to Compete.

The Chicago district itself will be represented by such as Tom Armour of the home club; Horton Smith, Oak Park; Denny Shute, Westward-Ho; Harry Cooper, Glen Oak; Frank Walsh, Bryn Mawr; Jock Hutchison, Glen View; Dick Metz of the Lasker course, and Ky Laffoon, Northmoor. A number of the best amateurs in the district also are expected to compete.

The tournament will be a 72 hole medal play competition, with 18 holes Thursday, 18 more Saturday, and the final 36 holes Sunday.

Thomson and Frank Walsh will give an 18 hole exhibition at the Bryn Mawr club this afternoon. The event will be free to the public.

Bob O'Link's fourteenth annual Hullabaloo, one of the best known invitational tournaments in the district, will open with its first 18 holes today and conclude with another 18 tomorrow. The Southmoor Frolic, postponed from last week, also will be held tomorrow.

Entries for the 36th western amateur championship, to be played at the Broadmoor Golf club, Colorado Springs, Colo., from July 16 through the 21st, close at the office of the secretary, Henry C. Bartholomay, 175 West Jackson boulevard, by 5 p. m. July 9. The tournament will be open with two 18 hole rounds of medal play on July 16 to 17 to determine the match play field for the championship. Two 18 hole matches will be played on the 18th and 19th, with the 36 hole semi-finals on the 20th and the 36 hole title match on the 21st.

The fourth annual golf tournament of the Holy Name society of La Grange will be held tomorrow at the Glen Oak Country club. P. F. Kuhlman, chairman of the committee in charge for the day, announces that special events for prizes will begin at 1 p. m. for both women and men. For women who do not play golf, a bridge party starting at 2:30 p. m. has been arranged. A putting and approaching contest has been scheduled for 6 p. m., with dinner at 7:30.

Golden Gloves Movie Schedule

TODAY — Jefferson, Goshen, Ind.; White Palace, Chicago; Town Talkies, Chicago.

PARKER WINS HIS FIRST CLAY COURTS MATCH

Frankie Parker, top seeded player in the national clay court tennis tournament, defeated his first round opponent, Willard Klunsinger, of Michigan State college in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1, in the national clay courts tournament at River Forest yesterday. The match was played on a rain soaked court.

Immediately afterward, tournament officials decided to halt play because of a persistent drizzle. Competition will be resumed at 11 o'clock this morning.

Eleven of the 60 matches scheduled were crowded into the two hours' play. J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., defeated Dave Metz of Burlington, Ia., 8-0, 6-4 and Wilbur Hess, eliminated the young Chicago star, Doug Coyle, 6-3, 6-2.

Another seeded player, Sam Lee, of Leland Stanford university, won in two love sets over Bill Walker of Chicago. Lee's team mate, Jack Lynch, was pressed to eliminate a former University of Chicago captain, Herman Ries, 6-3, 8-6.

Other first round victors were Art Kaiser, River Forest veteran, and Paul Dixon, University of Illinois.

Summaries:

J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., defeated Dave Metz, Burlington, Ia., 6-0, 6-4.
Fred Whitman, Princeton university, defeated Oscar Kaner, Santa Barbara, Cal., 6-3, 6-0.

New York, June 17.—(AP)—The Giants pounded everything Paul Dean threw today and treated Rookie Ray Harrell just as badly to rout the Cardinals for the third straight time, 14 to 3.

New York piled up 19 hits, eleven off Dean in the first four innings. Hal Schumacher was a bit wobbly at the start, but that didn't matter after the New York sluggers went into action.

Landis Rules Pitts Can Join Albany Team

player would remain the same, as they are in many states which prohibit persons convicted of a felony from military service, from holding public office, or civil service positions. Then followed the concluding paragraphs and their mention of the new situation cited previously.

Text of Statement.

"In re Player E. C. Pitts:

"Appeals by the Albany club and the player, jointly and severally, from rulings of the president and executive committee of the National association.

"Appeal of the Albany club is not within the commissioner's jurisdiction, the executive committee's decision being final so far as the club is concerned, under section 4, article I., major-minor league agreement.

"Appeal of the player is within the commissioner's jurisdiction, under section 4, article I., major-minor league agreement, in that it is 'a case where the player's financial claim in issue amounts to $300 or more.'

Cites Facts of Robbery.

"In the course of the considerable publicity in this case there have been created erroneous impressions which require correction. It has been represented that the offense committed, which is the basis of the National association ruling, grew out of an 'escapade' wherein Pitts, 'drunk' and 'hungry,' was misled into accompanying 'an older man' [or 'a tough guy'] into a store, only to discover that his companion's purpose was robbery, which the companion accomplished by using a gun, while Pitts, unarmed and merely obeying his companion's orders, took '$5' or '$10' from the cash register; that this was the only offense in which Pitts ever was involved; and that Pitts pleaded guilty out of consideration for his companion's wife and children and to lessen his companion's punishment by 'taking the rap' for him.

"The official record, certified by the court which sentenced Pitts, establishes that it was Pitts who entered the store, held up the clerks with his loaded revolver, and took $76.25 from the cash register. [The amount is not important—it depended upon what the cash register contents happened to be—but $5 or $10 is more consistent with the 'drunk' and 'hungry' and 'escapade' representations.] Pitts' accomplice [one year older than Pitts] acted as 'lookout' and was unarmed. As to the accomplice, the trial judge said:

"'There is no evidence before me that he was in any other robbery than this, while Pitts has been in at least five other similar robberies.'

"Wherefore the court merely committed the accomplice to a reformatory.

"In respect to Pitts' plea of guilty of second degree robbery, the court said:

"'I think a good deal of consideration was shown you [Pitts] in the acceptance of your plea.' And again:

"'I should think Pitts was very fortunate that he was not compelled to plead guilty to robbery in the first degree, where the mandatory sentence would have been twenty years.'

"Illustration of Disorder."

"The official record contains no evidence or claim that either Pitts or his accomplice was either 'drunk' or 'hungry.' Apparently the robbery was just a typical illustration of the moral disorder afflicting that portion of 'modern youth' whose desires for 'easy money,' 'thrills,' and 'high life' have brought about the pathetic and tragic fact that the great majority of crimes involving use of weapons now are committed by youths of 17 to 25.

"Considering that Pitts was a minor and never before convicted [notwithstanding he had been, according to the court's statement, in at least five other similar robberies], the court committed him to prison for 'not less than eight nor more than sixteen years.' Having served the five years statutory minimum for use of the gun, and his conduct having been good, he has been paroled.

Executive Committee Ruling.

"The executive committee held:

"'While we are in sympathy with the program which gives to paroled convicts an opportunity to rehabilitate themselves in society, we are of the opinion that the interests of the man himself will be best served by offering that opportunity in some field where his activities will not be constantly subjected to public scrutiny and comment, as they would be in baseball. We are of the opinion that the interests of players in our association will best be served by not admitting players who have been convicted of a crime which is considered by society a much greater offense than offenses for which our own association rules permanently disqualify a player.'

"The commissioner is in entire accord with the above-quoted views and with the action of the president and executive committee of the National association. [In this connection it may be added that in the only case of this nature heretofore presented for action to the commissioner, a major league club was prohibited from signing as a player a man terminating a prison sentence for forgery.]

"There is no objection whatsoever to baseball clubs assisting paroled convicts by employing them in any other capacity in the business of the club. But employment connected with the playing of the game, as player, coach, manager or umpire, presents a wholly different situation. It vitally concerns other clubs, other players, and baseball generally, and decision of the questions involved cannot be left to the individual club.

No Change in General Ruling.

"In other affairs of life, wherein provision is made for disqualification of persons guilty of crime [as, for example, under statutes of the United States, New York, and other states, whereby a person convicted of a felony is disqualified for military service, for employment in public office or under civil service, from engaging in professions or occupations requiring a license or certificate of moral fitness, etc.], criminal conduct before seeking to enter such service or employment is a cause for disqualification in like manner as if committed thereafter. And so far as concerns the general question of fitness for service as a professional baseball player, practically the same question is presented. There can and will be no change in the general policy respecting character qualifications for such employment.

"As originally presented to the president and executive committee of the National association, this case involved only a general question, which they decided properly, as their duty required, and as the commissioner would have been obliged to rule. Since then, however, a new situation has arisen. Conditions have been created as the result of which there can not be much doubt as to the destructive effect, upon Pitts' efforts toward rehabilitation, of not permitting him to enter baseball employment. This was not contemplated by, nor is it due to, the ruling of the president and executive committee of the National association. And in this situation, reputable people have expressed to me their belief that there has been a complete reformation in Pitts' character, and their confidence in his earnest intent to regain an honorable position in society.

"Solely, for these reasons, Pitts will be allowed to play, on condition that a new contract be executed by the Albany club and Pitts containing a covenant that during the year 1935 Pitts shall play only in regular league games and shall not appear in or at exhibition games, this condition being imposed because it is distinctly in Pitts' interest that mere notoriety be not exploited and capitalized.

[Signed] "KENESAW M. LANDIS,
"Commissioner."

Warneke Faces Clark in Series Final Today

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 17.—[Special.]—Lon Warneke, Cubs' pitcher, will face his greatest annoyers, the Dodgers, in the final game here tomorrow. Lefty Clark, who lost a three hitter, 1 to 0, his last time out, will pitch for the Dodgers.

Charley Root and Bill Lee will pitch the doubleheader in Boston Wednesday.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

CHANGE OF VENUE.

NEW YORK, June 17.—[Special.]—FRIEND ARCH:

Well, Arch, I suppose you've noted that I'm not stopping at the same hotel as when you and I were here together with the Golden Glovers. Where I am now does not cost any more, and really it saves you $2 or $3 a day in taxi fares because it's right along the pugilistic rialto and you can walk from here to Madison Square Garden, Twentieth Century club, which is promoting the Louis-Carnera fight, or to Jack Dempsey's, which are about the only places so far it's been necessary to go.

It wasn't entirely for expense reasons that I changed, however, although I do try to be economical for you although you may not think so when you get this present expense account. My goodness, how money does melt in New York. The dollar certainly becomes devaluated fast.

I always hated to tell you why I didn't like that former hotel because it was pretty personal. Of course, it wasn't the hotel's fault and I don't blame them at all but it did sort of irritate me.

The incident occurred several years ago. I began getting nice personal letters from the manager asking me to stop there the next time in New York. I forget his last name but his first name was Ralph. I sort of wondered how Ralph had heard so much about me and liked me so well but I figured he must take THE TRIBUNE and had won a bet on my Kentucky Derby selections or something.

So I went to Ralph's hotel the next time here. It was pretty "servicey" but I thought it nice of Mrs. Ralph to ring my room number so often to ask if everything was satisfactory until I wondered how Mrs. Ralph would be up at midnight and still be on the job the next morning at 8 o'clock to rouse me out of much needed sleep to ask if everything was still satisfactory. So I inquired and found it was only the room clerk operator following an old Manhattan custom.

Well, Arch, everything went along all right until time to leave. Because it was a day of heavy trafic I couldn't get reservations home so I entrusted it to the hotel which involved a service charge of 50 cents which I couldn't put on my expense account, but the hotel got them and put the charge on my statement. So the total debt was $99.65.

When I proffered my check, the lady cashier said, "Have you a charge account?" I said, "Why, I suppose so. Ralph is a friend of mine." She said, "Well, Mr. So. and So—whatever his name was—isn't in. Will you please see one of the assistant managers?" So I did and, Arch, you should have seen the cold, fishy eye with which he looked at me and the check, as if neither of us were any good.

Then he asked, "Have you any identification?" I didn't have any with me but said I would go up to my room and bring them down and he said all right. So I went right up and standing at my door was the same assistant manager. How he ever got there so fast, even using the service elevator, I don't know. In the offing was a chap who looked suspiciously like a house dick. Certainly this guest wasn't going to pick up his baggage and skip.

So the assistant manager went into my room with me and I showed him my card of the Illinois Turf Writers' association, but he didn't seem to regard that as proof of solvency. My Baseball Writers' Association of America was no better. My Tribune police lines pass seemed to impress a little. Then I produced cards of the C. A. A. and Skokie Country club, of which I then was a member, and he finally took the check.

Then the assistant manager said, "I'll send you up a blank form asking for credit and will avoid embarrassment like this again." I hastened to assure him it would not happen again. It hasn't. I've never been there since, except when with you. Of course, I realize it was not the hotel's fault at all, but still I don't understand why Ralph wrote me all those nice friendly letters if he didn't trust me.

At my present hotel, the manager came up to the room to call on me personally and he's going to drive me to Pompton lakes, 33 miles out, in his own car next time I go. I haven't tried him on a check yet but it looks as if he soon would receive the acid test.

I didn't go to Pompton lakes today because Joe Louis was not planning to work. Hoping you are the same. Regards.

HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

MEDWICK GAINS ON LEADERS IN BIG SIX STANDING

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Joe Medwick staged a comeback in the big six batting race yesterday, snapping a slump as he hit twice in four trips to the plate against the Giants, but Pepper Martin's average continued to drop. While Medwick raised his mark from .359 to .362, Martin dropped another point to .332. He hit only once in four attempts.

Indians Pound Red Sox for 11-2 Victory

Cleveland, O., June 17.—(AP)—The Indians made it four out of five today by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 11 to 2. The victory enabled Cleveland to go into a tie for third place with Detroit.

Pitcher Oral Hildebrand held Boston to six hits, while a homer by Averill in the third, with one man on base, and one by Campbell in the sixth with two on, helped clinch the victory.

3 MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS BID FOR MONTREAL STAR

Montreal, June 17.—(AP)—President Hector Racine of the Montreal Royals of the International league today said that three major league clubs, the New York Giants and the Cincinnati Reds of the National league and the Boston Red Sox of the American, had made bids for a Montreal player.

Although Racine refused to disclose the name of the player he was understood to be Jimmy Ripple, center fielder who is the club's leading hitter.

COLLEGE CREWS TO CLASH TODAY IN THREE RACES

California Heads Field in Varsity Event.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 17.—[Special.]—Sixteen eight-oared crews who have been heading toward this date since the day last fall when they first came out for practice, will start from beneath the towering highland at Krum Elbow, four miles above this city, tomorrow in the three races of the Intercollegiate Rowing association regatta.

First, at 5 o'clock eastern daylight saving time, five freshman crews will come two miles down stream. Then at 6 o'clock four junior varsity eight will come three miles, and finally, at 7 o'clock, the seven varsity eights will cover the full four miles to decide once more the rule of the Hudson.

California Heads List.

Late this afternoon, after a strong wind had kept them in their boathouses, the crews went out for a final workout on the river. For some of them there will be conditioning paddles tomorrow morning, but for all of them the last, trying period of waiting for the gun in the hand of the veteran referee, Julian Curtiss, has started.

There was no change in opinion here tonight as the crowds began gathering for this renewal of an event which had seen crews from all parts of the country row over the famous four miles since 1895. In the local cigar store, where odds are posted each year for the wagerers, the brawny California eight remains the favorite. It was quoted today at even money. Navy was held at 2 to 1, Washington at 3 to 2, and Penn at 3 to 1.

But the veterans of the game shook their heads over those prices. California, they held, was perhaps logical favorite, but not a top heavy one, and Cornell's crew had been greatly underestimated in preliminary discussions.

"There are seven crews in the varsity event," said one rowing veteran, who has witnessed twenty of these races. "I don't see how you can figure any one of them out of it, with the possible exception of Columbia. "We all know that these crews have been close together in sprint races. It remains to be seen which one can do the best job at four miles. And here is where conditions enter into it. Granted fast, smooth water, Penn is apt to be dangerous and so is Washington. Given a head wind and heavy water, I don't think either of these crews is apt to be finishing on the winner's end. But I do look for as closely contested a race as the river has seen in years.

MICHELL HAS A WINNER, BUT HE'S GLOOMY OVER IT

BY FRENCH LANE.

Many in the crowd hurrying out of the Washington Park race track at dusk yesterday observed through the steady drizzle of rain a tall lean man propped against a big pillar. The man to all appearances was in deep grief.

It was easy to identify him, for he's quite famous around the race courses of the country because he trained Reigh Count, one of the greatest of all American turf champions.

It was Bert Michell, of course, and I asked him, "Why the long, sad face? Didn't your Chief Cherokee just win the Thomas handicap?"

"To be sure he did," replied Michell, "and why, O why, didn't I nominate him for the American Derby?"

Chief Is Impressive.

It isn't always easy to guess what these horse trainers should or should not do. They are forever taking the same gamble the punter takes when he endeavors to pick the winners.

Chief Cherokee, a noted mud runner, had turned in a mighty creditable performance when he won the Thomas handicap, dashing home three lengths in front of Our Reigh, which was another three lengths in front of Whopper, which finished third. Toro Nancy, a Futurity winner, which did not fancy the muddy going, finished fifth in the six horse field, although Chief Cherokee humored her a bit and let her make the pace for half a mile. Chief Cherokee ran the mile over a very difficult track in 1:41 3-5.

The Chief was just playing with his opponents at this stage of the battle. When Jocky King guided him around to the outside and asked him to run at the head of the stretch he ran away from his rivals.

He dashed right out into a lead of three lengths, increased it to four lengths at the sixteenth pole, and was eased up a bit when he flashed past the winning post to get the decision by three lengths.

Our Reigh Closes Well.

Our Reigh finished second and also ran gallantly. He was in trouble during the early stages of the contest and was forced to circle the field to get into a contending position. He was gaining on Chief Cherokee near the end and if the race had been at slightly more distance Our Reigh might have caught and conquered the Chief.

Everybody seemed to be aware of the fact that Chief Cherokee was going to run a fine race, so the crowd made him the favorite. He paid off at $4.42 to win, $3.52 to place, and $2.58 to show. Our Reigh was at $6.42 to place and $3.46 to show. Whopper, the oversized horse from Hal Price Headley's stable in Kentucky, paid $3.34 to show. He also ran a powerful race.

Now for the Classic!

As a result of their showing in the contest Our Reigh and Whopper no doubt will be given a chance to fight for the American Derby prize Saturday.

"What are you going to do with Chief Cherokee while all this American Derby activity is going on?" Trainer Michell was asked.

"Get him ready for the Arlington Classic, and he may win it," was Michell's reply.

Bryant Ott, the French Lick Springs trainer, saddled two winners during the afternoon. Both horses ran in the name of Mrs. T. Ott. They were Kwamudi, which captured the seventh race, and Sherron, the victor in the eighth. Both found the muddy going just to their liking. Sherron won easily. Kwamudi, a son of Black Servant—Princess Rose, had a terrific battle but he finally outgamed and outran the odds on favorite Brown Hilda in the last sixteenth of a mile and won going away by half a length.

Kwamudi paid off at $14.44 and Sherron at $9.80, so the folks who parlayed the pair reaped a golden harvest even though the weather was a bit dismal.

PAWSON WINS BUNKER HILL MARATHON RUN

Boston, Mass., June 17.—[Special.]—The Bunker Hill Marathon, held annually here, was won today by Leslie Pawson of Pawtucket, R. I., a former winner of the Boston A. A. race. Pawson took the lead shortly after the start and made pace the entire distance of 26 miles 385 yards.

Roger Labonne of the Norfolk Y. M. C. A. was second, six minutes and 38 seconds behind. Walter Ray of Beverly was third. Clarence De Mar, famous Marathon runner, who has captured the Boston A. A. race seven times, finished ninth.

Time: :23 4-5, :47 2-5, 1:02 3-5, 1:09 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Night Alarm, $10.40 straight, $5.50 place, $3.94 show; Doran, $3.90 place, $2.80 show; Hatcheck, $2.82 show. Winner trained by D. A. Headley. Went to post at 2:16. At post 3¼ minutes. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won handily, second driving.

NIGHT ALARM, away fast and having the most speed, took command quickly, saved ground where possible and, naturally tired, but was not menaced. DORAN, also away fast and having speed, lost ground on stretch turn and held on with determination under strong urging thereafter. HATCHECK raced wide throughout and quit badly but outstayed others.

SECOND RACE. Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time: :23 4-5, :49, 1:16 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Lo, $3.96 straight, $2.78 place, $2.48 show; Petee Blue, $8.86 place, $4.74 show; Weelukie, $3.48 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 2:46½. At post 2 minutes. Start good for all but Lo from Bahr gate. Won driving, second same.

LO, away poorly and much the best, came to the middle of track in stretch, closed with a rush and after getting up in last sixteenth was taken in hand but had little left. PETEE BLUE, raced wide when advancing to the lead entering stretch, swerved over sharply approaching final eighth and weakening in late stages, failed to withstand winner. WEELUKIE, a factor throughout, also faltered near end.

THIRD RACE. Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. [Daily double second and third races, paid $76.72].

Time: :23 4-5, :49, 1:01 4-5, 1:09 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Galmica, $14.40 straight, $7.40 place, $4.44 show; Sir Jim James, $5.84 place, $3.90 show; Maildun, $6.60 show. Winner trained by J. J. Greeley. Went to post at 3:12. At post ⅛ minute. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won easily, second driving.

GALMICA, much the best and forced back when SIR GAWAINE blocked him on stretch turn, recovered quickly and easily wearing down SIR GAWAINE in final eighth came away to win with speed in reserve. SIR JIM JAMES, raced wide throughout, closed boldly in a fine effort. MAILDUN saved ground in stretch and held on with good courage.

FOURTH RACE. Five furlongs. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time: :23 4-5, :48 1-5, 1:02 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Belleek, $10.18 straight, $5.46 place, $3.02 show; Lotofus, $5.26 place, $3.50 show; Bamboo, $3.50 show. Winner trained by K. Daingerfield Jr. Went to post at 3:42. At post 2½ minutes. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won driving, second same.

BELLEEK, in close quarters soon after the start and taken to outside when clear, came with fine speed in final quarter and drew out fast in closing strides. LOTOFUS, fractious at post and away slowly, raced around the field with a rush in first quarter, increased her margin soon after reaching stretch and held on well but was not good enough. BAMBOO, blocked on the turn and slow to respond when clear, finished going strong.

FIFTH RACE. One mile. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

OUR REIGH [J.Westrope]	105	4	1	1²	1²	2²	2⁴	Mrs.L.D.Hertz	6.10-1
WHOPPER [A.Robertson]	111½	1	6	3¹	3¹½	3²	3³	H.P.Headley	6.78-1

COUNTESS BINA [DeFerni]	96	5	2	6	6	6	6	Wdward&Smith	54.87-1

Time: :23 3-5, :47 3-5, 1:13 4-5, 1:41 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Chief Cherokee, $4.42 straight, $3.52 place, $2.58 show; Our Reigh, $6.42 place, $3.46 show; Whopper, $3.34 show. Winner trained by B. S. Michel. Went to post at 4:11. Off at once. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won easily, second driving.

CHIEF CHEROKEE, much the best and aided by clever handling, followed the early pacemaker under strong restraint, took command easily approaching stretch, was mildly shaken up nearing last eighth and but for swerving to inside in late stages might have won by a greater margin. OUR REIGH, away fast but unable to keep up, began to improve his position after reaching last five-sixteenths and racing wide finished fast. WHOPPER, on inside throughout, was in tight quarters briefly on lower turn, made a mild bid when clear and weakened after seven-eighths.

SIXTH RACE. Seven furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

CAW CAW [C.Parvin]	111	1	6	4½	4½	1²	1²	Mrs.A.M.Creech	1.48-1
FRITTER CIRCLE [Longden]	115	2	3	1⁵	1½	2²	2¹	J.Swischer	8.84-1

HIGH POCKETS [H.Albrecht]	111	7	1	3½	5²	4⁴	5¹⁰	M.C.Rush	29.13-1
HIGH BOTTOM [J.King]	115	4	2	2²	3²	6⁴	6⁴	Mrs.R.Pollard	5.61-1
HANDY PRINCE [Robertson]	115	5	7	7	7	7	7	ThreeD'sStkFm	48.53-1

Time: :24 :49 2-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:29 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Caw Caw, $4.96 straight, $3.36 place, $2.52 show; Fritter Circle, $6.22 place, $4.60 show; Sea Eagle, $2.86 show. Winner trained by B. Creech. Went to post at 4:38. At post 4 minutes. Start good. Won easily, second driving.

CAW CAW, away slowly, moved up gradually on inside the first three-eighths, came around the leaders entering stretch and drawing out into a long lead won in hand. FRITTER CIRCLE had speed from the start, saved ground on the turn and held on fairly well. SEA EAGLE moved up approaching the turn, dropped back slightly entering stretch but went well under strong pressure the final quarter.

SEVENTH RACE. One and one-eighth miles. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

KWAMUDI [L.Haas]	109	3	1	1²	1²	2²	1ˢᵏ	Mrs.T.Ott	6.22-1

ITALIA [J.Longden]	105	4	5	5	5	5	5	Mrs.S.C.Hunt	35.42-1

Time: :24 3-5, :49 3-5, 1:16 3-4, 1:44, 1:57 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Kwamudi, $14.44 straight, $3.02 place, $2.14 show; Brown Hilda, $2.30 place, $2.14 show; Mr. Mack, $2.14 show. Winner trained by S. B. Ott. Went to post at 5:10. Off at once. Start good. Won driving, place same.

KWAMUDI took command at once, forced BROWN HILDA wide soon after reaching stretch, came again after being headed and again swerved out after getting up. BROWN HILDA, probably best, was under restraint for seven-eighths, suffered interference while working her way to front and faltered in closing strides. MR. MACK had no mishaps.

EIGHTH RACE. One and one-eighth miles. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

PETER DIXON [C.McTague]	109	5	2	4²	5²	4²	7²	G.Boyle	13.72-1

Time: :25 1-5, :51 3-5, 1:18, 1:45 2-5, 1:59. Two dollar mutuels paid: Sherron, $9.80 straight, $4.80 place, $2.86 show; Indian Red, $4.72 place, $2.60 show; Water Port, $2.32 show. Winner trained by S. B.Ott. Went to post at 5:36. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won easily, place driving.

SHERRON, under strong restraint early, took command easily after reaching final half mile, came away in stretch and won well in hand. INDIAN RED, badly outrun for five-eighths, raced wide when improving his position thereafter and finished going boldly. WATER PORT, reserved off the pace, rallied mildly to strong pressure soon after reaching stretch but faltered in late stages.

SHANAHAN WILL COMPETE IN 25TH A. A. U. MEET

James Shanahan, perennial Central A. A. U. 56 pound weight and hammer throw champion, will round out a quarter of a century of competition when he appears in the 34th annual Central A. A. U. meet Saturday in Dyche stadium, Northwestern university.

Shanahan first competed in Ireland. He has come to be to Central what Matt McGrath is to the Metropolitan association of the A. A. U. For the last 25 years he has dominated both events in the Central association and has been a factor in national competition as well. Shanahan is expected to retain his championship in both events.

PREPARE BROAD DRIVE TO BOOST AGRICULTURE

'Chemurgists' Link Science, Farming.

Francis P. Garvan, president of the Chemical Foundation, yesterday was elected president of the group of agriculture, industry, and science representatives who formed at Dearborn, Mich., recently a broad organization to promote the use of farm products as raw materials in manufacturing.

In an organization meeting at the Union League club the group chose as a name the Farm Chemurgic council. The word "chemurgic" means "chemistry at work," and the full name is intended to show the purpose of the program to make the farm some other kind of factory than one to produce foods and textiles.

Editor Made Official.

Wheeler McMillen, editor of The Country Home, was chosen first vice president, representing agriculture. Howard E. Coffin, chairman of Southeastern Cottons, Inc., was named second vice president, for industry. Dr. Roger Adams, president of the American Chemical society, was made third vice president, representing science. The treasurer is William W. Buffum, treasurer and general manager of the Chemical Foundation, Inc. Clifford V. Gregory, editor of the Prairie Farmer, was named secretary.

Carl B. Fritsche, a consulting engineer, was named managing director, and Dr. Harry E. Barnard was chosen director of research.

The council also announced the signing of contracts for construction of a $4,000,000 paper mill which will use American slash pine for raw materials. It will be built at Savannah, Ga., by the Union Bag and Paper company.

Offices to Last One Year.

Members of the organization committee, named at the Dearborn conference, will comprise the council in its first year, and the officers will serve as an executive committee.

Criticism was made of limitation of farm production during the closed session and further support was given the advocacy of mixing power alcohol with motor fuel gasoline. The latter is one of the major planks of the council platform. Use of soy bean oil for paints also was pointed to as something to be of increasing benefit to the farmer. Objectives of the organization's activities are:

1. Gradual absorption of much of the domestic farm surplus by domestic industry.

2. Put idle acres to work profitably.

3. Increase purchasing power of the American farmer on a stable and more permanent basis.

Seek Increased Demand.

4. Increase the demand for manufactured products.

5. Create new work for idle hands; reviving American industry; restoring American labor to productive enterprise, and relieving the economic distress of the nation.

Dr. William J. Hale, consulting chemist of the Dow Chemical company, said that the federal agricultural policy has ruined our foreign markets, and that there "never will be a return to prosperity until we turn back to utilization of farm products."

Referring to the possibilities of mixing alcohol with gasoline for motor fuel, Dr. Hale said that using 10 per cent alcohol will require building 1,000 new distilleries, each employing 1,000 men, and a total of 3½ million men would be given work, eliminating the dole.

Renew Alcohol-Gas Fight.

The controversy between the Chemical Foundation and the petroleum industry over the use of alcohol-blended gasoline flared up anew when a sharp letter from Garvan to the American Petroleum institute was released by the council.

The foundation flatly refused the institute's offer to share expenses of a study of the merits of gasoline with and without alcohol in it. The letter said:

"We consider that the relative merits have already been determined in favor of alcohol-gasoline blends. That information is even more available to the American Petroleum institute, for your members are using such blends in some 22 countries in the world and your undoubtedly honest advertisments in these countries echo the scientific decision as to the relative merits of alcohol-gasoline blends and straight gasoline."

$239,000,000 ISSUE OF FARM LOAN BONDS OFFERED

An offering of $239,000,000 ten to twenty year 3 per cent Federal Farm Loan bonds, due July 1, 1935, to yield about 3.10 per cent was announced here yesterday.

The underwriting group comprises Alexander Brown & Sons, Chase National bank, Brown, Harriman & Co., Inc., the National City Bank of New York, Edward B. Smith & Co., First Boston corporation, and Lee Higginson corporation.

This constitutes the largest refunding bond issue, with the lowest coupon in the history of the land bank institution. The proceeds will be used to retire the 4½ per cent bonds called for payment July 1.

RFC Tightens Requirements for Rail Help

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—An indication that bankrupt railroads, or those in serious difficulties and contemplating reorganization, must submit to the "wringer" before they can expect further aid from the Reconstruction Finance corporation was given today by Chairman Jones.

He said the corporation had turned down a proposal of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad company, which is contemplating reorganization, because it did not reduce capital sufficiently.

Jones added he did not think the proposal to cut $178,000,000 from the company's $750,000,000 capital was a sufficient decrease and that he had told company officials they would have to "do better than that" before they could be helped. The road, it is understood, is contemplating some action by July 1.

Bondholders to Have Voice.

The RFC head added that in all reorganizations his agency has anything to do with it will require that bondholders as well as stockholders have a say in operating the railroad. He said that in many instances equities that were "worth nothing" were in control.

The primary interest of the corporation, however, is in reduction of fixed interest charges, Jones said. He indicated that it will insist that instead of bonds being issued in refunding operations more stock be taken by bondholders.

A plan for reorganization of the Western Pacific railroad is expected to be submitted to Jones tomorrow by President Schumacher of that line, President Baldwin of the Missouri Pacific, one of the operating committee of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, has written Jones a plan for reorganizing that road also will be submitted soon.

Two Plans Expected.

Two plans—one by the bondholders and the other by the Van Sweringen interests—are expected to be presented shortly for the Missouri Pacific. The Van Sweringen interests, who control the road, have discussed part of a plan with Jones that would require about $70,000,000 in aid from the RFC. The chairman objected, however, to the liberality with which some junior bondholders would be treated.

These issues, selling around $27 on the open market for a $100 bond, Jones said, would be given $25 cash and income bonds for the remainder under the plan. Jones said he believed that not over $15 in cash should be given such bondholders. He added that the Missouri Pacific is in much better shape as to earnings than many other roads in receivership.

FRANC ADVANCES AGAINST DOLLAR, STERLING EASES

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Indications that the United States is working hard to bring about international currency stabilization before the world embarks upon a war of depreciated currencies were discerned today by foreign exchange dealers here.

Largely as a result of M. Tannery's statement and its discouraging effect upon bear speculation, the gold bloc currencies strengthened appreciably today and the pound receded. The franc opened in Paris at 74.35 to the pound and strengthened to 74.62. Against the dollar it opened at 15.16 francs and closed at 15.145.

The rise in the franc brought the value of the dollar against francs to $1.0041, compared with $1.0053 on Saturday. Based on the old parity of the franc the dollar was worth 59.30 cents, against 59.41 cents on Saturday.

Italian lire dropped 2 points to 8.33 cents, the lowest level since June 4. Scandanavian curriencies were off 7 points in sympathy with the pound and Belgian belgas were 2 points lower at 16.92 cents.

CORD CORPORATION BUYS 20,300 SHARES OF REO MOTOR STOCK

A statement issued by the Cord corporation yesterday reported acquisition of 20,300 shares of stock of Reo Motor Car company since Nov. 30, 1934.

This, according to L. B. Manning, president of Cord, did not signify any attempt to obtain a working control of the company. "The stock was acquired at $3 a share," he said. "A $40,000 investment in a company with 1,800,000 shares outstanding should not have any significance."

Other changes in the company's portfolio during the six months were an increase in Auburn Automobile company stock to 40,219 shares from 37,619 shares, acquisition of 1,000 shares each of Montgomery Ward & Co., Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Standard Oil of New Jersey. It acquired 9,100 shares of Ymir Yankee Gold Mines, Ltd., and 2,500 shares of Duval Texas Sulphur company.

Except for these transactions and the sale of 1,649 shares of L. G. S. Devices corporation, the May 31, 1935, portfolio showed only minor changes from the Nov. 30, 1934, holdings.

C. E. MITCHELL MADE CHAIRMAN OF BLYTH & CO.

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City bank, was today elected chairman of the investment banking house of Blyth & Co., Inc. He will dissolve his own firm of C. E. Mitchell & Co., which he organized last January as the first step in his return to an active Wall street career.

Mitchell's election was announced by Charles R. Blyth, president of the firm, who has previously held the offices of both president and chairman.

Mitchell will continue his work as financial adviser to the board of directors of the Postal Telegraph and Cable company, which appointment was announced last week, and will carry to completion certain other advisory tasks in which he is engaged, but will not undertake any new business apart from his connection with Blyth & Co., Inc. He will make his office in the New York headquarters of the firm.

SEC Files Applications of 1,800 Unlisted Dealers

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—Application for registration by 1,800 brokers in the over-the-counter market had been received and filed today by the Securities and Exchange commission and another 500 which contained many omissions had been returned to the applicants for revision, it was announced today. It is estimated that there are more than 3,000 such dealers.

Large Packer Sues to Stop Process Tax

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17.—[Special.]—A bitter attack on the AAA was included today in a suit filed in federal court here by Kingan & Co., big Indianapolis meat packers, against Will H. Smith, collector of internal revenue, to restrain the government from seeking to collect $1,154,066 now due in processing taxes.

Describing the act as unconstitutional and its processing features as a "gratuity levied on one class and paid to another," the suit cited at least four points in which it is alleged it violates the constitution of the United States.

Four Points Cited.

These points are that it takes the property of the plaintif without due process of law.

That it was not adopted under any power expressly granted to congress by the constitution.

That it is an arbitrary exaction from the plaintif and other meat packers for the benefit of certain farmers and producers, therefore being a gratuity instead of a tax.

The processing tax imposed on the company by the AAA is at the rate of $2.25 a hundred pounds live weight of hogs slaughtered. The company asserts it already paid the processing tax in 1934, and that $1,154,066 claimed is due for 1935 taxes.

Kingan & Co. operate slaughtering plants in Indianapolis and Richmond, Va. All slaughtering, the suit said, is done within the boundaries of these two states.

Taxes Intrastate Business.

The AAA, the suit alleged, is invalid because it taxes intrastate business. While the company is engaged in interstate business in the sale and distribution of meat, the slaughtering actually is an intrastate transaction.

Referring to the processing tax rate set for January to June of this year by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, the suit asserted it was in complete disregard of the tax formula set up in the act itself. Data and statistics, the suit said, show there is no basis for a processing tax of this amount.

Bill Giving I. C. C. Water Trafic Rule to Be Altered

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—A senate interstate commerce committee decision to rewrite the Wheeler bill putting water commerce under jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission was reached today. It decided to strike from the measure some controversial matters likely to delay its passage.

RULES BONDHOLDERS MAY TAKE INTEREST IN FOREIGN MONEY

San Francisco, Cal., June 17.—(AP)—In a decision which may cost the Southern Pacific company $500,000 a year, Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley of Illinois ruled today that Southern Pacific terminal bondholders may collect interest on coupons in Dutch guilders and French francs.

The bonds, an issue of about $11,000,000, contained a clause providing that interest was payable in gold or currency of the United States, or, at option of the holder, in guilders of the Netherlands, francs of Switzerland or France, or English currency.

Guy V. Shoup, chief counsel for the railroad company, said that with the depreciation of United States currency not only did foreign bondholders collect their interest in guilders or francs, but American holders sought to do likewise through brokers.

The suit, brought by A. McAdoo on behalf of "herself and others similarly situated," was aimed to test the legality of this procedure. The McAdoo group argued that the Supreme court gold clause decision was applicable, but Judge Lindley held to the contrary, saying congress has not legislated so as to affect these particular contracts containing the specific foreign currency clause.

Shoup said the case will be appealed to the Supreme court if necessary.

South Shore State Bank to Repay 10 Per Cent More

Edward J. Barrett, state auditor, yesterday authorized payment of a 10 per cent or $46,174, to the depositors of the South Shore State bank. This is the third since the bank closed, bringing the total up to 30 per cent.

GRAIN PRICES GAIN OVER CENT; TRADE ERRATIC

Rally in Corn Aids All Markets.

Grains pushed more than a cent a bushel higher on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday in one of the slowest sessions witnessed in many weeks. Prices fluctuated erratically as the result of a dormant speculative demand, but movements were confined to a narrow range.

Corn was largely responsible for the upturn, most of which occurred in the last hour of trading. Rains which occurred in the corn belt over the week-end and which are not wanted at this stage of crop growth brought in enough buying to force shorts to cover, and prices rallied on a comparatively small volume of business.

Wheat Price Also Gains.

This upturn sympathetically affected wheat prices, which bounded up rapidly as shorts bought in commitments and stop loss orders were uncovered. Wheat was also helped to a considerable extent by the presence of rains in the southwest which threatened harvesting operations. Some points in Kansas received more than 2 inches of moisture over the week-end, although forecasts indicated dry weather over night.

Closing prices of principal July futures here follow:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	.80¾	.79	.83¾
Corn	.80¾	.79	.82¾
Oats	.35	.34	.35¾
Rye	.45¾	.44½	.48¾

Winnipeg wheat advanced ⅝ to ¾ cent, Liverpool moved down ⅝ to ⅞ cent, Rotterdam closed ¼ cent higher to ¼ cent lower, and Buenos Aires was steady.

Liberal Rains Reported.

Aside from weather news and relatively early firmness in the Liverpool market little change in the wheat situation occurred over the week-end. B. W. Snow, Bartlett-Frazier company crop expert, reported that rains last week were liberal in Missouri and eastern Kansas, heavy in Oklahoma, southern Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and light in Iowa. Too much precipitation occurred in the southwest, where harvesting is under way.

Heavy inroads were again made in commercial visible supplies of grain last week. The wheat total fell 2,207,000 bushels to 25,076,000, against 73,029,000 at this time last year. Corn dropped 1,002,000 bushels to 7,891,000, oats declined 665,000 to 8,862,000, and rye dropped 262,000 to 9,107,000.

The heavy decrease in corn was received bullishly, and in the subsequent rally the July delivery ran up 1¾ cents, going to a half cent premium over July wheat. At the close Saturday these deliveries were the same at 79 cents.

Assert Howell Grain Corner Aided Farmer

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—Thomas M. Howell, Chicago grain trader, today was pictured by his counsel as a benefactor to the farmer and a believer in the policies enunciated by the Wallace Farmer, publication formerly edited by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who now seeks Howell's disbarment from all domestic grain markets on charges of cornering the July corn market in 1931.

Edward R. Adams, who with Sidney S. Gorman is representing Howell, said "that to punish Howell for his actions would be to punish him for having the opinion that the Wallace Farmer had at the same time."

Plea Made at Final Hearing.

The argument was presented in final hearings before the grain futures commission, which is composed of Wallace, Attorney General Cummings, and Secretary of Commerce Roper. The group took the case under advisement.

"The government's own economist says that Howell's purchases were an economic benefit," Adams said.

The alleged corner cost Howell more than $1,000,000, because he was caught at the end of July with 7,000,000 of the 9,000,000 bushels purchased, he said.

"He took a terrific beating in the belief that because of the corn shortage there would be a better price—the same opinion that was expressed in the Wallace Farmer," Adams asserted.

Leo F. Tierney, representing the department of agriculture, declared that evidence proves that Howell raised the price 14 cents a bushel in the last three days of July.

Cite Huge Holdings.

Howell was said to have held 85 per cent of the total open contracts in July futures through a systematic buying campaign, including accounts in the names of his secretary, wife, daughter, and three friends.

"I think the evidence shows that his is a much more aggravated case than the Cutten case, and that this man should be suspended," said Tierney. Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago wheat trader, recently was suspended for two years by the commission, but an appeal has been taken.

Short sellers were forced to buy from Howell in the last few days of July to make deliveries, and all were compelled to pay his price, Tierney charged.

15 MILE MISSOURI RAIL BRINGS ONLY $25,000 AT AUCTION

Springfield, Mo., June 17.—[Special.]—A railroad went begging for bidders for a time today and finally brought $25,000 on the auction block. The Ozarks Southern railroad, extending from Ava to Mansfield, was purchased by Claude E. Vrooman of St. Louis, who held a first mortgage against the property.

Now that he has everything in his own name, Vrooman will junk the 15 mile railroad. Bus and truck competition killed the road, officials said.

PLAN SOUGHT TO FORESTALL BANKING CRISIS

New Deal Is Trying to Keep FDIC.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—The Roosevelt administration is quietly preparing to extend the existing "temporary" federal insurance of bank deposits if the delay in pending bank legislation produces a crisis in the nation's financial machinery on July 1, inquiry disclosed today.

Approximately 6,450 banks in the federal reserve system have been warned by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, meanwhile, that within two weeks they must qualify for so-called "permanent" deposit insurance. This "permanent" system will go into effect automotically on July 1 under existing law unless the new administration banking bill, which repeals this "permanent" plan, is passed before then.

Plan Emergency Action.

Despite this warning to the banks, however, the administration is preparing behind the scenes to take other emergency action which will postpone the effective date of the "permanent" insurance. As a last resort the FDIC will seek to rush through congress, independently of the pending bank bill, a joint resolution postponing the date on which the "permanent" system is to become effective.

To guard against a nation-wide paralysis of the banking system, however, the administration is now putting pressure on the 6,442 federal reserve member banks to forearm themselves against eventualities and prepare for the coming of "permanent" insurance on July 1. Even if a postponing resolution is introduced in congress, it is pointed out, any obstructionist, such as Senator Huey Long, can block it, and the banks would then be faced with the necessity of qualifying for the "permanent" system on still shorter notice.

Major Crisis Possible.

A financial crisis of major proportions would result from a double failure of congress to extend the existing "temporary" insurance and of the banks to qualify for "permanent" insurance. Such an eventuality would force the closing of more than 6,000 banks and the virtual dissolution of the federal reserve system.

If the "permanent" insurance should go into effect, any federal reserve member bank which has not qualified for it must be expelled from the federal reserve system. National banks which have not qualified must be thrown into receivership by the controler of the currency. These are the stipulations of existing law.

To guard against such an exigency, the administration is taking extra

STOCKS REACT ON PROFIT TAKING; LOSSES SMALL

Utilities Feature Trade by Moving Higher.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—The stock market suddenly went off the track in late dealings today as profit taking in the rails and the high priced investment issues gave the list a reactionary appearance. The selling was well absorbed, however, and losses for the most part were of modest dimensions.

The undertone of the market was fairly steady at all times, despite a belief in speculative quarters that a technical correction of the market's position following its extended advance was long overdue. The fact that the market turned dull on the downward movement cheered the constructive force. Total transactions for the session amounted to 907,910 shares.

Utility Shares Stronger.

One of the features of the day was a stronger market for public utility shares after early hesitancy. Public service rose a point to enter new high ground, while Consolidated Gas also gained an equal amount. Detroit Edison equaled its high mark and American Water Works, North American, Federal Light and Traction, and a number of others rose fractionally. Pacific Coast issues were steady and fractionally better.

The excellent performance of the power shares was said to reflect the absence of apprehension over the Wheeler-Rayburn holding company bill. There is a feeling in many quarters that the bill will undergo substantial changes in the lower branch of congress.

Rails Fractionally Changed.

Price changes in the carrier section of the list, except in the cases of Union Pacific and Atchison, were confined to fractions, although enthusiasm to acquire them was less noticeable. Great Northern held fairly close to the best price of the year, but Erie, New York Central, Pennsylvania, and others were down slightly.

Fears that the treasury might be a little obstinate in dealing with the silver bloc depressed the price of silver mining issues. American Smelting was off a point at the close and Cerro de Pasco and Silver King gave up minor fractions.

Among the investment issues to lose a point or more were American Can, Eastman Kodak, Ingersoll Rand, Allied Chemical, and Owens Glass. Westinghouse lost a major fraction and United Fruit gave up 1½ points.

Motors were favorites with the speculative crowd. Auburn was given a whirl as it went up 2 points. Nash hardened. Chrysler and General Motors gave way fractionally under selling pressure.

COTTON FUTURES EASE AS WEATHER CLEARS IN WEST

Cotton markets developed an easier undertone yesterday. Reports of clearing weather in the west following heavy rains were the depressing influence. A good part of the trade in New York consisted of switching between the various deliveries. Spot houses and foreigners sold July cotton early, while the pool bought May futures.

The close was about the bottom with Chicago showing net losses of 4 to 6 points while other markets were off 8 to 12 points. Spot cotton closed 5 points lower with New Orleans 12 cents, Galveston and Houston 11.85 cents, and New York 11.95 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 17.—Bonds were strong and active in today's trading on the New York Stock exchange. Second-grade rails continued to provide the outstanding feature of the market, with issues in this group making net gains of 1 to 4 points.

United States government issues were mixed with declines somewhat outnumbering advances and with price changes ranging from 1-32d to 3-32ds point in both directions.

Bonds of the Postal Telegraph and Cable company and the International Telephone and Telegraph company were conspicuously strong. Postal 5s rose 3 points on active dealings and International Telephone issues were up from ¼ point to 2 points.

Foreign bonds moved irregularly higher, with French 7½s and 7s up ½ point and 1 point respectively, German issues irregular, most South Americans slightly higher and Japanese issues weaker.

Volume of business amounted to $12,846,000, compared with $11,197,400 last Friday.

Among the more active and buoyant rail issues were those of the Baltimore & Ohio, Central of Georgia, Erie, Illinois Central, Missouri-Kansas-Texas, New Haven, and South Pacific.

STEEL INSTITUTE REPORTS DIP IN WEEK'S OUTPUT

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Steel ingot production for the current week will average 38.3 per cent of capacity, compared with 39 per cent last week, the American Iron & Steel Institute announced today.

This decrease of 0.7 of a point compares with a decrease of 0.8 of a point in the corresponding week of last year, when operations declined to 56.1 per cent of capacity. A month ago, the operating rate was 42.8 per cent of capacity.

29-35 South Wabash Avenue.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate the favor of what information you can give me on the first mortgage bonds of 29-35 South Wabash avenue, Chicago, a Greenebaum issue. I do not get any information.—Mrs. S. M. C.

Answer: The situation of 29-35 South Wabash Avenue building first mortgage bonds is desperate. The bonds are secured by a mortgage on a leasehold. The building is on rented ground. The ground rent takes priority over the payment of interest.

Default has occurred under the terms of the ground lease and notice of this has been served. The owner of the land is in a position in which he can declare the lease forfeited and wipe out the equity of the bond owners in the property. Such forfeiture has not, however, been effected yet. Chicago Title and Trust company, receiver, is in possession of the building.

Gross receipts for 1934 totaled $87,169 and operating expenses were $10,544. Other disbursements totaled $106,910. They included $63,785 on account of taxes, $30,000 on ground rental, and $8,500 to the receiver and attorney.

Gross receipts in 1933 were $73,553 and operating expenses were $10,667. Other expenses were $64,291 and included $50,000 on account of taxes and $13,435 to pay off receiver's certificates. In 1932 gross was $91,417 and operating expenses, $8,776. Other disbursements were $21,131, of which $13,750 was on ground rent and $6,400 to receiver and attorney.

Unpaid taxes, including the full 1933 levy, now total oly $11,856. Cash balance at the close of 1934 was $36,076. Of the six lofts at the close of last year four were occupied. All three stores were rented.

Shoreland Hotel.

Investors' Guide: I would like to know what settlement was made on nondeposited bonds of Shoreland hotel 6½ per cent real estate bonds.—L. W. A.

Answer: Holders of nondeposited Shoreland hotel first mortgage bonds are entitled to about 10 cents on the dollar for their holdings as their pro rata share of foreclosure sales price. There will probably be an additional amount as the pro rata share of earnings during the period of redemption.

Cook County Tax Warants.

Investors' Guide: I hold Cook county 1933 corporate tax warants Nos. A1,405 and B4,046-7-8, dated some time in September and November, 1933. Will you please let me know whether or not they have been called?—Mrs. S. J.

Answer: All Cook county corporate tax anticipation warants, levy of 1933, dated up to and including Sept. 30, 1933, have been called for payment.

RISK U. S. CASH TO PULL FRANC OUT OF SLUMP

Roosevelt's Rescue of France Revealed.

M. Tannery said, but suddenly every one was refusing to accept French gold or to sell France the foreign currencies which she needed to support her franc.

No Boats to Ship Gold.

The reason for this sudden crisis, the French bank head told Morgenthau, was that all outgoing boats for about a week had capacity cargoes of gold and no more could be shipped. International money dealers were afraid to sell currencies to France in return for gold for fear the French gold standard would collapse and gold exports be embargoed before being shipped.

Only the Paris branch of the Guaranty Trust company had cooperated with the French government, and now that bank's available resources, limited to 25 per cent of its surplus and capital, were exhausted.

Without the necessary foreign exchange France could no longer support her franc, the effort to stay on the gold standard would fail, and world currencies would be thrown into panic by the collapse of the last gold standard nations, M. Tannery pleaded to Morgenthau. Would not M. Morgenthau see his way clear to advancing France sufficient dollar exchange to continue stabilization operations? France would be glad to pay with gold.

Accepts Verbal Promise.

With only this verbal assurance from France, Secretary Morgenthau is reported to have agreed, after a long distance call to President Roosevelt at the White House, to buy as much French gold, paying for it in paper dollars, as was necessary to enable France to stay on the gold standard.

Had the French failed or had they deliberately embargoed gold exports, Morgenthau would have been stuck. As things turned out he made at least a paper profit. He bought gold at the rate of 15.19 francs to the dollar. Today francs were 15.16 to the dollar, giving him a paper profit of 3 points.

SAFE UNTIL AUTUMN

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

BASLE, Switzerland, June 17.—That the gold bloc is now safe from attack until autumn, but that no serious stabilization moves are likely before then, seemed to be the general opinion among European central bank governors as they left here tonight after their regular exchange of news and views at the monthly meeting of the bank for international settlements.

This opinion was shared by those bankers of the sterling area who seemed most inclined today to minimize the importance of the action of the United States treasury in giving the French franc energetic support at a critical moment, as was disclosed yesterday by Jean Tannery, governor of the Bank of France.

M. Tannery himself gave the writer the details of the part the United States had played in saving the franc, confirming fully the report thereon made in yesterday's dispatch. During his description of what he called the "critical week from May 25 to June 1" he twice spoke in these terms:

"I want to emphasize that I am deeply appreciative of the complete understanding of our difficulties that Secretary Morgenthau showed and I am very grateful for all he did for us in those trying days, which happily now are all over."

250 EXECUTIVES HERE FOR R-K-O SALES MEETING

The fourth annual international sales convention of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Distributing corporation, sales organization of the RKO motion picture system, opened yesterday in the Drake hotel. More than 250 executives are in attendance at the three day session. Directors of the convention are Ned Depinet and Jules Levy, president and vice president of the distributing corporation, and N. J. Blumberg, general manager of RKO theaters.

Financial Circles Curious About Stabilizing Fund

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Disclosure by Jean Tannery, governor of the Bank of France, that Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has been using the American government's 2 billion dollar stabilization fund to steady the Franch franc has stirred up much curiosity in financial circles concerning the mysterious uses of this fund.

The treasury is not required by law to report what it does with this money which the treasury obtained when it commandeered all gold in the United States, wrote up its value and declared itself a 2 billion 800 million dollar paper "profit." Two billons of this "profit" was allocated to the newly created stabilization fund for the purpose of regulating the value of the dollar in foreign exchange transactions and manipulation of the market for United States government bonds. The other 800 million was allocated to the treasury's general fund to be spent.

* * *

Whether this secret fund is still intact, whether it remains largely in cash or whether a substantial portion of it has been invested in government bonds and foreign currencies no one outside the treasury's inner circle knows. When quotations on government bonds were slipping a year or more ago the treasury was buying large amounts of its own bonds each week on the open market, but whether these purchases were made with the stabilization fund or with other treasury funds was not divulged.

By buying government bonds on a rising market the treasury has been in a position to make a neat profit several times. It also probably turned a profit on transactions in which it bought foreign currencies during a temporary crisis and sold later at higher prices.

Secretary Morgenthau's recent aid to the French may have been either in the form of purchases of French francs or purchases of French gold, because Tannery in his commendatory statement disclosed that Morgenthau "constantly supplied the market with dollars to prevent the dangerous consequences of any cessation in gold purchases."

If it was gold that Morgenthau bought, Tannery's commendation would seem to be superfluous, because Morgenthau would be doing what any government would not be averse to doing. If it was francs that he bought he probably took a speculative chance and made a speculative profit, because francs are now worth more than they were worth during the French financial crisis last month.

* *

What would have happened had the French been unable to pass through the crisis successfully would have been another story. If the French franc had had to be devalued as was the Belgian belga a substantial loss would have probably resulted.

Grain traders whose speculative activities have been curbed by the department of agriculture and stock market tracers who have been clamped down upon by the New Deal securities legislation view Secretary Morgenthau's freedom with undisguised envy. He has 2 billion dollars worth of other people's money with which to operate and needs to furnish no reports. If any information does leak out it comes from Paris or Basle—not from Washington.

Even speculation has been socialized.

PLAN SOUGHT TO FRUSTRATE BANKING CRISIS

precautions. In the first place, the 6,442 banks in the federal reserve system are being told to qualify, for "permanent" insurance and thus be protected, come what may.

Must Certify Solvency.

To qualify, member banks must have their solvency certified to and must apply for class A stock in the FDIC in an amount equal to one half of 1 per cent of their insured deposits.

In the second place, the administration will, as a last minute measure ask for a joint resolution of congress putting off the effective date of "permanent" insurance. For many reasons, however, the administration is reluctant to take this step. To do so means dismemberment of the administration banking bill.

Title I. of the pending banking bill repeal the "permanent" deposit insurance as set up in the banking act of 1934 and makes the existing "temporary" system, with some changes, the real permanent plan. Title II. of the banking bill embodies increased government control of the banking structure which is coveted by the New Deal.

Seek to Keep Bill Intact.

As long as the New Dealers can keep the bank bill intact and insist upon the urgency of Title I., Title II. may ride through on the demand for the first section. Therefore, Gov. Marriner S. Eccles, who as governor of the federal reserve board is most interested in Title II., has been fighting attempts to split the bill or to introduce an independent resolution extending "temporary" deposit insurance. Eccles, however, is said to have agreed finally that some such action may be necessary to avert a crisis.

BUILDING LOAN TAX REFUND BILL IS VETOED

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(AP)—Legislation which would allow certain tax refunds to a number of building and loan associations which had not submitted their claims within the prescribed time was vetoed today by President Roosevelt.

"Congress has determined," he said in a message to the senate, "that it is sound policy to include in all the revenue acts, statutes of limitations, by the operation of which, after a certain period of time, it becomes impossible for the government to collect additional taxes or for the taxpayers to obtain a refund on overpayment of taxes.

"This bill selects a small class of taxpayers for special treatment by excepting them from this policy. The whole body of federal taxpayers is thus discriminated against, and a precedent is established, opening the door to relief in all cases in which the statute operates to the prejudice of a particular taxpayer, while leaving the door closed to the government in those cases in which the statute operates to the disadvantage of the government."

Universal Leaf Tobacco Votes $2 Extra Dividend

Directors of the Universal Leaf Tobacco company yesterday declared an extra dividend of $2 a share in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 50 cents on the common stock, payable Aug. 1 to stockholders of record July 17. An extra disbursement of $1 a share was made a year ago.

NATIONAL CITY CO. DIRECTORS ARE HELD LIABLE FOR BONUS

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—The $1,703,703 liability placed against directors of the former securities affiliate of the National City bank—the National City company—by a referee last month was affirmed today by Supreme Court Justice Edward S. Dore.

The judgment of the referee, former Justice Frank C. Laughlin, was the aftermath of a stockholders' suit against the bank in which $70,000,000 damages was sought on the ground that the officers and directors of the bank had mismanaged the institution. Justice Dore, after a long trial, ruled in favor of the defendants with respect to the majority of the points in the plaintiff's charges and especially pointed out that no evidence had been presented to indicate the existence of corruption on the part of any defendant.

The matter of the creation and management of so called management funds within both the bank and its security affiliate was submitted to Referee Laughlin for investigation. The former justice held that the funds which represent a percentage of profits, in themselves were legal, but he regarded certain computations of profits for the National City company from 1922 through 1928 as erroneous and assessed the directors of the companies for the $1,703,703, which he believed should not have been paid out by way of the company's management fund to the company's officers and key employes.

COPPER GROUPS STUDIES COURSE WITHOUT CODE

New York, June 17.—(AP)—The United States Copper association, representing all producers and customs smelters in the United States, today appointed a committee to determine to what extent it could continue to coöperate as under the former copper code.

In a formal resolution by the body it was agreed that "in so far as it was advised that it was legal and proper to do so, the association would coöperate in maintaining existing standards and practices." It was also decided that the copper association should take up the functions of the former code authority to close out its unfinished business.

Following the meeting of the association it was learned that the special committee which had been formed to consider the matter of future collaboration between members of the industry would meet shortly and consult lawyers as to what degree of cooperation was permissable.

Although no agreement was made at the meeting in regard to the maintenance of wages and hours of labor provided in the former code, it was understood that individually all members had confirmed their intention of continuing present policies.

TOP SERGEANT

For One of Its Important Sales Offices

This advertisement is being run by one of the large, long-established publishing houses, and the people on our staff know of it.

We are looking for a man to head up one of our important offices. He will have charge of the salesmen. The staff is not large, so he won't be a manager in the sense that he will have to spend much time at his desk. Possibly "top sergeant" would be a better term than manager. He will spend most of his time selling—and the balance of his time helping the other men sell.

This is no job for a man who likes desk work. It's a great chance for a man who happens to combine personal selling ability and managerial ability. He will probably do his selling daytimes and his managing nights.

The man we have in mind is 35 or over. He probably is selling advertising space or service right now and doing it well. The chances are that he is up against stiff competition, so that a tough job doesn't worry him. He is probably not a manager now, but he has developed a spirit of leadership and an ability to climb over obstacles. The people other men in the office turn to him for help and guidance when they have problems. They don't want to take to the boss. And he is probably itching to move faster than he can in his present organization. This is a good job for such a man. It will pay a good salary and carry plenty of responsibility, together with every opportunity to move just as fast as his energy and sales ability will let him.

In answering this advertisement don't be afraid to make your letter long. Tell your whole story. Whatever you say will be held—of course, in the strictest confidence.

STEEL INDUSTRY MAY ESTABLISH VOLUNTARY CODE

Considers Submitting Its Plan to Roosevelt.

New York, June 17.—[Special.]—Faced with the alternative of extending its fair practice agreements with the help of the federal trade commission, under the old federal trade commission act, or of submitting a voluntary code to President Roosevelt for his approval under the new NRA stopgap legislation, the steel industry is carefully weighing the advantages of each course.

The steel industry has already pledged itself to the maintenance of wage rates, hours of labor, and standards of fair competition provided for in the old steel code, which was invalidated by the Supreme court's ruling in the Schechter case.

May Go to President.

While some steel men feel that the stop-gap NRA offers nothing that was not already available to industry under the federal trade commission act, with the exception of assurances given to labor, there is a strong feeling in the trade that it might be advisable to present the fair practice standards to the President for his approval rather than to the federal trade commission.

It is recognized that the new recovery act, with the Borah amendment prohibiting suspension of the anti-trust laws, does little more than notify industry that it can coöperate in a manner that it already was at liberty to do under fair trade practice agreements with the federal trade commission.

Remember Basing Ruling.

At the same time the steel executives say they are not losing sight of the fact that the commission has within the last few months issued a report condemning the basing points system of pricing steel, despite the approval of this system by an NRA survey.

Unless the federal trade commission shows greater willingness to coöperate with big industries, some executives feel, it would do better to go along with the NRA stop-gap legislation than to avail itself of the assistance of the commission.

QUESTION RIGHT OF STOCKHOLDERS IN TVA SUIT

Atlanta, Ga., June 17.—(AP)—Right of Alabama Power company stockholders to intervene in legal action brought to test the constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley authority today was questioned by members of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

At a special sitting to hear the TVA's appeal from a decision handed down by Federal Judge W. I. Grubb at Birmingham, which enjoined transfer of transmission lines to the TVA, the court questioned Forney Johnston, representing power company stockholders, as to why the stockholders should be interested if the lines were sold at a fair price.

Johnston said the sale of the property was ordered by the Alabama Power company after the Tennessee Valley authority stepped in with a "systematic ruthlessness" and admonished the power company the government would aid municipalities to purchase the lines unless the company transferred them at a "price set by the TVA."

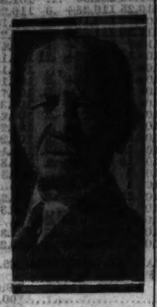
H. C. SPEER & SONS, BOND HOUSE, OBSERVES 50TH ANNIVERSARY

H. C. Speer & Sons company, oldest Chicago municipal bond house, yesterday celebrated its fiftieth anniversary with a reception in its office in the First National Bank building.



H. C. SPEER.

The event was marked by the return of H. C. Speer, the 85 year old founder of the firm, from California, where he now lives. Also present were his son, W. W. Speer, president of the company, and Paul Speer, grandson of the founder and a member of the company.

H. C. Speer was the central figure of the reception, relating to financial writers and investment banking men who attended the reception anecdotes of the early days of investment banking before Chicago reached it present prominence as a financial center.

RAIL OFFICIALS OPEN SESSION IN CHICAGO TODAY

More than 350 railroad superintendents representing railroads throughout the United States, Mexico, and Canada, will attend the forty-first annual convention of the American Association of Railroad Superintendents which will open at the Hotel Sherman this morning for three days.

William Atwill, vice president and general manager of the Illinois Central system, will deliver the opening address in behalf of the Chicago railroads. M. J. Gormley, chairman of the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific railway, will speak on "Trends in Transportation." M. F. Steinberger, manager of highway transportation, Baltimore and Ohio railroad, Baltimore, Md., will give a report before the afternoon meeting on "Curbing Highway Crossing Accidents."

He will be followed by George B. Vilas of Chicago, vice president and general manager of the Chicago and North Western Railway company, who will talk on safety. Ralph Budd, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, will address a luncheon meeting Wednesday on current transportation problems.

$40,000 HOUSE WILL BE BUILT IN BANNOCKBURN

Cement Official to Erect 15 Room Home.

BY AL CHASE.

Walter A. Wecker, president of the Marquette Cement company, who now lives in Park Ridge, is having plans drawn for a fifteen room brick residence, costing more than $40,000, to be erected on a five acre tract he purchased a few months ago in Bannockburn. Plans have been drawn by Anderson & Tickmor of Lake Forest, and bids are now being taken. Wyatt & Coous were brokers in the purchase of the site, which is on Wilmot road, Bannockburn is just north of Deerfield.

The residence will be of old English style of architecture, of common brick painted white, with shingle tile roof, and will be air conditioned. It will have five baths, six fireplaces, and a three car garage. Gerald Guy Manning will have charge of landscaping the property. Work will probably start within two weeks.

Plan New Synagogue.

Work is scheduled to start June 24, on a new synagogue, to cost a reported $20,000, for Congregation Anshe Lido and Pinsk, at 1251-53 South Lawndale avenue, from plans by Rawson & Eisenberg, architects. It will be of face brick, with stone trim, and will have a seating capacity of approximately 400. The present synagogue, a residence remodeled twelve years ago, is to be torn down, and the new place of worship erected on the same site. Completion is set for Sept. 15.

Benjamin H. Ehrlich, Chicago attorney, yesterday was victor in a thirteen year lawsuit with the village of Wilmette over his vacant property at the northwest corner of 4th street and Laurel avenue, in that suburb. The Supreme court of Illinois set aside the village zoning ordinance so far as it affects the Ehrlich lot, and ruled that the owner may erect a business building or apartments. The decision, it was said, does not affect the erection of flats in other parts of Wilmette.

Rule Law Confiscatory.

The ruling stated that the zoning ordinance in barring Ehrlich from arecting a business or flat building had confiscated $65,000 from its value. The property, it averred, was worth $15,000 as a site for a single family dwelling but would be valued at $80,000 as the prospective site for a business or apartment structure.

Ehrlich stated that he will erect a combination store and flat building or sell it for that purpose. The land fronts 140 feet on each street and is across from the elevated lines terminal. Ehrlich contended the zoning ordinance unconstitutional so far as it applied to his property which he claimed was not suitable for a single family dwelling.

AAA IS REPORTED CONSIDERING WHEAT EXPORT SUBSIDIES

The Agricultural Adjustment administration is reported to be considering subsidizing exports of about 25 million bushels of soft white wheat from the Pacific northwest, believing this action will take care of an anticipated small surplus. The department of agriculture estimates there will be about 50 million bushels of wheat grown throughout the country this year in excess of domestic requirements.

This surplus is expected to be in soft white and soft red varieties, while hard spring and hard winters are expected to be in demand. Officials, it is said, expect to take care of half this surplus by means of the north Pacific Emergency Export association, which last year exported about 28 million bushels of northwest wheat. The remaining 25 million bushels of the soft red variety will be needed by millers to replenish stocks upon which they have had to draw heavily as a result of last year's short crop.

With no uniform surplus over the entire country his year, it is said officials feel a general loan on wheat is not advisable.

AUTO FINANCE FIRM'S STOCK OFFERED PUBLIC

Field, Glore & Co. and F. S. Moseley & Co. yesterday announced the offering of 17,000 shares of Associates Investment company 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, $100 par, at $105 a share.

The company purchases automobile mortgages directly in District of Columbia, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, and Ohio, and through subsidiaries in New York, Illinois, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Missouri, and Connecticut.

Gross business in the first quarter of 1935 was reported at $22,220,047 and net income at $407,323. In 1934 gross business was $56,581,950, and net income $1,317,501.

RUSSIA EXPECTS LARGEST GRAIN CROP IN HISTORY

MOSCOW, June 17.—The first official forecast of this year's grain harvest was published today. Compiled by a commission of experts in the Kremlin from data sent in by local officials, it strengthens the prediction that this year's harvest will be the biggest in Russia's history and far larger than the 1933-'34 crops.

The fact that figures are given only for the southern regions and do not include the northern regions and western Siberia makes it impossible to calculate the country's total harvest, however.

Estimates for Crops.

The estimates are as follows: Winter wheat, 18.6 bushels to an acre, as against 16.5 in 1933; spring wheat, 12 bushels to an acre, as against 10 in 1933; rye, 13.2, against 12.2; barley, 18, against 17.8, and oats, 17.1, against 15.45.

The average for all grains in the southern regions is estimated at 15.75 bushels per acre, whereas the yield which the communist party congress early last year demanded be attained in the second five year plan was 15.

The winter wheat average for the Crimea, Black sea-Azov district and all the Ukraine except the Donetz district, was 18 bushels. Spring wheat for all Ukraine is estimated at 18.65 to 18 bushels and in the Kharkov and Vinnitsa regions above 18.

Prospects Less Favorable.

Crop prospects are less favorable in the Stalingrad and Saratoff districts along the Volga and also in the region between Odessa and Dnieperpetrovsk and in the north Caucasus which did not have enough rain early this month. The commission, however, believes no great damage has been done. These areas suffered severely from the drouth last year.

The government is already pressing for swift and thorough harvesting to make the most of the yield. The harvesting of winter wheat will begin this month in the southernmost areas.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 17.—(AP)—Cotton goods were quiet and unchanged today. Rayon fabric sales showed some increase with goods being wanted for dress purposes for fall trade. Silk goods were very quiet. More attention was paid to dress goods for fall cutting, but orders were light. Burlaps were firm.

RESERVE BANKS' GROSS DEPOSITS SHOW BIG GAIN

Net Advance for Week Is 342 Millions.

Gross deposits of federal reserve member banks soared sharply last week as the result of corporate refunding operations and a gradual seepage of money into interior cities which fled to New York to meet June 1 interest, dividend and other end of month obligations.

The total climbed 161 millions in New York and 81 millions here, while a rise of 90 millions was shown by the other 89 cities which the weekly report covers. The gain was confined to individual accounts for the government drew down 4 million dollars during the week and interbank deposits receded 6 millions, a net advance in individual deposits of 342 millions.

Loans and Investments Rise.

Total loans and investments climbed 86 millions, largely as the result of an expansion of 40 millions in commercial credit and a gain of the same amount in loans to brokers, necessitated by increased market activity following invalidation of the national industrial recovery act.

The effect of the expansion in business loans was partially offset by a contraction of 15 millions in commercial acceptances and a loss of a million dollars in real estate loans.

Only 3 millions of government bonds were added to the banks' portfolios and 11 millions of other types of securities were purchased.

CATTLE, LAMBS DECLINE AS MEAT PRICES SLUMP

Semi-demoralized wholesale markets for beef and lamb resulted in another smashing of live costs by packers here yesterday. Beef met a poor clearance at declines of 50 cents to $1.50 at the various distributing points, compared with the previous Monday's prices. Veal was down $1 to $2 and lamb meat sold from 50 cents to $3 lower than a week ago, the sharpest cuts in lamb being in New York.

Sharpest losses occurred again in the long fed cattle weighing over 1,100 pounds, many of which show $1 to $1.25 decline, compared with early last week.

Practically all steers selling upwards from $10.25 were of good to choice quality, although kinds eligible to bring $11 or more got the most pounding. Better grades of light steers and long yearlings fell 25 to 50 cents in value yesterday, and final sales of these indicated losses of 75 cents to $1 compared with a week ago.

Steers valued under $10 were weak to 25 cents lower, although some sales of long yearlings only slightly above $10 show declines of 50 to 75 cents since a week ago. Some choice

A break of 50 cents brought the new crop native lambs to the lowest levels of the season. City butchers closely sorted some 74 pound ewe and wether natives at $8.50, compared with a $10 top for these kinds a week earlier.

Hogs held up well under pressure. Prices were steady to 10 cents lower, very little going at more than a 5 cent decline on final rounds. The extreme top sale at $12.25 for selected 237 pound hogs was steady with last week's close and within 20 cents of the 1935 high mark.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The following figures on hog prices include $2.25 per hundredweight collected by the federal government as processing tax. There is no processing tax on cattle or sheep. The price quotations given below are for 100 pounds of live animal:

Miscellaneous.

MEN

Here, briefly, are the "high spots" of a thrilling business that will create "fortunes" for those who are seeking a life time connection, that pays exceptionally well for those who actually want work.

1. A product with a natural staple demand and a big repeat business, yet one that has all of the appeal of a novelty.
3. Pays steadily, no lean seasons.
4. Big profits to be made in small-est territory, one large unit.
5. Absolutely no experience needed to be successful.
6. All necessary equipment ready to turn profitably without any investment on your part.

This is TRUTH, not fiction. FACT, not theory. It is an electrical unit with a real sales profit to our dealers and to the best of our knowledge it is the BIGGEST MONEY MAKING OPPORTUNITY in America. Any man with ordinary intelligence and a real desire to SUCCEED is bound to make MONEY. If you are wide awake, an earner with plenty of energy and enthusiasm, apply Tuesday at 11 a. m. only or 2:30 p. m. only.

USED AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

M. J. Lanahan Says:

"The other day a man came here with his wife and said he'd like to buy a Used Car from my company because he could buy with real confidence. But he added that he couldn't afford to pay a premium for our good name and reputation. When he left he had bought just the car he wanted at the price he desired to pay."

COME IN YOURSELF—and be convinced, as this man was, that it costs no more to buy with confidence — but it saves many regrets.

Let us take you into our shops and show you first hand how expert mechanics go over every detail of our Used Cars before a price tag goes on. See how they are reconditioned and serviced. When you get one of these cars it's ready to go—full of safe, pleasant miles in return for ordinary care.

—ANSWER—

We don't believe in sales—but we are LOADED WITH CARS and we think it is the only sensible thing to do—to cut prices and sell them out now. THIS IS NOT AN AUCTION SALE OR TRICK SALE, or one of those 99c sales or $10 down payment sales—BUT bona fide Sale of Automobiles where the prices have been drastically reduced—and backed by Studebaker's 85 year old reputation for fair dealing — and by Studebaker's famous nationally advertised pledge.

$25 SECURES YOUR CHOICE
